COOLIDGE MOVES CAUTIOUSLY IN CHINESE CRISIS

United States Urged To Enter Nanking Protest

American Government Is Proceeding Cautiously In Serious Chinese Situation

GREAT BRITAIN-JAPAN ARE URGING PROTEST

Coolidge Meets With Cabinet Today; Chinese Problem Is Discussed

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—"Trouble ahead. Proceed cautiously."

That, in the parlance of the road, rather accurately described the attitude of the American government today in the critical Chinese situation, and there is every indication that it will continue to be the guide post of the administration.

President Coolidge thus far has resisted the strongest pressure to have the United States join with Great Britain and make a common diplomatic cause of the Nanking incident, which cost a number of foreign lives. This pressure has been applied with enormous force from London and from American commercial interests in China.

Will Enter Protest

It is probable, however, that the United States will join with Great Britain and the other powers in protesting the Nanking outrage—although it is not likely this government will go as far as Britain wants to go. The British want to make the protest to the Cantonese nationalists a virtual ultimatum, with demands for indemnities and a threat of sanctions if they are refused, or if there is a repetition of the affair.

This is considerably further than the American government evidently is willing to go. Individually a protest already has been lodged with the nationalists by this government, and at the proper time, when investigation has developed the actual facts and responsibility, indemnity will be demanded for American lives and property lost in the rioting.

Neither President Coolidge nor Secretary of State Kellogg believe, however, that anything can be gained at this time by sending ultimatums to the Cantonese and threatening to thrash them. To do so, they believe, will only tend to increase the anti-foreign sentiment now spreading over China like a

SOME DAMAGE BY EARTHQUAKE

Japan Rocked By Another Sharp Quake; Homes Are Wrecked

(International News Service)

TOKYO, April 1.—Japan was rocked by another sharp earthquake today. One woman was frightened to death by the shock. In Miyatsu alone 23 houses were wrecked.

Clocks in Kobe and Osaka were stopped at 6:13 a. m. In those cities the populace, roused from sleep rushed into the streets in their night clothes.

The temblor it was learned originated in the same region as the recent disaster which caused more than 2,000 deaths.

Rev. And Mrs. Bender Write Of Experiences In Recent Earthquake

Following communication from Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Bender, now in Japan, who were in the vicinity of the last big earthquake in that country, have sent the following self explanatory letter to The News, concerning their experiences and safety:

320 Nishi Sugamo Machi,
Tokyo-Fu, Japan.
March 16, 1927.

Dear Editor:

Knowing that many of our friends will be anxious to know how we are, since the earthquake of March 7th, we thought it would save much letter writing at this time, as we are very busy at this season, if you would insert this little news item in your paper. Thanking you. I also thought a few news items would be useful to you, so I am sending them.

To our Friends:

We wanted to let you know as soon as possible by mail, that we are safe and that we are enjoying good health at this present time. This nation has been shaken again by an earthquake. The most destruction happened about two hundred miles from us. We just had a little of the quake in our district. We had just finished our evening meal, and settled down to read when our house began to rock. It

Reports Conflict On Condition Of King Ferdinand

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 1.—The death of King Ferdinand of Roumania is expected momentarily, the International News Service has learned from a usually reliable source.

The Roumanian censor has stopped all telegraphic inquiries concerning the King's health.

The Roumanian embassy here denies that King Ferdinand is on the verge of death but admits that an official message from Bucharest states that the King's condition is serious. This message states that the grippe, from which the king is suffering, has become more acute and is complicated by bronchial catarrh.

Yangtse Valley Situation More Serious, Report

By ALFRED MEYER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, April 1.—The situation along the Yangtse valley became more serious today with trouble looming at Hankow and Wuhu.

Sending Supplies.

The military authorities are sending supplies north from Honkow where trouble is expected. There is a detachment of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's northern troops in that area and a battle may develop between them and the Cantonese.

The U. S. Armored Cruiser Pittsburgh, flagship of Admiral Williams, commander of the American warcraft in Chinese waters has departed for Tsingtao.

The split between the right and left wings of the Kuomintang (Cantonese Liberal cause) is widening with the radicals growing stronger continually. The conservatives are being pushed into the background.

Demand Changes.

Three thonsand members of the Kuomintang, at a party meeting voted to close Conservative headquarters in the French concession immediately in addition to demanding that Gen. Chiang Kai Shek dismiss Conservative generals for being "anti-red." They demanded also the return of the foreign concessions and withdrawal of troops from Chinese teritory.

SHANGHAI, April 1.—Evacuation of foreigners from Yangtse ports is now practically complete acording to reports received here.

Twenty-seven Americans and six British citizens are still at Nanking. There are ten Americans at Shengtu and ten foreigners at Wuhu.

Mrs. Jack Pitzer has been removed from the New Castle hospital to her home on Shaw street, where she is getting along nicely.

Henry Ford Is Taken To Home

Auto Maker Is Convalescing In Home At Detroit Today

CHANGE IS MADE AT OWN DEMAND

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 1.—Henry Ford was back home in bed today convalescing under familiar surroundings from the injuries suffered in a motor crash last Sunday night.

Ford was removed to his home late last night from the Henry Ford hospital here at his own insistence and over the mild objections of his attending physicians. The auto king was reported to have said that he could get well far more quickly in his own home than amid the "fuss and feathers" in a public hospital.

His physicians finally agreed, fearful that Ford's antipathy to remaining in the hospital might react against him. They believed he could obtain just as good attention and the required rest necessary to his complete recovery in his own home.

Tells Police Her Daughter Seized

Mrs. John W. Baynham of 312 Harding street reported to the police last night that a man wearing a black slicker had grabbed her daughter as she was walking along the street near her home. Officers Lockard, M. J. Young and Steiner investigated but were unable to find the man.

Ford's Condition

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 1.—Henry Ford spent a comfortable night and was resting easily this morning, a bulletin issued at the Ford hospital says.

"Mr. Ford rested easily throughout the night and there are no new complications. Pulse, temperature and respiration satisfactory" the statement said.

Andrews Enters Third Year As Dry Executive

Future Of Commissioner Is Uncertain; Haynes Appointment Big Jolt

REAL PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE

Long, Difficult Road Is Andrews' Viewpoint Toward Stamping Out Liquor

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, dry czar, today sailed into the third year of his trip through the rough and stormy seas of prohibition enforcement.

Having originally intended to remain as assistant secretary of the treasury only until a general reorganization of the service had been effected, Andrews' future is uncertain. The recent selection of Roy A. Haynes as prohibition commissioner was a jolt to him.

Hard Liquor Out

"I cannot estimate how the future of prohibition will work out," Andrews said. "It would take a wiser man than I."

"Hard liquor, however, probably never will return as a national beverage. Hard liquor has no part in the new industrial and commercial life of America, where standards of living have attained a level that would have been beyond the comprehension of a man of a generation ago.

"Even without prohibition the drinking of strong spirits would have to disappear. Heavy drinking was becoming unpopular in many circles before the Volstead act, because it is so unscientific and necessarily a handicap to the man who is competing in the higher power living of today."

Real Progress Made

Andrews expressed conviction that the policy adopted when he came into office—that of elimination of sources of supply for the commercial liquor traffic—is the effective way for the federal government to enforce prohibition.

"Real progress has been made along that line," he said.

"I know as well as anybody that there is liquor smuggled into the country, especially from Canada, that there is diversion of alcohol and that occasionally a brewery slips a few car loads of beer onto the market.

"But instead of the continuous

Sordid Touch Given Sapiro's Farm Efforts

Reed Forces Admission That All Farm Effort Was Well Paid

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 1.—The meteoric career of Aaron Sapiro as leader of the American cooperative movement was given a sordid touch today during the cross-examination of the so-called wheat king by Senator James A. Reed, chief of Henry Ford's counsel at the trial of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

Before an interested jury in Federal court, Reed drew from Sapiro admissions that all his work in helping American farmers to organize cooperatives was well paid for and always by agreements entered before the wheat king began his activities. Sapiro however insisted that the farmers themselves fixed his fees.

One clash between the white haired Missourian and the sleek Chicago attorney, who sued Ford for $1,000,000 enlivened the morning session. It came when Reed charged the plaintiff was "evading questions".

The court pacified them.

Highlights Of The Coal Strike

International News Service

Approximately 150,000 men who mine 168,000,000 tons of bituminous coal annually in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa suspended activities today.

Forty-five thousand men in 200 Western Pennsylvania mines are idle.

United Mine Workers staged a huge demonstration at the Montour mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Library, Pa., 1,200 miners participating in the parade.

County authorities and Coal and Iron police are standing guard at the non-union mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, prepared to check any violence.

The sheriff of Fayette County, Pa., center of open shop operations, issued a proclamation forbidding assembly of three or more persons.

A company of 40 state police was ordered to augment the force of guards at non-union mines in Fayette County, Pa.

Trial Bus Service Is Being Planned On Sampson Street

Matters of importance to the residents of the Sixth ward were considered at the meeting of the West Side Civic club, which was held last night in the West Side school house.

Owing to the time consumed in discussing various problems of interest to the people of that district, a committee of six, three from each voting district was appointed by the chairman and president, H. E. Dupuy, to whom those having grievances, and suggestions for the benefit of the district may report, in order that the matters may be taken up in rotation as they have been reported to the committee.

The meeting was well attended and H. E. Dupuy, the president presided. C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of the P. & O. company in this district, was present and was interrogated concerning certain improvements that the people of the district desire in the matter of transportation.

Mr. Coulthard promised to take up a number of these matters with the company and seek some method of improving transportation service in that section of the city.

To Try Bus Line

Among the matters he promised to have considered by the company, was a 60 day trial service by motor bus for the residents of the Sampson street district; the matter of eliminating the West Side cars from cross town service to the East Side, having them turn at the diamond; the proposition of having the West

START PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Capt. M. L. Craig Is Selected As Marshal For Memorial Day Parade

Representatives of the various ex-service men's organizations of the city and the Sons of Union Veterans met last night at the legion home and organized as the Memorial Day committee for the observance on May 30.

R. M. Campbell was selected as general chairman and C. S. McCaskey as secretary, while Captain Melvin L. Craig was selected as marshal of the Memorial Day parade.

It was also decided at the meeting that the Memorial Day services, as has been the custom for several years past, would be held in the morning at an hour and place to be announced later. The Memorial Day observance will be held this year on Monday, May 30.

The next meeting of the committee will be held April 14 at the legion home, when it is expected that more details will have been worked out and can be announced.

The various committees appointed last night were as follows:

Committee on speakers—Fred Reaher, R. H. Montgomery, F. A. Schetrom and Dave T. Richards.

Committee on music—P. V. Ryhal, Jack Wilson, E. C. Book and C. S. McCaskey.

Committee on place of meeting—George L. Runkle.

Veterans of Foreign Wars—D. T. Richards, E. C. Book, W. S. Lewis and George Runkle.

Sons of Union Veterans—R. M. Campbell, C. S. McCaskey, F. A. Schetrom and Edward Cross.

Robber Kills Aged Farmer; Injures Wife

(International News Service)

BUCHANAN, Mich., April 1.—An unidentified robber today killed Michael Zerbe, 85, prosperous farmer, by splitting open his skull while he slept and then turned on Mrs. Zerbe, 83, and inflicted probably fatal injuries.

Smoke pouring from the farmhouse aroused neighbors, who arrived in time to remove the aged couple. Authorities believe the slayer fired the place to remove traces of the crime.

Robbery was believed to be the motive.

Mine Workers Gather At Pittsburgh For Mass Meetings Today

PEACE OVERTURES REPORTED IN OHIO

Pittsburgh Coal Company Declares Mines Are Operating As Usual

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 1.—With a small army of deputy sheriffs on duty to prevent violence, members of the United Mine Workers of America gathered in 15 districts here today for mass meetings as 45,000 unionists suspended work.

The meetings, held under the auspices of the United Mine Workers, to celebrate the anniversary of the establishment of the eight-hour day, fell coincidently with the first day of the nation-wide suspension, and Sheriff Robert H. Braun directed his men to "dispense any assemblage that threatened to become riotous."

Because today is a holiday in the union mines, and tomorrow is a "short" day, the effect of the suspension call in this district will not be apparent until early next week, it was believed.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, and W. G. Warden, chairman of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal company, met separately with Sheriff Braun as the suspension became effective, and discussed problems of policing the district to prevent violence.

Murray predicted that 75 per cent of the Pittsburgh Coal company's non-union men would eventually join forces with the United Mine Workers, while company officials refused to take formal notice of the unionists suspension.

To Have Conference.

CAMBRIDGE, O., April 1.—Union miners of Ohio have accepted the invitation of the Ohio Coal Operators' association for a join wage conference to be held in Columbus at 2 p. m. April 7, Lee Hall, president of district No. 6, United Mine Workers, announced today.

Hall's announcement was made immediately after he had received the telegraphed invitation from the

Not Affected By Coal Mine Strike

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., April 1.—The Butler bituminous mining district, comprising Butler and Mercer counties, was not affected by the suspension of unionist operations, which began at midnight.

All of the mines in the district, two-thirds of which are in Butler county, have operated on an open mine basis for a number of years past. The Jacksonville scale has prevailed for the most part.

Since the harvest days were over and the crops were gathered in, all the farm boys have been waiting for the time that they'd begin to be plowing up the stubble repairing sets of harness and the other things they need. They have not been very busy and could stay in bed till noon, but their busy time is coming and its coming very soon. They'll be up at crack of daybreak and be busy till its dark, they'll have little time for movies or for dancing in the park, they'll be busy, well you know it, there'll be little time to play, and their job will last all summer, weather's 46 today.

Legation Flag Raising New Complications

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 1. — The learned young men who guide the diplomatic corps through the menacing shoals encountered in the remoter recesses of international law found themselves wholly unequal to the nice questions of law and form presented in the problem of the new Canadian Minister to the United States. "What flag shall fly from the staff of the Canadian legation?"

The Honorable Vincent Massey, the new minister and a diplomat of note even before his appointment to Washington, asked the question in good faith, apparently unmindful of the headache which such a query might give the custodians of the diplomatic archives.

The Union Jack

"Canada is a part of the British Empire; the Union Jack is her flag," said one group of consultants after examination of the law—in which, they found no parallel.

"But Mr. Massey does not represent the British Empire in Washington; he is minister of the Dominion of Canada, and his Legation colors should indicate that fact—that, in fact, is what legation colors are for." Such was the view of another group.

Luckily apparently for the Empire or the British Commonwealth on Nations, as the Canadians say, it did turn out alright. Unable to find a decision in the books of law, precedent, form or history, the archives corps fell back at length upon their own judgement. Their decision has been accepted by Mr. Massey.

The Legation will fly the colors of the Canadian Merchant Marine, which is a Canadian emblem in origin, design and tradition. It is the full national banner of Canada with a small Union Jack superimposed in the upper left-hand corner.

And so everyone is happy, and the learned young men of the archives congratulate themselves as they put their libraries in order again.

"That," say the learned young men, "was a close call."

MAPPING OUT NEW ORDINANCE FOR RECREATION

Council in regular session at city hall today discussed recreation for one hour then reported from committee with a negative recommendation an ordinance, introduced February 25, providing for the creation of a recreation board. Solons followed this action by passing a motion instructing Solicitor Robert White to draft an ordinance pursuant to ideas held by Mr. Tyler.

Slang at first was the jargon deliberately adopted as a kind of secret language by certain classes, often criminal.

functioning of the traffic, so that every bootlegger was assured of a satisfactory supply for his customers, many of these illicit organizations have been broken up.

"The supply has become difficult to obtain and very unsatisfactory in quality. One by one the customers are dropping the bootleg supply. They are making their own, buying moonshine or quitting entirely."

Andrews sees in prohibition enforcement a long, difficult road. The idea, he pointed out, that "We are going to dry up this or that district, leaves the wrong impression. The whole process is gradual."

Outlines Problems

Among the problems scheduled for the third year of Andrews' reign are:

(1) Organization of the medicinal spirits business with a view to better enforcement and assurance of pure whiskey at reasonable cost. By agreement with the legitimate whiskey dealers Andrews' expects to get distribution through wholesale druggist, via more concentrated channels and through reliable hands that diversions will be ended.

(2) Reorganization of the Prohibition bureau within a month.

(3) New steps to check diversions of industrial alcohol to be discussed at a meeting of manufacturers and distillers in New York next week.

"I asked the 68th Congress to recognize a new crime—that of diversion of industrial alcohol to beverage uses," Andrews' said.

"I wanted a special law against it which hasn't yet been passed. If Congress had enacted such a statute it would have been a material help, and there would have been left agitation about the so-called poison liquor."

Peace Negotiations.

COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Peace negotiations for a settlement between Ohio bituminous miners and coal oeprators of the state of the wage controversy, which would permit resumption of work in the Ohio coal fields, marked the first day of the general suspension.

As miners throughout the various coal fields carried their tools from the mines and prepared for a long cessation, Lee Hall, president of district No. 6, United Mine Workers, announced from Cambridge, O., that he would accept an invitation sent by telegram from the session of the Ohio Coal Operators' association at Toledo, calling for a joint conference in Columbus April 7.

May Not Succeed.

Hall, however, expressed himself as not very hopeful that the conference would be successful, inasmuch as the operators are still insisting upon a "competitive wage scale", while the miners are aqually adamant in their demand for no reduction in pay.

The suspension of work in the Ohio mines was general, reports here today indicated, only about 15 small auxiliary mines, supplying pottery plants or other industrial establishments in their immediate vicinity, continuing operations on a union agreement.

Anticipation of a long, bitter struggle in the mine districts was reflected in the reports of traveling salesmen, who declared merchants were buying on a "hand-to-mouth" basis, with much uncertainty as to future business conditions.

No violence of any character had been reported early today, the shutdown being peaceful, in contrast to mine suspensions of the past. Miners were reported seeking work in many places in other lines while others were enjoying a "holiday" for a while, before seeking work.

Says Mines Running.

PITTSBURGH, April 1.—The Pittsburgh Coal company, storm center of the disagreement between United Mine Workers and bituminous coal operators in this district, today was operating all of its 18 mines in this district full force, C. E. Lesher, executive vice president of the company, announced.

The company, which operates on an open shop basis, had 4,785 men on its mine payrolls yesterday, Lesher said, and of this number 4,080 reported for work today.

A driving rain early today kept from 300 to 400 miners from work, he estimated, and possibly 300 more, who he believed are ex-unionists, took occasion to celebrate the 29th anniversay of the establishment of the eight-hour day in the mines.

"We are operating full blast," Lesher said. "We anticipate no trouble with our men, and are prepared to wecome back any of the men who may stray from work during the next few days. The Pittsburgh Coal company views the entire situation with complete satisfaction."

By FRED J. WALKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 1.—Soft coal mining in the unionized central competitive field was at a standstill today as 150,000 United Mine Workers suspended work.

The suspension followed failure of union leaders and the operators to agree on a wage scale to replace the Jacksonville contract, providing a basic daily wage of $7.50, which expired at midnight.

Mines producing some 168,000,000 tons annually in western Pennsylvania, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and eastern Iowa were affected.

The extent to which operators availed themselves of the union offer to continue operations by paying the Jacksonville scale, pending the drafting of a new contract, was widely disputed today.

Union leaders claimed the area was honeycombed with mines running full blast. Operators, admitting there had been defections from their ranks, maintained the number was small.

Today's suspension was the first great lay-off of unionized soft coal miners since April 1, 1922, when 600,000 United Mine Workers walked off their jobs.

That strike, which embraced both bituminous and anthracite miners, was settled the following August.

The highlight of that conflict was reached when 19 non-union and three union miners lost their lives in the tragic Herrin, Ill., massacre.

Little of the bitterness which marked the 1922 strike was apparent today as both sides settled down to what may develop into an extended suspension.

There was slight evidence of an early compromise. The operators say they cannot afford to pay the Jacksonville scale and live in competition with non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields, where lower wages prevail. The union insists that the scale is the lowest it can accept.

Since the break-up of the Miami conference, where operators and miners sought to iron out their differences, there has been no open attempt at compromise.

The operators say the miners should enter a conference with the understanding that a lower wage will be acceptable. This position is unacceptable to the miners. Both sides today were in the position of Achilles, sulking in his tent.

Because the regular summer letup in mining is about due, anyway, neither operators nor miners were expected to feel the effects of the suspension for several months.

Stocks of coal on hand were declared ample and bank deposits in many mine areas were reported to be unusually heavy, indicating the miners have anticipated the crisis.

Both sides agree that back of the trouble is the increasingly severe competition of the non-union fields.

The operators want the unions to accept a cut to meet this competition. The unions say that if they met the cut there would be no assurance West Virginia and Kentucky operators would not again reduce wages.

Non-union fields ship approximately 7 per cent of the soft coal. A few years ago the unions controlled 70 per cent of the output.

Big Stake in China

British belligerence in the present situation is recognized here as being dictated by Britain's enormous stake in China and in nearby India, which already has begun to show symptoms of being infected with the nationalistic virus. The administration has no desire to be used to pull British chestnuts out of the Far Eastern fire.

At the same time it is also recognized that it is necessary for the powers to maintain some semblance of a common front in China. To some extent the foreign powers are all in the same boat—they must impress the Cantonese that incidents like that of Nanking are not to be tolerated, and that the rights and lives and property of all foreigners must be accorded a maximum of protection. Otherwise, it was pointed out here, the chaotic, ignorant masses that comprise the greater part of China today will go on from one excess to the other.

Because of this, if for no other reason, the United States will join with the powers in protesting against the Nanking outrage, and warning against any repetition of it. There will be, on the part of the United States, however, no ultimatum, no threat of reprisals, and no fist-brandishing. If the British want to do it, that is their affair. The American government is sympathetic, but disinclined to go along.

Warships for Protection

The Cantonese will be informed, on behalf of this government, that the American warships and marines in China are there solely for the legitimate protection of American lives and property, and that they will fulfill their mission under any and all circumstances. The hope will be expressed that it will not be necessary for American guns to again lay down a barrage of shells on a Chinese city, as was done at Nanking. But the Cantonese will also be informed that if the necessity arises another barrage will be laid down.

President Coolidge is understood to be considerably resentful over the activities of some American commercial interests in Shanghai in seeking to push the American government into line with, or in advance of, the British. He considers some of the most pernicious of these as little better than "war mongers".

The Cabinet met this morning and the Chinese situation was uppermost on the schedule. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur took to the White House a number of confidential reports received from Admiral Williams, and Secretary of State Kellogg was equipped with similar matter from Minister MacMurray and consular officials in China.

TRIAL BUS SERVICE IS BEING PLANNED OUT STATE STREET

Side cars stop in front of the Traction office to take on passengers instead of at the intersection of Jefferson street on the public square and the matter of providing a service by bus or otherwise for the West Side mill men at the midnight turn.

The trial bus service for Sampson street, if put into effect, would operate to Greenwood avenue over Greenwood avenue to State street, over State street to Sampson street and out Sampson street to the end of the pavement and return.

The welfare committee, which is to take up grievances and suggestions of the residents and present them in rotation to the club for its consideration consists of Ed. Callahan, Sampson street; John Jones, Jr., Bell avenue; Paul Griffith, West Washington street; Jack Hannon, Front street; Earl Sweesey, West Washington street and James Moore, Smithfield and Etna streets.

This committee was instructed to see city council relative to the opening and extension of Smithfield street, Patterson avenue and Lee avenue.

There was considerable discussion during the evening of the proposition of opening a direct route from State street to Atlantic avenue, which would permit traffic to pass through the city without the necessity of going through the main business section of the city.

The Welfare committee was also instructed to get in touch with the New Castle Motor club and the Chamber of Commerce and secure action and support of this proposition. The next meeting will be held in a month.

Three Are Taken To Workhouse

Agnes McKinnon, Charles Florence and Courtney Bradshaw, were taken to the Allegheny county workhouse this morning by Sheriff H. M. Reynolds and Constable A. Sharp Leslie. Mrs. McKinnon was sentenced to serve from 2 to 4 years for keeping a bawdy house and pandering. Florence got three months for possessing liquor and Bradshaw, two years on a liquor charge.

Deaths Of The Day

Jonathan Glitch Buried.

Funeral services for Jonathan N. Glitch took place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Mannick on South Walnut street with Rev. W. W. Sniff officiating. The pallbearers were Christian and Alvey Glitch, Louis Glitch, Ben Magee, Harry Hewett and Frank Walker. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Joseph P. Evans.

Joseph P. Evans, aged 67 years, one of the best known men of North Beaver township, died at his home on the Mt. Jackson road Friday morning, April 1, at 2 o'clock after a lingering illness.

Mr. Evans was born in New Castle February 12, 1859, a son of Joshua and Catherine Sterling Evans. When but two months of age he removed with his parents to North Beaver township, where he had lived ever since. He was one of the prosperous farmers of the community.

Mr. Evans was a faithful member of the Mt. Jackson U. P. church. He is survived by one sister, Miss Margaret Evans at home and a half-brother, B. B. Evans of Lawrence, Kansas.

Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Mrs. Wise Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Wise, wife of Charles A. Wise of Quest street, took place Thursday afternoon, March 31, at 2:30 from the First Baptist church. The services were largely attended. Many beautiful floral emblems bore testimony of the high regard of which Mrs. Wise was held by her neighbors and friends. Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church was in charge, assisted by Rev. H. G. Woodrow. A quartet comprised of Mrs. Lillian Cook, Mrs. Paul D. Weller, D. S. Williams and Paul Arow sang during the services accompanied on the organ by Garth Edmundson. The pallbearers were nephews of the deceased. Burial was made in Slippery Rock cemetery.

Mrs. Mary H. Dodds.

Mrs. Mary H. Dodds, aged 81 years, widow of Rev. J. E. Dodds died at the residence of Mrs. Jennie Ferree, 126 Crawford avenue Thursday evening at 10:30 as the result of a stroke.

Mrs. Dodds was a member of the Highland United Presbyterian church. She is survived by one step daughter, Mrs. C. C. Shira of Butler and one step son, E. C. Dodds of Sharon, one brother, William Huggart of Grove City, two nieces, Mrs. R. Edgar Miller of Slippery Rock and Miss Ethel Huggart of Greenfield and three nephews, J. Emerson McKee of San Antonio, Texas, W. Anson McKee of New Wilmington and H. Floyd McKee of Slippery Rock. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

makes a person feel a little uneasy, not knowing whether it will come stronger. Thousands have been killed and thousands have been injured. About seventy thouand are homeless. The suffering has been intense, because of the cold weather and snow.

We thank the Lord for keeping us amidst all the dangers. He has proven to be the One who watches over His own. We bless and praise His worthy Name.

We are enjoying the work more each day. The study of the language is keeping us very busy. We are enjoying it very much. At present we have the oversight of two Mission Stations, which keeps us on full time. The Lord is blessing the meetings and as Spring comes we are expecting many to come to the meetings, taking a definite stand for the Lord Jesus Christ.

Your friends in Christian service, we are

Sincerely yours,

Discharge Boys; Warn Dealers

Lee Stewart, Edward Gardner and Henry Schuffert, youths arrested Thursday by Officers Lynch, John Young and C. C. Horner on suspicion of being implicated in recent thefts of motometers and parts from automobiles parked on the streets of the city, were allowed to go on their own recognizance this morning and pending the recovery of articles taken by them.

Several articles have already been recovered. This morning two dealers in junk, who purchased some of the stolen articles were in before the mayor and were warned that if brought in again under similar conditions they need expect no leniency.

Mayor William H. Dunlap this morning warned dealers in second hand articles against purchasing articles from boys and young men. According to the mayor, these dealers could not help but know that there was something wrong when they are sold articles of known value at low prices. He said that the men purchasing these articles would be held equally responsible with the boys in the future.

HOSPITALITY SURVIVES

There is hardly any human virtue or human quality that appeals to me so forcefully as hospitality. I have a feeling that hospitality is the essence of real civilization, and that the decline of hospitality is always co-existent with the decline of civilizations.

The pioneers who settled the vast open spaces of the American frontier were undoubtedly a hospitable people. Food and warmth and shelter were freely offered to wayfarers and to neighbors in distress. Every pioneer family had good reasons to appreciate hospitality, because material possessions were few and almost everybody in the plains country had at some time or other been dependent, at least temporarily, upon the hospitality of his neighbors.

But hospitality, quite contray to a popular belief, did not perish with the coming of cities and the more general distribution of material comforts. Hospitality is still, as much as ever in our history, the light and luster of the most civilized homes.

Hospitality has nothing to do with either wealth or poverty. If I may use a superlative in describing this quality, I should say that the most hospitable home that I know of is a humble cottage of three rooms "down by the tracks" in a western town. The family consists of a mother, two adult daughters, and a son in his twenties. One senses an atmosphere of hospitality and open-hearted generosity immediately upon entering the unpretentious dwelling of these interesting folk, all of whom work for modest salaries. No pretense is made. No excuses or apologies are offered for lack of fine things. And the visitor feels that here is something finer than soft carpets and priceless tapestries. Here is frank welcome, and the warmth of generous souls. This is a hospitality that cannot be bought; an interior decoration that is far beyond imitation and counterfeit.

But I know of wealthy homes where the genuine hospitality of the host and hostess is a quality of the soul that makes the visitor forget that he is sitting upon expensive chairs and partaking of costly food. I am not sure but that it requires a hardier hospitality to do that than is required to make the visitor feel at home in more humble surroundings. The tradition that great wealth and old-fashioned hospitality cannot live together is a handicap that the well-to-do home has to overcome, and when the guest is made to forget that handicap altogether, you may be sure that the host and hostess are possessed of the real genius for hospitality.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue — no laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

✓ Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

RETROGRESSION IN CHINA

WHILE it is clear to us that the American display of force in China is entirely for the protection of legitimate American interests there, the Chinese see it in a different light. To them armed resistance by American forces appears as opposition to the nationalist movement by military action.

It is virtually certain that neither congress, were it in session, nor the American people, were they articulate, would sanction a war with China on Chinese soil for the sole purpose of preventing the orderly abolition of American extra-territorial privileges or the granting of that tariff autonomy which Chinese spokesmen have long demanded in vain. But the nationalist general has said:

"It is just as much a part of the revolutionary movement to abolish extraterritoriality and foreign concessions as it is to stamp out the northern militarists."

In view of this, there seems nothing else for the United States to do but protect the lives and property of Americans and save, by diplomacy, what it can from the wreck of its treaties with China.

Extraterritoriality, foreign concessions and foreign control of customs were diplomatically ethical so long as China granted them voluntarily. China is within her rights to abrogate treaties granting them and foreign powers cannot morally make of such abrogation an excuse for waging war on China.

Without these safeguards foreign business is unlikely to risk much capital in China and many foreign civilizing influences will find the country hostile soil. But the greatest loss will be suffered, not by foreign business, but by China. China's commercial and industrial future is darker than at any time since the Orient was opened to foreign trade.

PARIS BOUND

TWENTY-FIVE per cent more Americans visited France last year then in 1925 and the French are confident this year will witness an equal, if not larger, increase over last year.

The increase last year might have been due to a number of things. Was it the irresistible appeal of France finding its way into new tourist sources in this country? Was it due to the low exchange rate which made living in France so cheap for Americans? Did lower steamship rates bring it about? Or is the answer in the greater prosperity of the American people?

Naturally, Paris likes to think that it was the "irresistible appeal." But if the truth were known it would probably show that all the reasons enumerated were contributing factors.

Paris has prepared to entertain more American tourists this year in spite of the recent rise in exchange, which brought with it a 50 per cent increase in living costs in France. And there is little likelihood of disappointment for her, although the tourist horde will have some deserters because of the rising living costs abroad.

Last year Americans spent nearly $300,000,000 in France, the equivalent of one-fifth of the entire French export trade. Such a considerable, if invisible, item is not to be trifled with, and probably won't be by the French hotel keepers and tradesmen.

THE CRITICISED AMERICANS

NATURALLY inclined to be touchy and oversensitive some Americans attack too much importance to what is said about America and Americans by writers and speakers of other nationalities. The mere fact that the opinion expressed is a foreign dictum gives it, in their eyes, an importance to which it is rarely entitled.

Obscure visitors, minor novelists and unknown penny-a-liners from abroad all have their fling at Uncle Sam, and immediately some of Uncle's children become as hot under the collar as if these criticisms really mattered one way or the other. No-nothing unknowns can set oversensitive American souls by the ears merely because what they say is cabled across the Atlantic.

One can throw a brick farther than a bouquet. Unfavorable criticisms always travel farther and gains wider circulation than favorable comment. European admiration for American achievements rarely registers on this side of the water, and yet if the foreign press is to be believed, America is the eighth and greatest wonder of the world.

Of course, European writers are at a loss to understand why an inscrutable Providence has seen fit to shower such abundant blessings upon a people so much less worthy of divine favor than their own; but the fact itself is accepted and broadcast.

Europe marvels at American prosperity, industrial methods, high wages, low production costs, high standards of living, friendly relations between labor and capital and commercial development, and envies America because of them. But national pride forbids that they should admit the New World to be superior in all things. Therefore, the petty fault finding and "fearless" criticism. And no doubt those Americans most irritated by foreign criticisms are the most scathing in their derogation of things foreign to this country.

In Day's News

The news that Cyril Maude is making his last appearance on the stage will be a disappointment to his admirers on both sides of the Atlantic. When the curtain falls on the last performance of the play in which he is now appearing in London, Mr. Maude will step from behind the footlights to join Maude Adams, Dame Ellen Terry and others who live as delightful memories in the minds of playgoers both in England and America. The distinguished actor has had a career of forty-three years on the stage. in the course of that long period he has played everything from tragedy to the lightest comedy of the kind in which he has been seen most often in late years. The roles for which he will probably be remembered longest, however, are those in which he has portrayed the ordinary cultured man of the world—played by him in such manner that he has created a "Maude tradition." Mr. Maude was born in London sixty-five years ago this month.

A newspaper photograph shows Harry Lauder giving a Pullman porter a tip. The coin isn't shown and we wonder if the little Scotchman hasn't a string tied to it somehow.

Hints and Dints

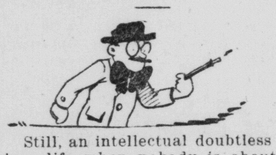
Sun sets tonight 6:24. Sun rises tomorrow 5:43.

We are figuring on taking up golf this summer but do not anticipate letting it interfere with our business or pleasure.

One of the reasons there are so few murders in England is because they hung a bozo over there 37 days after he had done his killing. In this country some sentimentalists would just be getting up sympathy for a murder by that time.

For many years some hard working citizens of New Castle tried to get a modern hotel built here. Now a few people from Youngstown, which have not a cent of interest in New Castle are trying to stop the building of it.

A Chicago lady wanted a divorce from her husband five minutes after she was married to him. Maybe she also failed to take a real look at her husband before she tied up with him too late.



Still, an intellectual doubtless enjoys life when nobody is about to watch him sneer.

Every time a man tries to impress upon the wife the necessity of economy she retaliates by telling him of the admirers she could have married.

On March 12, there was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor of Slippery Rock, Butler county, a daughter in the Shenango Valley hospital in this city. The question arose as to whether the little lady was entitled to the five dollars given by the Hints and Dints man to all babies born in Lawrence county on his birthday. We decided she was entitled to the five because it was stated "born in Lawrence county on March 12." She has her check by this time.

A pencil sharpner is one piece of machinery where a demonstration is detrimental to a sale.

Peaches Browning was barred from appearing in a night club in Pittsburgh. It's pretty tuff on Peaches being canned in Pittsburgh. We cannot see why Peaches is blamed so much. If she was some old gold digger it would be different, but she was only an innocent young girl.

If it was not for the fur bearing animals some married men wouldn't forever be overdrawn at the bank. Servant girls and nurse maids would also have more money all the year round.

A Chicago blind man fought a divorce suit brought by his wife and swore on the witness stand that he could tell who her sweetie was by just touching him. That's some touch. He fought the divorce because his religion does not take kindly to divorce. Heaven help him!

The trousers for young men for the coming summer, we are told, are to be "Of discreet width." There surely is much room for something discreet in trousers and it is not confined exclusively to young men.

We think the state should collect the gasoline tax from the wholesalers if they want to get all that is coming to it. In the days gone by when it was left to the honesty of theatre owners as to how much tax they should turn in on tickets sold we have an idea the government got an awful wallop, on short change. That is if those who were trusted were not more honest in that matter than they were in other matters.

Men do not wear heavy clothing now as they used to. We have known men who couldn't get underwear heavy and wooly enough who now wear very thin stuff. The ladies seem to have the right idea for wearing just as little clothing as possible. Men would suffocate if they had to wear the duds now they did some years ago. And women simply would not wear that heavy old stuff A—TALL!

DOWN IN THE PENSY YARDS

While crossing o'er the tracks,
The Pennsylvania rail-road tracks
Down in the Pennsy yards—

I met a lady,
(God save the blooming mark,
Of womanhood she had no spark.)
And a baby,
Some four years old or three,
A-dancing in her childish glee.
And a poodle,
A fuzzy slobbering poodle,
A pink eyed, useless poodle—
Down in the Pennsy yards.

The 'Hoodle bug' was raring down the line
To meet the West Bound 'leven twenty nine,
Down through the Pennsy yards.

And Jones he blew the whistle,
And the fireman rang the bell.
And the engine roared and snorted
Like a demon fresh from—well.

The lady (?) took the poodle in her arms,
To reassure the whimpering brute's alarms.
And hugged that ki-yi to her breast,
In the place where the babies love to rest.

She let the toddler stumble,
Afrightened at the chu-chu's rumble,
And said aloud so I could hear—
"Don't get runover, Dear!"
Down in the Pennsy yards.

FRANK W. TYLER.

Henry Ford was hurt in an automobile accident near his wonderful home, but instead of taking him to his home they took him to a hospital in Detroit. A hospital is the best place for the injured and sick in these days and the best treatment can be had by the poor as well as the rich. A hospital is truly a democratic institution—we do not mean the political Democrat as some might think in this county and city.

You have perhaps noticed that very few big news items come from Florida or California about busted banks and small pox epidemics. They do not broadcast their shortcomings in those places, but how they do yell about raising money and the things that are good for their cities.

It might be interesting for some people in this county to know that, as counties go in the files at Harrisburg, Lawrence county is rated as a "fifth class county." The counties are not rated that way, as to their values to the state however. If we could get together politically we would be rated in lots of ways as first class.

In Washington they are figuring and holding conferences about making a lot of whisky for medical purposes because the supply is getting very short. And in the meantime perfectly good likker is being poured into the sewers of this country so the fish can have a good time and humans suffer. Who's looney now?

All the world loves a lover and it also loves to snicker at his love letters when read in court in a breach of promise suit.

Formerly a common noun, skirt is now an abbreviation.

A London, England, chimney sweeper has turned novelist. Some recent novels, however, might be attributed to garbage collectors rather than chimney sweeps.

Most people who keep posted on conditions in the United States will agree with the judge who declared from the bench the other day that the crime wave is in large part due to too much sympathy for the criminal and too little for his victim.

Don't talk about the good advice you have heard, but remember it for your own use.

It is nearly always easier for a sick person to get well by taking a nice trip somewhere without calling it a vacation.

A Florida paper boasts that Florida is a state where baseball can be played all the year round. And it is also a state where the gate receipts wouldn't keep a major league baseball team going for half a month.

It is now given out on fairly good authority that President Calvin Coolidge will do his fishing this summer in the state of Wisconsin. It isn't likely that Cal will say very much while there, but the boys who have been back of LaFollette so long will get to know Mr. Coolidge, and here's hoping that they like him.

He isn't a true American unless a "keep out" sign seems a personal affront.

Just about the time we take "Ethel" out of our gas the state comes along and soaks us another cent tax. In a few years we'll probably be paying all the taxes through the gasoline consumption, and with almost everybody owning cars it will be a form of taxation that will hit everyone alike. The man who doesn't want to pay it doesn't need to ride.

This is the time of year to kill flies, say those people who keep tab on such things. It is also a good time to kill off the other pests, too. But there are some of them we don't dare kill, much as we would like to.

At the present time there is said to be a great demand for horses up in Mercer county. No one knows the reason for it, unless it is the three-cent gas tax or bad roads, or perhaps both.

That college man who said there were too many misfits in college must have been speaking of the Oxford bags.

During a recent five-day period at Monte Carlo three persons committed suicide. But we don't hear the people at Monte Carlo complaining about the suicide wave. They never miss them over there when the money is gone.

The woman who used to insist that she wouldn't take a back seat for any man feels just the same about it when she is driving the car from the rear.

There is a growing demand in this country that hell be put back on the map as a parking place for hit-and-run drivers.

Accident to Henry Ford.
Why Save the Chinese?
"News" of Coolidge Plans.
Must We Have Coal Strikes?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

The world is shocked by news of the accident to Henry Ford, who went off a high bank in a small automobile coupe, the car rolling over two or three times, with him in it.

Great hostility has been expressed against Ford because of severe competition that stores, established by him for his workmen, have given to other stores.

The fact that, after walking to his home and spending forty-eight hours there, Ford was taken to his hospital "for a minor operation" worries his friends. A well-known surgeon suggests that the belated trip to the hospital might indicate an operation for fracture of the skull, such injuries often remaining undiscovered for a considerable time.

In spite of Ford's great wealth and vast interests, the fact that he and his family own 100 per cent of his enterprises in the United States makes the wide-spread anxiety concerning Ford's condition purely a matter of personal friendship and sympathy. There are no financial interests involved except those of his immediate family.

Ford, fortunately, is known to be a man of unusual strength and endurance, well able to survive even a severe accident and operation.

Hatred of foreigners and attacks upon them are spreading throughout China, north as well as south.

Missionaries refuse to leave, their sense of duty keeping them at their task of saving souls.

They are in China to give the Chinese an opportunity to go to heaven. But if those masses prefer to go in the other direction, why not let them?

Another of our American warships in China has "found it necessary to let loose its guns." Chinese revolutionary troops fired on the destroyer John B. Ford, going up the Yangtse river. The American ship's four-inch guns and machine guns were instantly brought into action.

Doubtless it is necessary just now that United States guns should be most conspicuous in attacks on Chinese, which, of course, will concentrate Chinese hatred on this country and on American citizens.

But it is to be hoped that we shall soon have our citizens, boats and fighters out of China, and let that gigantic nation fight it out without help or interference from us.

When you read that nine out of ten Chinese men, women and children go to bed hungry, worried, poor and miserable every night of their lives, you cannot expect them to be philosophical or patient.

Each "well informed Washington correspondent" tells you something you didn't know. One gives you this, most privately, "President Coolidge has made up his mind not to run in 1928. He is in favor of the nomination of Herbert Hoover."

You can take that for what it is worth. Senator Borah will tell you that President Coolidge will surely be nominated again. Also that Governor Smith of New York will be nominated by the Democrats.

However, nobody knows what President Coolidge will do. He himself may not know. The "well informed" one suggests that President Coolidge plans to leave office, practice law, and accumulate some money for his wife and son. He has been a poor man all his life and has been able to save nothing from his salary as president.

The suggested nomination of Herbert Hoover, who has shown extraordinary energy and ability in working for national waterways, power plants and other national enterprises, would please millions of Americans, so would the nomination of Secretary Mellon, who has handled national finances in a way that entitled him to the gratitude of all citizens, big and little.

If the president should decide not to be elected a second time (there is no question of a third term when a man has only been elected once), it is safe to say that the Republican nominee in 1928 would be named Hoover, Mellon or Lowden.

Governor Smith's friends think he can give any one of them—President Coolidge also—a hard fight. It will be an interesting campaign.

A coal strike of a sort will begin Friday in what is called "the central competitive field." Union men in the north cannot compete with non union men farther south.

The alleged attempt to reduce wages in the north would cause still further reduction of wages in the south. Industry and business are not civilized while it is necessary for employers and employes to engage in periodical battle, at the expense of the workers' wives and children, to decide what is fair pay. Some impartial third party should fix wages. The public pays in the price of coal.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

VAUDEVILLE

Preachers, lecturers, grand opera singers and highbrow readers, it is supposed, do not go before vaudeville audiences because that audience is composed of groundlings. They are not choice enough to appreciate the elegant product of the favored few.

Some writers also disdain to write for the newspapers because the newspaper appeals to the moron. Only readers of highbrow magazines can understand them.

A writer in The Edinburgh Review some years ago, reviewing my own work, indulged in about this sort of argument:

1. Most people are morons, or people with the intelligence of a person of thirteen.

2. Dr. Crane is supposed to have a vast number of readers.

3. Dr. Crane, therefore, must peculiarly appeal to the morons.

4. Therefore, Dr. Crane must be a moron.

In the minds of some people nothing can be popular unless it is cheap, vulgar and flimsy.

I sometimes wonder what these people think about Jesus, of whom it was said that the common people heard Him gladly, while the scribes and the Pharisees rejected him.

Shakespeare is also under suspicion because he has so many readers.

This sort of argument of course is pure snobbery.

It is proved in the case of the vaudeville.

The average preacher of lecturer does not appear in the ten-twenty-thirty houses for the simple reason that they don't want him. He could not stay there.

With the vaudeville audience you have to make good. No credentials go. You may be the president of the United States or the king of England or foreman of the grand jury at the day of judgment. Just the same if your stuff is not interesting, out you go.

The vaudeville audience represents the quintessence of the common people. It is about the keenest, shrewdest and most honest congregation of folk there is.

The reason they will not listen to preaching is not because they do not like preaching, but because the preaching is not good enough.

They do like preaching. They are as much interested in moral problems as the next man, but they will not be bored.

So the tiresome lecturer on art or music or higher criticism must seek another audience. These people will not have him, unless he can condense what he has to say into a talk of fifteen minutes and make it snappy.

Many a man holds a high place in the senate or on the bench or in the pulpit who could not maintain a place at all before a vaudeville audience.

If I am ever asked to appear in vaudeville, which I do not expect, I shall consider it the greatest compliment of my life.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SOMETHING ABOUT HAITI.

I supposed that Senator King has his own reasons for wanting to visit Haiti. It is equally supposable that the authorities of Haiti had good reasons for not desiring Senator King's company. Whether the Senator wished to throw any monkey wrenches into the political machinery or not, in making his proposed visit, is not clear, and the rebellous senators just now seem bent upon making as much trouble as possible, to say the least, they are not patriotic. The story of Haiti is an interesting one. Perhaps Senator King knows it, and perhaps he does not. C. W. Barron is an indefatigable traveler, and a clever writer. Last Fall he visited Haiti, and he wrote as follows:

"If, in sailing from Key West, you turn to the left from the straight southern run to Havana, you will bring up off the easterly end of Cuba, at half an island known as the Republic of Haiti. Uncle Sam, that notorious Shylock, land grabber, and tyrant, took over the business management of that island eleven years ago. In those days, it would have been easier to find because its principal harbor and capital, Port au Prince, could be located by its odor far out at sea. It was about the most loathsome pest-hole in the Central American republics, and that is saying quite a lot. Presidents were elected for a term of seven years. Six of them, prior to our intervention, had functioned in less than four years. One was blown up in his palace, one died by poison, one was killed by a mob, and the other three were deposed by revolutionists, which was as near to self-determination as that people could get, and corresponded to presidential election.

Accordingly, with the advice and approval of the United States Senate, we took up the white man's burden and Port au Prince is now as sanitary as Washington. There are hundreds of miles of good limestone roads where none existed before. Eleven years ago even agriculture was paralyzed. The men did not work for fear of being conscripted into improvised revolutionary armies. When the women carried the produce to market they were either robbed of it on the way in or robbed of the price of it on the way home. All that is changed. There is security of life and property. A people which were emphatically a race of slaves before they left the wilds of Africa and during the centuries in which they have constituted the population of Haiti, are actually beginning to use the savings banks. They are using other banks and the clerical force in the National City Bank branch there, which ten years ago were accustomed to swathe its ankles in brown paper to avoid being eaten up by the mosquitoes, is now immune from that and a thousand other pests. There are school houses throughout the country where formerly there was none, and moving pictures instruct a people which is 90 per cent illiterate."

All this has been done in a decade. Probably some Congressman, about next January, will demand that the hand of the oppressor shall be taken from the throat of these enlightened citizens, ripe for self government.

BEAUTY

Some things there are beyond both wealth and fame
Yet sorely needed in this life of ours:
Song birds in summer and geranium flowers,
A share in which the passer-by may claim,
Joys, which for one and all remain the same:
Rivers, and hills and beauty's
changeful bowers
Which ask but love, regardless of our powers,
And in return set every eye aflame.
Life without these were sordid, cold and bare;
Sunrise and sunset and the golden moon,
Trees with their great arms stretching high in air,
Song birds and roses of the blossomy June.
For neither gold nor fame could satisfy
The soul of man if loveliness should die.

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Home Thoughts, from Abroad," by Robert Browning.

The English poets since Shakespeare seem to have been in love with their country quite as much as with the women of it; and when they have been absent from it, it was almost as much of a trial as to have remained apart from their loves. That passionate feeling for English soil has seldom been better expressed than in Browning's oft-quoted lyric. It should be in everyone's scrapbook.

Oh, to be in England
Now that April's there,
And whoever wakes in England
Sees, some morning, unaware,
That the lowest boughs and the brushwood sheaf
Round the elm-tree bole are in tiny leaf,
While the chaffinch sings on the orchard bough
In England—now!

And after April, when May follows,
And the whitethroat builds, and all the swallows!
Hark, where my blossomed pear tree in the hedge Leans to the field and scatters on the clover
Blossoms and dew-drops—at the bent spray's edge—
That's the wise thrush: he sings each song twice over,
Lest you should think he never could recapture
The first fine careless rapture!

Public Schools In Philippines Showing Gains

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1. — Depite the almost insurmountable difficulties confronted, among the head-hunting Igorotes in North Luzon and the Mohammedan Moros in the southern end of the archipelago, public school attendance in the Philippine Islands is making unprecedent gains, according to the latest statistics received here. Today approximately 42 per cent of all children of school age are enrolled in the public institutions, while another three per cent attend private classes.

There are now 1,130,366 pupils enrolled in the 7,789 public schools in the islands as compared with 791,626 in the 5,944 schools that were functioning in 1920 and with 621,115 in the 4,291 schools operating in 1915.

Much of the success of the educational system is due, so insular authorities report, "to the ever-increasing desire of the Filipinos" for schooling. This desire has led the native governmental bodies, as well as the American insular officials, to increase their appropriations for education until now about 23 per cent of the total government revenues are devoted to that purpose. In the last fiscal year expenditures for public instruction amounted to $1,994,406.

One of the first steps taken by the United States Army after the military occupation of the Philippines was completed was the establishment of schools throughout the islands. These were turned over to the Bureau of Education when the civil government was inaugurated. Since then serious efforts have been put forth to develop a native teaching corps, with the result that there are now 25,000 Filipino instructors.

There are several higher institutions of learning in the islands, including the University of Santo Tomas in Manila, which is the oldest university under the American flag. Established in 1611, it antedates Harvard University by a quarter of a century. Up until the time of the Spanish-American war instruction at Santo Tomas was given in Spanish, but since then there has been a constant trend toward English with the understanding that all instruction will be given in English within a few years.

Other higher schools include University of the Philippines, National University, University of Manila, Silliman Institute, Ateneo College and LaSalle College. There are also a number of private schools of elementary ranking, the most outstanding of which is the Brent School at Baguio. Most of these lower private schools, which have an average yearly enrollment of about 75,000, are, according to Governor-General Wood's last annual report, "of very low standards, poory equipped, and have an inadequately trained, shifting and poorly paid staff."

Particular attention is being paid, both by the American authorities and the native educational officials, to the development of agricultural schools and increased appropriations for their maintenance and equipment are now being urged. The most prominent of these institutions are located at Munoz, Trinidad, Catarman and Lagangilang.

Close Oklahoma Land Offices As Means Of Economy

(International News Service)

GUTHRIE, Okla., April 1.—A "land office business" will pass into history June 30, when the government will close the last of the Department of the Interior branches through which the settlement of Oklahoma was conducted.

When the Guthrie land office passes at the end of the fiscal year a historical character in Oklahoma will return to private life—Maj. N. D. McGinley, the present receiver. Major McGinley, who is 78 years old, was one of the band of 54 plainsmen who stood off more than 1,200 Indians in the nine-day battle of the Arickaree, on the famous Kansas-Colorado border stream of that name.

Oklahoma still has about 27,000 acres of public land open to homesteaders, but 18,000 acres of it is included in the salt plains of northwestern counties and little of the rest is so located as to be desirable for any purpose better than grazing.

The Guthrie office is the last of nine established by the government in 1889 and succeeding years.

Trombone And Cornet Replace Church Bells

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 1. — With auto designers heaping shiny knicknacks on the 1927 models and with more sober music nearly everywhere replaced by jazz future historians might do well to call this the Age of Brass.

And Colorado Springs, nestling at the base of Pikes Peak, adds another victory to the lengthy list with a novel conquest of brass over bronze.

Devout members of the First Methodist church here are no longer called to evening worship by the melodious peal of bells from the lofty campanile that soars above the gothic structure.

Instead, a brass quartet, composed of two trombones and two cornets, sound a prelude to the twilight services from a position high up in the tower.

Strains of familiar hymns float from the lofty quartet and are compared to the summons of the muezzin calling his Mohammedan worshippers to remember Allah, from the slender mosque minarets.

The unique musical feature was conceived by Dr. George W. McDonald, pastor of the church, Fred Cox, assistant pastor and Bernard Vessey, musical director.

Declares Man Is More Vain Than Modern Woman

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., April 1.—Man is more vain than woman, is the opinion of Erie's oldest photographer, who in his 50 years of experience has found that the most extreme cases of conceit rest with the men. To confirm his statement he tells of a time when a well known business man came to his studio to have a picture made and spent over an hour in the dressing room attempting to slick each hair into place. He hastened to add that a great many women are vain, too, but that the men are more so. Even in the younger generation the boys are slightly more conceited than the girls.

Another photographer says that women outdo men in conceit. She thinks that a woman is more fussy, and she has her picture taken for no particular reason at all, other than to have a portrait of herself in her newest gown. A man, on the other hand, will seldom have his picture made unless "compelled by some outside force", that is, it is being made for someone or something.

The third one says that a vain man is much worse than a vain woman, but that there are more vain women than men. He agrees with the second that a woman has a picture taken when she has a new frock. He says, too, that he has men who have their pictures taken to immortalize their supposed good looks, and who are far more trouble than women ever could be.

One other photographer is rather undecided. He says that in the case of the young people the boys are very conceited and the girls merely take their beauty, if they are blessed with it, as a matter of fact and don't think anything more about it. The "sheik type" who thinks he is so handsome that he must sit before the camera all day is the only vain man that this photographer gets, although he is very exasperating the elderly women to his mind are as bad.

Finds Money In Barrel Of Gun

YORK, Pa., April 1.—The old adage "He who laughs last laughs best" was re-enacted here recently by Dr. B. E. Gamble of Manchester, who attended a public sale and purchased an old muzzle-loading shotgun. His friends teased him a bit for buying the ancient musket, but the physician took it good naturedly. When he got home he tried to remove what he supposed was a collection of old papers from the barrel, but did not succeed, and he called in a friend who knew more about guns.

They made a ramrod and again set to work, when out came a $5 bill. The work then continued feverishly with the result that they extracted 13 $10 bills besides the $5 note. All the bills were dated 23 years ago. They were covered with soft rust.

Urges More Care In Making Fire

Governor Urges All To Aid In Checking Forest Fire Menace

HARRISBURG Pa., April 1.—Governor Fisher, upon having his attention called to the fact that several forest fires have occurred already this spring, said: "One of the surest signs of spring is the forest fire. This is a serious admission to make at this stage of the development of the human race, for most of these fires are man-made.

"Pennsylvania is making rapid strides in the control of forest fires, but much remains to be done. The forest officers cannot be expected to watch each of the 13 million acres of forest land nor to follow every one of the millions of people who go in or near the woods on dry, hot spring days. The prevention of forest fires is an individual responsibility laid upon each citizen by society, and the sooner the individual becomes fire conscious and assumes his personal share of the burden, the sooner will the problem be solved and the sooner will the hills of the commonwealth produce valuable crops of timber.

"Care with fire in or near the woods means more than care with burning tobacco and matches, it means the elimination of careless handling of camp fires, brush burning and every fire in the open. It means care in preventing the escape of sparks from engine stacks and ash pans. It means care on the part of the farmer, camper, tourist, fisherman, lumberman, railroader and hiker. The control of fires means the prevention of forest fires. Each one of us can be more careful with fire."

Axes And Saws Used On Fifty-Foot Whale

ORR'S ISLAND, Me., April 1—A group of fishermen from Orr's Island labored cutting up the thirty-five ton carcass of a fifty foot whale which was washed ashore on Ragged Island in a terrific storm which swept the seacoast several days ago.

Capt. William Sylvester of Orr's Island, an old whaler of forty years experience out of New Bedford, superintended the process. The captain estimated the salvage value of the big mamal would be about $250. Capt. Sam Doughty who with two other Orr's Island lobster fishermen, I. O. Linscott and Capt. E. Moore Tibbetts discovered the carcass went to Portland to ascertain prices for whale oil and bone. The blubber will be sold for paint.

Throughout the day the axes and saws ate into the blubber and meat and by night the carcass was nearly chopped up. The meat will be fit only for lobster bait due to its deterioration. A crowd of sighteers from Orr's Island arrived at the scene in the afternoon to get a glimpse of the first whale washed ashore in the vicinity of Portland in 20 years.

Capt. Sylvester opined that the whale was about 5 years old and of the fin back genus.

"Prob'ly the critter has been dead about a month," said the Cap'n. "Whales us'ly sink after they die and it takes about 20 days for the body to come to th' serface. The big waves kicked up by that no'easter tossed the body up here from the bottom, prob'ly. This whale's stomach I bett'll weigh 1,000 pounds."

Mr. Linscott and his companions thought they had discovered another Shenandoah disaster when tney sighted the carcass just before dusk. The carcass looked exactly like a dirigible from a distance, the men declared. Discovery that the form was a whale led to a hurried trip home to consult Cap'n Sylvester the local authority on whales.

Former Aide To Kaiser Drops Dead

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 1.—General Von Friedberg, former aide to the Ex-Kaiser, fell dead from apoplexy before the Bismarck monument here today, after the police had intervened and prevented him from making a speech in commemoration of Bismarck.

General Von Friedberg had laid a wreath upon the monument of Bismarck and was launching into a speech in celebration of the "Iron Chancellor's" birthday when the police stopped him, and in his excitement he fell dead in a fit of apoplexy.

New Castle Citizen Is Happier Than He Ever Expected To Be

Since Dreco Ended The Terrible Suffering With Rheumatism He Feels Like A Young Man Again

"Before I learned of Dreco I took about a barrel of medicine but all of it put together didn't do me as much good as the first bottle of Dreco," declared Mr. Wm. H. Beil, 714 Monroe St., this city, in a recent talk with the Dreco man at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store. Mr. Beil is employed at the Haney Furniture Co. and has a host of friends thruout this section.

"Since I learned of Dreco and took three bottles of it I am like another man. Not only did I gain 40 pounds of much needed weight but I also obtained relief from a severe case of rheumatism that was almost driving me frantic. Why, I used to be so bad I couldn't straighten up if I bent over unless I held on to something and it was almost impossible to turn over in bed. But Dreco has changed all this and now my body is as free from aches and pains as anyone's.

'Dreco also ended my kidney troubles, put my stomach in fine shape, relieved the catarrh and made me feel fine in everyway."

Persons who have weak stomachs that fill up with gas, suffer from headaches, dizzy spells, backache, rheumatism or constipation are advised to take Dreco, the great root and herb medicine which acts very promptly on these troubles and gives excellent relief.

Mr. S. P. Thorp, the well-known expert, from the Dreco Laboratories now at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him. His advice is free.

Army Leads Nation In Breeding Horses

Stud Now Includes 510 Stallions; This Years Foals Estimated At 10,000

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A Since the government's horse-breeding activities were transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the remount service of the army, the War Department has become the world's greatest breeders of horses.

Commenting on this branch of army activity, Major General B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster general, said:

"The recent purchase of 14 thoroughbred stallions brings the total up to 510. According to the records, these stallions have produced almost 25,000 colts, 7,000 having been foaled last year alone. This year the figure may reach 10,000, as activities are constantly expanding. The value of these colts has been placed at $3,744,000."

The War Department has spent $375,000 in the purchase of stallions, most of which are thoroughbreds. In addition, the value placed on stallions donated to the War Department by interested persons in furtherance of the breeding plan, is estimated at $300,000.

Many of the stallions are worth several times the amount paid for them, and were obtained at a low figure only through co-operation of breeders and sportsmen.

Army stallions are scattered through every state, where they are available at nominal cost to farmers who wish to use them for breeding purposes.

Youth Kills His Mother With Knife

Says He Was "Dream Crazed" When He Committed Horrible Deed

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—With a vision of his dead father in a dream prompting him, he said, Preston H. Bell, 23, arose from bed early today determined to take the life of his mother because she had married a second time.

Creeping into her bedroom, young Bell stabbed his mother several times with a four-inch pocket knife.

She fought with him and struggled into the hallway.

There in the presence of his eleven-year-old half-sister, Lillian Sullivan, the alleged "dream crazed" youth completed his horrible task. The mother, Mrs. Ella Roberts Bell Sullivan, fell to the carpet dead.

Cries of the struggling mother, fighting for her life with her own son, mingled with those of her little daughter and police were summoned. Bell was arrested.

Congressmen In Big Exodus To See The World

More Than 200 Senators And Representatives Off On Foreign Trips

Study Of International Conditions Big Reason For Journeys

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—With legislative worries laid aside, Congress has literally started out to see the world.

More than 200 Senators and Representatives, it is estimated, have either started or will make trips to foreign lands or outlying possessions before Congress meets again in December.

The exodus this spring and summer will set a new record, in the opinion of veteran members. The Orient and Europe are the magnets for most of the travelers, with many choosing to invade the trouble zone in Central America.

In deference to public criticism, however, Congress has virtually abolished "junketing" trips, most of them digging into their private resources for funds which their salaries or the government will not supply.

How They Travel

A large number will travel on Army transports, but war department officials say that members are paying their own passage they are granted the same rate as Army officers, which is considerably less than the usual steamship rates.

"I believe that more than half of the members will make trips abroad this year," said Rep. Porter, (R) of Pennsylvania chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs.

"If I had my way, every Congress would be required to spend a part of his time traveling abroad and familiarizing himself with the world problems which he must face during sessions.

"International relationships are becoming more important than ever and Congress ought to have first hand information."

Traveling abroad, even on a government expense account, is expense business, according to one Congressman, who has made official trips to Europe.

Travel Expense High

"I was allowed traveling cost and $9 a day for expenses to Geneva," he said. "This alone was insufficient to pay my hotel bills at the prevailing high prices. As I was part of an official party I thought it my duty to do a little entertaining. One party cost me $220."

Congress recently took cognizance of the high cost of living in Geneva, where the hotel business has boomed since the League of Nations named the Swiss city as its headquarters. The usual limiting figure upon expenses of official delegates was raised.

One man who lost $1200 left for Atlantic City to enlist the aid of authorities after he was informed by the Pennsylvania securities bureau that the scheme was crooked.

Germany Using More Sugar Than Before World War

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 1.—Germans are a "sweet" nation. The consumption of sugar has steadily increased since the war. Even with large areas having been taken from Germany under the Versailles treaty the consumption of sugar is larger now than it was before the war.

As an average, every German consumes 41 German pounds of sugar a year against 38 pounds before the war. This increase is due to the growing appetite for sweets and candy in Germany. The German revenues from taxes on sugar have been mortgaged under the Dawes Plan.

Pope To Get Album Of Canada Rockies

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, April 1.—His Holiness Pope Pius XI will shortly receive a photographic album of the Canadian Rockies. Having in youth scaled the most difficult Alpine peaks, the Pope recently confided to a prominent Canadian the desire to see some pictures of Canada's mountains.

His wish was conveyed to E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has had prepared an album de luxe of the Canadian Rockies containing more than a hundred of the finest photographs of views from Banff to Vancouver, covering Lake Louise the Yoho Valley, Glacier, Sicamous and the Thompson and Fraser River canyons.

These photographs are enclosed in a binding of white leather figuring the Papal colors and bearing in letters of gold the words "Canadian Rockies," and "Canadian Pacific Railway."

The album is the work of Philippe Beaudoin, art binder of Montreal who studied his art in Paris.

"I have used 'AA Quality' Fertilizers more than 25 years, ever since starting my farming career in Montcalm County at Greenville. I was the first farmer to use commercial fertilizers, and used to have them shipped out in small quantities for use on my farm.
"My first use of fertilizers convinced me that they were very profitable and that any farmer could not really afford to plant a crop without fertilizing it. I found the use of fertilizers especially profitable on potatoes.

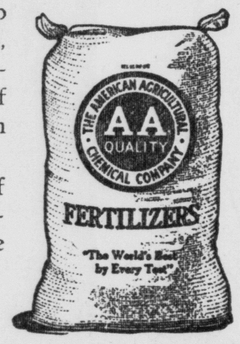
Give your farm a chance—its profit-producing powers will astonish you

ANY soil will produce some kind of crop, but when it's given a real chance, when it's properly fertilized, it comes back with profit-making yields that fatten the bank balance and make farming a paying business.

For over 60 years "AA Quality" Fertilizers have been piling up unequaled crop records—on all crops, hereabouts and everywhere. Thousands of testimonials from farmers prove this.

The superiority of "AA Quality" Fertilizers begins with the selection of the world's best raw materials.

Only materials from the most carefully selected sources are used in the manufacture of these famous fertilizers. They are thoroughly blended — cured — and then screened. That's why they are always in perfect mechanical condition and why they produce such satisfactory and profitable crops for farmers everywhere.



Give your farm a chance to work for you—use "AA Quality" Fertilizers.

YORK, April 1. — Rev. Cletus Senft, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Calvin Senft, 832 West Poplar street, this city, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Holy Trinity Lutheran church, Narberth, Pa. He will complete his studies at Gettysburg Theological Seminary in June.

Write a Title—Win a Prize!

$2350.00 WORTH of PRIZES

The above picture needs a title! Drinking FRANCO-AMERICAN COFFEE is not a condition of this contest, but its good taste may help suggest a name for the picture. At any rate, you can get more enjoyment from FRANCO-AMERICAN than from any other coffee. Its fine flavor is unequaled. You'll like it better!

WIN ONE OF THESE 503 PRIZES:

1st Prize . . . . . $200 in gold and a Tricolator
2nd Prize . . . . . $100 in gold and a Tricolator
3rd Prize . . $50 in gold and a Tricolator
Next 500 Prizes
500 Tricolators, value $4.00 each

One Tricolator, the finest coffee making device known, for each of the 500 next best titles. Clip the picture, if you like, and think up your title. Get your family to help you. Submit as many titles as you like. Write your title on plain white paper, 2½ x 3¼ inches in size, or on the printed blank supplied, for your convenience, in each can of FRANCO-AMERICAN COFFEE.

Rules:

1. Titles must not be over 10 words and may be written on plain white paper, 2½ x 3¼ inches in size, or on the blank packed in every can of FRANCO-AMERICAN COFFEE. You may submit as many titles as you wish.
2. Contest closes, and titles must be mailed, by midnight, May 15th, 1927. Announcement of winners will be made as soon thereafter, as possible, in this newspaper.
3. Cleverness, originality and neatness will count. The words FRANCO-AMERICAN need not appear in the title of the picture.
4. The judges will be selected by Young & Griffin Coffee Company, and their decision will be final. In case of ties, the full amount of prize will be awarded to tying Contestants:
5. All titles must be mailed first class mail to: Young & Griffin Coffee Co., Title Contest Department, 97 Water Street, New York City.

Battle On Corn Borer Under Way

Mercer County Farmers Start Battle To Eliminate Pest This Year

OTHER NEWS OF MERCER COUNTY

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Pa., April 1.—The most widespread interest in Mercer County in the number of people that are engaged in the common cause of agriculture of any undertaking of record is that now operative for the eradication of the European corn borer.

Along with the 32 chairmen, one in each of the townships in the county appointed of recent date by Farm Agent W. S. Hagar, that official announced today that he has appointed a group of men in each township to co-operate as a committee of assistants to this leader that will total in number 250.

It is estimated that Hagar now has under arms to resist the invader a total of 300 men who are working toward this common purpose of educating Mercer County farmers in eradicating the corn borer. Until May 1st this group of men will be operative. Each farmer in the county will be interviewed individually and the regulations of the federal government related. When officers of the federal government arrive in this county on May 1st to impose regulations there will be no excuses accepted as the educational campaign will be so thorough that every man will be properly advised. The federal government is backing the expense of this aducational campaign.

The May term of Common Pleas court totals a list of 20 cases to be tried at this session which opens on the date of May 16th.

A total of the Common Pleas cases tried at the terms of February, March and May totaled 100. The number is a record for the county for these three terms, the books of the court would show.

Of the three terms the largest was that of February when 48 cases were listed. The increase in number of cases of this kind is 100 per cent within the last few years attributed to the large number of damage suits from auto accidents that are increasing each year.

Don't plant your crops in the dark of the moon is the advice of Jury Commissioner Jerry Welk of Greenville to Mercer County farmers today. The new and increasing moon should be the time of planting states Mr. Welk who is convinced that a great deal of the success in farming depends on following out this ruling.

As a reverse of this ruling the aged weather prophet also advises that the cultivating of crops should take place during the period of full moon and that all harvesting should take place during that time as the weather is less likely to change.

As the planting season is approaching the advice is timely. No warm weather in sight until the middle of April is the prediction of Welk.

That Mercer County road supervisors are busy with the improvement of the roads in their respective districts by planning the ashing or slagging of their surface during the coming summer is voiced by the 10 petitions that have been presented the court for signature within the past few weeks asking that the rate of millage be raised that sufficient funds may be secured to carry on the work.

No millage over ten may be imposed by road supervisors without the consent of the court. In each instance mentioned the petitions have asked increases above that amount, some of them going as high as 15 mills in their requests.

The following is the list of townships; Sandy Creek, Sandy Lake, Otter Creek, Shenango, Green, Coolspring, Delaware, Fairview, South Pymatuning. One borough is also listed, that of Sheakleyville where the council make a request for an increased millage for this purpose. The number of townships affected is concrete of the widespread interest in road building in Mercer County where this summer 50 miles of ash and slag road will be built that will total a cost of a quarter million. The county expects to spend $75,000 to $100,000 as their share of this improvement program and the state and township will pay the other two thirds.

Whether appeal will be taken here from the finding of Judge W. Parker of Venango County in the Mercer school case cannot be said today definitely.

Mr. T. A. Sampson attorney for the Mercer Board of Education stated that the matter of appeal would be put up to the members and the members of Mercer High School Association that proposed the erection of the building. With the number of school houses built on this plan over the state it is almost certain that some test of this decision will be made.

Mother's Birthday Cake Has 93 Layers

(International News Service)
BRAINERD, Minn., April 1.—A 93 layer cake, 39 inches high, was the unique contribution of a daughter at the 93rd birthday anniversary party of her mother, Mrs. Mary H. Oliver, at Lakeland, Minn.

A ladder with 93 rungs represented Mrs. Oliver's life, partly covered with trimmings of spruce. Red hearts amid an enbankment of roses created in icing with the name of "Mother, 93" completed the top layer effect of the mammoth cake. It was carried in sections and set up at the mother's home.

The usual result of the first ride—

"MUSCLES ALL TIED UP IN HARD KNOTS"

Limbers up quickly after hard ride

"After several years' absence from the saddle, I took a hard horseback ride, and the next day my muscles were all tied up in hard knots. I applied Sloan's Liniment. Right away the tenseness in the muscles began to relax and in an hour or so, they felt as limber as ever."

The makers of this wonderful liniment have received many thousands of letters like this telling of the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

Sloan's gives real and lasting help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh, new blood. And stiff muscles quickly relax, and pain stops as the healing stream carries off the "fatigue poisons." Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Tax Reduction To Bother Congress At Next Session

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Not only from the economic, but from the political standpoint advocates of tax reduction at the next congress face a serious problem.

"The question is what taxes shall be cut," one of Mellon's advisors said.

From the economic standpoint it was insisted that with practically 20,000 people in United States paying 90 percent of the taxes, a reduction on incomes under $25,000 is inadvisable, giving little benefit to the taxpayers and still further concentrating payments among a few people.

Under the 1925 revenue act the number of actual taxpayers was cut to 2,500,000, although about twice that number filed returns.

Officials declared that the already low rates on small incomes place large corporations and big incomes as the most logical recipients of tax relief.

A tax cut applying exclusively to this class of taxpayer might not have a favorable political reaction just before a presidential election, observers said.

Reductions on the large incomes especially corporation tax, now fixed at 13 1-2 percent, might tend to bring about some reduction of the price of commodities sold by these corporations, according to officials. Cuts on individual incomes would tend to release more money for investment.

BULL'S EYES BRING 10,619 DOUGHBOYS PAY DAY BONUSES

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Skill with the rifle and machine gun and other infantry weapons netted considerable extra pay to 10,619 doughboys who qualified as experts or sharpshooters.

Of the 22,260 infantrymen who fired the rifle 91 per cent made qualifying scores 96.2 per cent of 5,925 qualified as machine gunners and 99.2 per cent of the 627 men who handled the 37 millimeter infantry cannon and the 3-inch trench mortar made high scores.

WIFE MURDERER CALMLY MEETS DEATH IN CHAIR

Father Of Nine Calls Lethal Instrument "Pretty Handy Thing"

COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Scott Workman, 40, Batavia, father of nine children, was electrocuted last night in the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of his wife, Nora.

The condemned man was calm as he entered the death chamber with two guards and the prison doctor. He seated himself in the chair without hesitancy, remarking only:

"Pretty handy thing, isn't it?"

Four minutes later he was pronounced dead.

Gov. A. V. Donahey early in the day declined to grant a stay of execution.

Workman ordered a big chicken dinner for his last meal.

In a statement to newspaper men, who visited him at his cell, he blamed whisky for his downfall. He said he never had had any unusual difficulties at home and that he shot his wife while in a drunken frenzy.

Workman was convicted of slaying his wife last August 13 at New Richmond.

Immediately after the shooting he barricaded himself in his home and fought for two hours before he was captured.

His nine children petitioned the governor to spare their father.

Workman told newspaper men he was resigned to his fate. He said he bore no ill feeling toward anyone.

WOMAN LEAPS FROM BLUFF TO DEATH IN LAKE

Cleveland Patrolman Swims And Recovers Unidentified Body

CLEVELAND, O., April 1.—An unidentified woman leaped from the bluff at Perkins beach, just west of Edgewater park, last night and was drowned. Her body was recovered by Patrolman John Palm of the Twelfth precinct station and taken to St. John's hospital.

A witness of the woman's plunge notified the police station and a squad hastened to the beach. Palm dove into the lake and found the body after several minutes.

Coast guards arrived after the body had been recovered and dragged the beach for half and hour until advised that police already had taken the body to the hospital.

Ah, well; console yourself with the thought that those who have more than you probably haven't paid for it.

SEEK FREEDOM FOR FREDERICK

Attempt To Gain Release Of Man Held For Warren Slaying

CLEVELAND, O., April 1.—An effort to get a writ of habeas corpus to free Ernest Frederick who confessed shooting Walter Holcomb in the lobby of the Warren (O.) postoffice several weeks will be made next week a dispatch from Warren stated last night. Frederick is in the county jail awaiting trial in federal court.

Jay Buchwalter, attorney for Frederick will fight for Frederick's freedom on the ground that the constitution provides a speedy trial for prisoners held without bail.

It has been understood that the trial would be delayed because of congress failure to provide money for operating the courts. Frederick Tuesday pleaded not guilty.

Vail Medal Given New Castle Man

Bell Telephone Company Employe Given Award For Heroism

FIVE OTHERS IN STATE REWARDED

DANIEL GRANT FOLLETT

Six men, employees of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania, have just been awarded the Theodore N. Vaile Medal by that company for acts of "noteworthy public service", it was announced today. The award of these medals is an annual event throughout the Bell system.

Among the six is Daniel Grant Follett, a central office man in New Castle. He was cited for his courage and initiative in protecting telephone property when fire threatened the telephone building there.

Early one Sunday morning last March, Follett heard that the building in the rear of the Bell building was in flames.

Hastening to the office, he closed the fire doors at great hazard to himself, both from fire and high tension wires. His promptness in responding to the emergency, his devotion to duty, and his courageous persistence in accomplishing the closing of the fire doors under difficulties won for him the Vail medal.

Clock Maker Computes Salaries; Coolidge Gets 50 Cents

CHICAGO, April 1.—Average income of the American working is 1½ cents a minute, Warner S. Hays of Philadelphia, secretary of the Clock Manufacturers' Association of America, said in an address at an industrial conference here today.

"President Coolidge receives 50 cents a minute for that is what his $75,000 salary comes to, while Gloria Swanson receives $7.40 a minute for an eight-hour day," said Mr. Hays. "Fifty to 60 cents a minute is average pay for railroad presidents, heads of insurance companies and leading bankers. When all the mass of American workers waste a second it costs $9,980.

"Incomes per minute like that of President Coolidge look small beside those of Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin who are paid 11 cents a second or $6.67 a minute. Will Hays, director of the movie industry, is paid $1 a minute. Former Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, is paid 43 cents a minute. Income of everybody at work is approximately $550,000 a minute or $35,000,000 an hour.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1. — A pecial appeal to the 25 state senators who voted against the revised irearms bill, was sent out by District Attorney Charles E. Fox today. He asked the senators to reonsider their action when the leasure comes before the senate ext Monday.

The bill has been revised by the ub-committee so as to make it greeable to farmers and sportsmen of Pennsylvania," Fox wrote n the letter which he broadcast today.

Fox is chairman of the District ttorneys' Association of Pennsylvania.

Watch Your Step! Keep Off Grass!

Now Is Time To Aid In Developing Lawns For Summer Time

At a recent meeting of the school oard attention was called to the eeping of the school buildings and awns in the best condition that the ivic pride of the citizens might be ncouraged.

Several of the newer buildings re really beauty spots in the city. he Benjamin Franklin school has a lawn of several acres and several beautiful shrubs. The school board s impressing upon the caretakers nd the children and faculties of all the schools to take the best of care of the property.

The public also regard these beauty spots as their own and thus take care of it and admonish any others that they see disregarding the rights of grass to grow and shrubbery to remain intact.

This time of year lawns can be greatly injured by trespassers tramping the grass. All should remember that such spotsare to be respected just as much as if a wall is around it. Then in the summer time when there is a good sward ther will be a good place for the children to play and a spot of beauty to behold that was not destroyed by your feet.

Nothing circulates so quickly as a secret.

Prince Of Wales Coming To Ranch

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 1.—It is almost certain that the Prince of Wales will visit his ranch at High River, Alberta, Canada, next July. He will possibly stay at the ranch for six to eight weeks.

The visit is intended to be in the nature of a thorough rest for the Prince, who will be free from all official and social engagements.

Rescue Suspect From Angry Mob

(International News Service)

BOONEVILLE, Miss., April 1.—Rescued from an angry mob of citizens who were threatening to lynch him, Jack McKee, 34, negro, was in jail here for the murder of Mrs. N. R. Clayton, whose slaying was charged to her husband.

Clayton, who is at liberty under $10,000 bond on charge of murder has maintained from the first that she was shot to death by a burglar who broke into their home. She was killed as she lay in bed asleep with her babies.

Still Longer Span Of Life Visioned By Health Service

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—As surgeon general of the United States, Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, veteran head of the national public health service, is the Grim Reaper's sworn foe on general principles.

He likes to see people live longer and longer and longer, just to prove that medical science can make 'em do it.

Whether they turn out to be social assets or liabilities, as they get nearer and nearer to the century mark, isn't the public health service's business.

Doctor Cummings' mission is to make the average human being's scroll of hale and hearty years—for he's mindful of quality as well as quantity—stretch as far as possible. How usefully, or otherwise, the average human being employs said years in his own lookout.

In defiance of disease, decay, poison hooch and the automobile menace, to his intense satisfaction the doctor is gradually gaining time on the old guy with the scythe and hour glass.

Folks die ultimately, certainly. That's admitted. But they don't die half as soon as they used to.

In 18th century in England a new-born baby stood less than a 50-50 chance of celebrating his 20th birthday.

Forty years was an average lifetime in Massachusetts in 1855.

National figures for the whole United States weren't available then, but in 1902 they were. In that year, once born, you had a 49-year expectation ahead of you.

Today an average American lifetime is 58 years.

Of course the average hasn't been extended solely by adding years onto the latter end of life. It's been extended party by cutting down the death rate among the young, especially babies.

Still, the time to die, even for oldsters, has been postponed.

That is to say, the number of Americans more than 100 years old may be no larger now, in proportion to population than ever it was. But the number of Americans more than 70 years old—good healthy ones, too—has increased out of all proportion to the increase in population.

In short, we're a much longer lived people than we were, any way you look at it.

What's more, at the present rate, the average lifetime will be 82 in the year 2000.

To be sure, the public health service may not succeed in maintaining the present rate of increase, but if it does, 82's the figure, arithmetically computed.

Dr. Cummings, as previously remarked, would keep on prolonging life even if it doesn't pay, because that's his business, but the public health states emphatically that it does pay.

I didn't happen to see the surgeon general himself when I dropped in to inquire about this, but Dr. C. C. Pierce, his assistant, explained it—and convincingly.

"A child," said Dr. Pierce, "costs money."

"We don't begrudge a cent of it, but this fact is indisputable.

"He's an investment," continued the doctor.

"He generally doesn't yield a nickel, these times, except in satisfaction, until he's pretty well grown up.

"Then, if he was a good investment, he begins to pay dividends. He may not pay any to papa and mamma, but he does to society.

"Doesn't it stand to reason that it's sound economics to keep him at it as long as possible?"

Os, yes, the doctor admits that a man may pass the point where he's a producer and become a liability again, but he isn't worrying about that, with only 58 as the average American life span.

"At 58," he says, "anybody ought to have at least 10 years good work left in him."

Which disregards Dr. Osler's plea for chloroform at 60, but the public health service pooh-poohs that idea.

REASON ENOUGH

"Thankful! What have I got to be thankful for? I can't pay my bills."

"Then, man alive, be thankful you are not one of your creditors."

THE FIRST MEAL

Mr. Groom—This lettuce tastes beastly. Did you wash it Mary?

Mrs. Bride—Of course I did. I used perfumed soap, too!

Cause For Migration Of Birds Is Unsolved

Scientists Only Guess At Meaning Of Arrival of Robins in Spring

Scientists can only guess at the meaning of the arrival of the first robin in the spring, or the southward flight of geese across the late autumn sky, in the opinion of Dr. Alexander Wetmore, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, and president of the American Ornithologists' union. Behind migration lie such a multitude of causes, reaching back through the ages, that men have been unable to ascertain the truth.

Constantly a student of bird life, Dr. Wetmore has made special studies in the Salt Lake valley, the Bighorn basin in Wyoming, the pampas of Argentine, the coasts of Uruguay, the sand dunes of Buenos Aires and many other vantage points throughout the western hemisphere. Dr. Wetmore has written a book on the migrations of birds, just published, in which he sums up his personal observations and correlates them with the findings of ornithologists for the past 200 years, with the result that a number of misunderstandings concerning bird life are cleared up.

"The entire act of migration is so utterly complex that no single factor may be ascribed as the absolute cause," Dr. Wetmore states, but he takes as his hypothesis that migration has arisen from movements induced by seasonal and climatic changes in certain species until it has become hereditary instinct, "a part of the life-cycle of the individual", and now actuated by physiological conditions. The habits of ages have become so well fixed that weather conditions now have little to do with the migrations of birds, except to permit them to travel or hold them back, as the case may be. Redstarts wintering in the West Indies, or wagtails spending the cold season in central Africa, notice no difference in temperature or climate conditions between November and April, yet in the latter month they regularly move north toward the summer home."—Exchange.

Black Hills Hopes To Entertain "Cal"

Invite President To Spend His Summer Vacation There

TWO SITES OFFERED NATION'S CHIEFTAIN

By KARL F. ZEISLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RAPID CITY, S. D. Apr. 1—Early last fall, when reports leaked out from Washington that President Coolidge had expressed a choice for the west in the selection of his summer White House, people in the Black Hills of South Dakota decided that the hills offered the ideal vacation site for the executive. When the president ventured as far west as Kansas City, Armistice day, to deliver a dedicatory address for the municipal war memorial, an invitation was extended him from representatives of the Black Hills region.

The president's interest was immediately aroused by the reports of excellent fishing in the shady canons that meander through the pineclad hills.

The love for the region evinced by Theodore Roosevelt, who spent much of his time here, is pointed out as presidential precedent for a summer White House in the hills. A peak in the vicinity of Deadwood has been renamed in honor of President Roosevelt as a memorial to his days in the hills.

Two sites for the summer capitol have been offered to President Coolidge. The first was an estate in the the vicinity of Hill City, but this invitation was later eclipsed by an official invitation tendered by the South Dakota legislature and governor to accept the hospitality of the State Game lodge.

This lodge, located in Squaw Creek canyon in the heart of Custer State park, the largest state park in the country, has ample facilities for a large party, and is a popular stopping place for motor vacationists entering the hills.

Near Prairie.

It is within walking distance of one of the finest collections of native American prairie and mountain wild animals in the country. Native elk, buffalo, deer and bear abound in the park, while natural habitat cages contain mountain lions, coyotes and a variety of small game.

A few miles from the game lodge lies Sylvan lake, a gem encased in one of the unique mountain scenic features of the west—the needles. These upstanding spurs of rock form a picket fence around the lake and extend across several mountain valleys in formations that have a compelling likeness to gothic cathedrals. The Needles highway, extending from the game lodge to the lake, has been completed recently.

The game lodge, built and operated by the state, is between 5,000 and 6,000 feet above sea level. It is located but a short distance from Custer, the historic village where a detachment of American soldiers in the Indian service under General George A. Custer camped when one of their number discovered the first gold in the Black Hills.

Two years later, when the Indians were moved farther west by order of the government, prospectors poured into the hills, and in a few months Lead and Deadwood were scenes of activity. In these two towns, now sober communities, the president would become acquainted with the gold mining industry, for there are located the reduction plants of the largest gold mine in the world, the Homestake.

UNION TRUST COMPANY OF NEW CASTLE

Awarded Verdict For $12,000, Result Of Husband's Death

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 1.—Mrs. Margaret Steger of Oil City, Pa., today was richer by $12,000 as a result of a jury verdict awarding her that amount for the death of her husband John B. Steger, an engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad. She contended that Steger was forced to take out an engine which the company knew to be defective. While out the engine broke down, and Steger was struck by another engine as he was repairing it. The jury was out thirteen hours. A former trial of the suit resulted in a disagreement.

Thank Goodness! All parts of us are fastened on. The neighbors can't borrow an ear or arm or anything like that.

GARDNER

Mrs. Childs, wife of the pastor of the Harmony Baptist church on the New Castle-Ellwood highway, preached last Sunday afternoon at the County Home.

Lewis Scheidemantel of the old Pittsburgh road, moved his family on Wednesday to a new home at Moravia Stop.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Knight of Butler county moved to Gardner on Tuesday to the house of Norman Walker.

Howard King of Shenango Stop, is still in the New Castle hospital but is recovering rapidly and expects to go home in a few days. Mrs. King is teaching the Warnock school and only missed two days on account of her husband's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eakin and children, Elizabeth, Dorothy and Virginia, were calling on old friends in Gardner on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Belle Murphy of New Castle, is spending a few days with Mrs. Mary Crable of the old Pittsburgh road.

Mrs. E. O. Alexander and son Francis spent a little while with relatives at Girard, Pa., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Robb and children, Fred, Clifford and Dale of Gardner, motored to Butler last Sunday to see Master Kenneth, who is in school there.

Mrs. Mary Miller of Shenango Stop who has been quite ill is improving and is now about the house.

Raymond Nye of Wurtemburg, came to Gardner last Saturday morning and took his mother, Mrs. George Nye, to his home, returning with her to Gardner on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Johnson and daughter Ruth of Gardner, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson of Meyer avenue.

Mrs. J. R. Routledge of Frisco, was an over night guest of friends in Gardner on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Willard Kennedy of Gardner, was the guest of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Kingston of Ellwood City, on Wednesday.

Rev. H. W. Lambert, pastor of the Missionary Alliance church in New Castle, will peach at the County Home next Sunday afternoon. As he has accepted a call to a church in New Jersey this may be the last opportunity that many will have to hear Mr. Lambert.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gray of Maryland avenue spent Sunday with Mrs. Gray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson, of Gardner.

Rev. S. R. Maitland, pastor of Greenwood M. E. church, was in New York City last Sunday and his pulpit was very acceptably filled by Edward Shaffer of East New Castle, who is a well known Christian worker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Curry of Energy, were calling on friends in Gardner on Wednesday.

Rev. J. R. Routledge, pastor of Providence Baptist church at North Sewickley, and Mrs. Routledge were guests at the Schumaker home Thursday evening.

Milton Hogue who lives not far from Energy is said to be quite ill.

P. J. Dorsey, station agent at Western Allegheny, has just returned from Butler, Pa., where his brother is very ill.

Miss Margaret Glasser of Rose Point, is the guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. McGary of Gardner.

It is surprising how many teams are being driven through Gardner these days; perhaps our roads are not suitable for automobiles.

In honor of the sixtieth birthday of Mrs. Charles Benson, her children gathered in her home at a surprise party on Tuesday evening, March 29. Five hundred was one of the amusements of the evening. Later a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Carl Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Harold Gray and Miss Selma Benson. The honor guest received many useful gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson, Mr. and Mrs. John Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and daughter Ruth Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Benson, Selma and Carl Benson and Miss Helen Weigle of Cleveland.

Adam Flinner of Shenango Stop, is still in the McKeesport hospital.

Isaac Lytle and daughter Jessie of East New Castle, were recent callers in Gardner.

May Blockade Chinese Ports

By H. K. REYNOLDS.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 1.—Great Britain is prepared to take sanctions in China if the Nationalists fail to make proper reparations for the Nanking outrages it was learned today.

The majority of the cabinet favors a strict blockade of all Chinese ports but he admiralty has recommended that all of the Yangtse river as far as Hankow be taken over, it is learned in authoritative circles.

While Great Britain is prepared to act alone in this matter of sanctions there are still hopes that the United States and Japan will join.

Blood Transfusion Operation Performed

Police Officer Provides Blood For Transfusion At Hospital

Officer Robert Dukes of the city police force was the first of the numerous persons who have responded to the call of the New Castle hospital for persons needed for blood transfusion purposes to give of his blood for the benefit of others.

At four o'clock Thursday he submitted to the transfusion for the benefit of Mrs. Lottie Britton, and a considerable amount of his blood, which was found to correspond with that required by her, was transferred into her arteries and blood vessels. The trausfusion required about two hours' time. This morning Mrs. Britton was reported as much improved and showing a condition that indicated that the blood had been of benefit to her.

Officer Dukes, apparently little the worse for his trying ordeal, reported for duty last night, but the officers in charge sent him home for the night to recuperate.

No Definite Trace Of Missing Woman

Mother Goes To Beaver Falls To Investigate Report From That City

No word has been received this morning as far as could be learned concerning Miss Florence Elliott, pupil nurse at he New Castle hospital missing since March 5.

It was learned that her mother Mrs. Joseph T. Elliott of 827 Arlington avenue, has gone to investigate two alleged messages supposed to have come from Ellwood City to another person here asking that the mother be informed that her daughter was all right. The supposed word from the daughter was such as to make it appear that she might be in Beaver Falls.

It has also been learned that the story about which Miss Elliott worried so much and which is believed to have distressed her to such an extent that she left, has been repudiated by the woman said to be responsible for its inception. Miss Eliott being completely exonerated.

Car Barn Bandit Is Found Guilty

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 1.—Peter J. McLaughlin, charged with being one of the Waltham car barn bandits who murdered James J. Ferneau, aged watchman, was found guilty of murder in the second degree today.

McLaughlin was immediately sentenced to serve the rest of his life in Charlestown State's prison.

McLaughlin's brother, John, Edward J. Heinlein and John J. Devereaux died in the electric chair for the so-called car barn slaying.

Indoor Picnic Is Enjoyable Event

Approximately Two Hundred And Fifty Attend; Other News Of Seventh Ward

The indoor picnic in the Mahoning Presbyterian church Thursday evening proved a most enjoyable affair. The picnic was held by the Sabbath school and about 250 persons were in attendance.

At 6:30 a picnic supper was enjoyed in the church dining room. Each class of the Sabbath school ate together. Many and varied were the table decorations, each class looking after their own table.

After the supper all persons attending adjourned to the Sabbath school room, where the entertainment program for the evening was presented. This program consisted of each individual class putting on some stunt contributing to the entertainment. Very mixed and varied was the entertainment, from a millinery sale to a mock operation. Each class planned their stunt and presented it. No one knew what to expect when a class was called to give their stunt.

The program opened with "Springtime", a playlet and song. Eleven girls took part in costume, representing flowers, springtime, breeze, rain, sun, rainbow and butterfly. A millinery sale was another feature in which the members of the class purchased hats and wore them the rest of the evening. Other things that afforded much amusement were a human Ford, a choir rehearsal, farmer boys, lighthouse number, colored orchestra and readings, Mother Goose rhymes, Orphan Annie, a mock operation, recitations, readings, songs, and the last number was a minstrel, put on by the men's class, composed of songs and jokes. Some of the impersonations were very good, many of the jokes they pulled brought in the people in the audience, making it very entertaining.

The picnic was a success and a most enjoyable time was had by all present. General committee in charge was comprised of Miss Mae Park, Pearl Scheidemantle, Miss Ramona Foster and Harold Guy. This was the second event of this kind that has been held in the church.

Grace Valentine, Feature Player in The Night Hawk

The "Night Hawk", which comes to the Scottish-Rite Auditorium tomorrow night, prior to its engagement in Pittsburgh at the Nixon Theatre, has been pronounced "scientifically correct" by no less an authority than Dr. Emil Lowenstein, the eminent London surgeon and a disciple of Dr. Steinach, whose discovery of rejuvenation startled the medical world a few years ago.

In the play, a woman of the streets, a burned out hag at an age when she should be in the bloom of womanhood, is brought back to health and given back her youth by a doctor employing the Steinach method. The "Night Hawk" is a ripping story with a vein of delicious comedy. Miss Grace Valentine will play the role of the night hawk. Her work in New York has won widespread approval.

Urges Support Of Measure Allowing Shooting Of Does

Secretary Of Board Of Game Commissioners Says Law Is Needed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 1.—"Because a reduction of female deer in this state must be considered," John B. Truman, executive secretary of the board of game commissioners, today asked support of the Culbertson Bill which would permit an open season for does during December.

Truman advocated the measure not only because of the large number of doe, now protected by law, but also because nature reduces the number of animals on any given area when they become excessive. He cited the case of an epidemic in California where it was necessary to kill 22,214 to prevent the spread of disease.

It is believed the same condition is beginning to prevail in Pennsylvania where it is asserted "large numbers" have been found dead recently.

If the Culbertson measure becomes a law the commission has the power to open only those counties to the shooting of doe where it is believed such a move would be advisable.

S. P. Of Mexico Opens New Line Across Border

Through Passenger And Freight Service Will Be Inaugurated In Month

Last Gap Soon Closed With Completion Of Big Viaduct

(International News Service)

NOGALES, Arizona, April 1.—Less than a month remains until the Southern Pacific of Mexico opens its line to Mexico City giving through freight and passenger connections between the Pacific Coast of the United States and the interior of Mexico.

But little work remains to be done on the Sal-si-puedes viaduct, America's highest bridge which when completed, will end the building of the 'revolutionary' gap of the Southern Pacific of Mexico. This gap, four years ago, a hundred and nine miles in length and extending from Tepic, Nayarit, Mexico to La Ouemada, Jalisco, is termed the 'revolutionary' gap due to its having been in the possession of contending revolutionary factions several times. It has been the bone of contension of trouble along the West Coast of Mexico. The gap has now been brought to but a remaining 680 feet; the length of the Sal-si-puedes bridge.

The through line to Mexico City is considered by engineers to be the most stupendous engineering feat to be undertaken in this age of massive spectacular building, for railway engineers have not only had to solve difficult problems of excessive grades, cuts through large mountains, overcome landslides in Nayarit's volcanic formation but to act as soldiers as well and combat the incipient revolutionary and constant banditry.

The Work Started

The line was first started on March 3, 1923 When two crews of several hundred workmen started from Tepic at the South to work their way toward the objective, the immense canyon of Sal-si-puedes, they were fought at virtually every step by the people.

With the putting in place of the last span in the Sal-si-puedes viaduct a new main trunk line will be opened on the continent affording the public one of the world's most scenic trips; a fast changing ever new panorama of rugged beauty, rolling plains, deep canyons and tangled tropical forests. The opening of the through line represents not only the four years of manual labor but months of toil together of captains of industries and high governmental officials of Mexico and the United States.

The latest statement secured from President H. B. Titcomb as to the effect that provisional mixed freight and passenger service will be put into effect as soon after the completion as the public works, of Mexico would give its approval. Further announcement was made that a contract has been entered into between the Southern Pacific of Mexico and the National lines of Mexico for the operation of the Espee trains in the depot of the later's line in Guadalajara, Jalisco. Freight trains would operate in the yards of the National lines under the same agreement.

Cost to Date

The estimated cost of the work on the hundred and nine mile gap was set at $14,000,000 but it has exceeded that sum according to reliable information given out by contractors. Another two millions have been spent in addition to this sum in improvements on the line in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa. The distance from this city to Guadalajara over the new line is 1101 miles, twenty miles of which were graded, tressled and railed at a cost of $7,000,000 or $350,000 per mile. There are 31 tunnels on the gap with a total length of 24,000 feet from which four million yards of earth was removed and installed at a cost of over two million dollars.

The Mexican Government has expended about $12,000,000 in the building of the gap.

When the work on the through line started it was President Alvaro Obregon who turned the first shovel of earth. It is the plan to have this same dignitary, now farming at his home in Sonora, drive the golden spike that will connect West with East, directly.

Recovers From Effects Of Poison

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Apr. 1—Victor Blazic of Koppel who has been confined to the Providence hospital for several weeks suffering from the effects of bichloride of mercury poisoning was discharged from that institution yesterday entirely recovered from the effects of the poison.

It will be remembered that Blazic took several bi-chloride tablets in mistake for headache tablets which were in the same cabinet. He was immediately rushed to the hospital for treatment which probably accounts for his complete recovery.

CONVICT WINS FIGHT TO REMAIN IN PRISON

BALTIMORE, April 1.—Even a prisoner has some liberties, and Gov. Ritchie and Penitentiary Warden Brady will respect the request of William Snowden, Negro, to stay in prison if he wants to. Snowden, with time off for good behavior, has four more months to serve of a fourteen-year sentence for murder in the second degree.

On recommendation of the sentencing Judge and the prosecuting attorney, Gov. Ritchie recently signed a parole which would have released Snowden at once—but the official documents were in the mail on the way back to the State House at Annapolis today.

"I think I'll stay," said Snowden, who is a servent trusty at the Warden's home.

Open Campaign For Willison Smith As Church Moderator

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—J. Willison Smith, an elder of St. Paul's Presbyterian church here is being boomed for Moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States to be selected at the General Assembly in San Francisco, May 26. Widespread interest has been evinced in the mentioning of Mr. Smith for the chief executive for if he should be selected he will be the second layman ever to hold the office.

The members of the Philadelphia Presbytery are reported to be behind Smith and quietly pushing the movement for his nomination. The movement is reported to have spread to New England, the more conservative Presbyterians in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the Middle West and even to the Pacific Coast section. Smith is said to be the guiding hand of the present movement of laymen of the church to raise a $15,000,000 endowment fund for pensions of retired pastors.

He is looked upon as second only to Will H. Hays, chairman of the layman's committee in the drive for the endowment. Smith is president of the West End Trust Company of Philadelphia and vice moderator of the local Presbytery. He has been a member of the general council of the church for the past six years.

Spain Names Many Streets To Honor King Alphonse

(International News Service)

MADRID, April 1.—The most important street or boulevard of every city and village in Spain will be named "Alphonse XIII" in honor of the twenty-first anniversary of the crowning of the King which is to take place in May. New street signs bearing this name will be put up over the old ones on the big day itself at midday. The promoters of the celebration believe that nothing could better show the affection of the people toward their popular sovereign.

Felspar And Kaolin Found In France

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 1.—A discovery of much importance to France industrially has recently been made near Limoges (Haute-Vienne). Researches have brought to light large deposits of felspar and kaolin. Both minerals are found in very pure state.

Kaolin deposits have already brought fame to this city which is the center of fine porcelian manufacturers. Several gold mines are also at work there. But felspar is a new find and hitherto it has been necessary to import this useful mineral.

An Appeal to Patriotic Prohibitionists

At my own expense I am having printed below a copy of the extension of my remarks in the House of Representatives published March 12, 1927, in the Congressional Record. Conditions that are now generally known to prevail througout large sections of the United States and the change that is rapidly taking place in public sentiment are sufficient to establish the fact that my position always was conservative, sensible and logically impregnable, and therefore requires no defense at this time, for it has been vindicated in thousands upon thousands of incidents and from many different sources and points of view. However, inasmuch as I am publishing my last message as a Member of Congress a brief introduction to it is quite in order. This introduction could not better be expressed than brief quotations from Collier's Weekly and U. S. Senator Reed of Missouri. Collier's Weekly recently quoted prominent officials connected with prohibition enforcement as follows:

> "The country is faced with numerous, vast and continuing conspiracies. It must be recognized that violations are nation-wide in their occurence and almost without number . . . . . No parallel of this situation exists in normal times. It is similar rather to war."

To which statement the magazine made the following editorial comment:

"Of what time and country do you think those words were written?

"Doesn't it sound like a quotation from the czar's secret agents during those troublous months when the power of the Romanoffs was crumbling? Or like the report which an honest friend might have brought to Louis XVI while the clouds of the French Revolution were darkening the horizon?

"Don't be mistaken, however, for the country is your own and the time is now and two responsible members of the Coolidge administration are speaking.

"Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, and David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, made these statements in a letter to the United States Senate. The federal officials were seeking to justify the employment of espionage.

"The fight for prohibtion has become so much like war, they (the federal officals) argued, that even secret police and agents provocateur are justified.

"Are we to permit the struggle for sobriety to sink to the level of civil war? Is that the end of a glamorous reform?

"Let's not get bitter and lose perspective.

"Remember that prohibition began as a struggle for temperance and sobriety—as a moral reform. War, civil war certainly, is not a moral reform.

"Year by year the issue is becoming more envenomed. Government officials are being driven from one extremity to another in a hopeless attempt to compel observation of a law which millions of people are determined to disregard.

"This is one way of conducting human affairs. Slavery dragged on until both sides were too angry to reach a settlement. Ultimately slaves were freed, but at what an unnecessary cost!

"Slaves were also freed in the British colonies, but Britain was not torn apart by a bloody civil war.

"Serfs were liberated in Russia but there was no war.

"Given the right spirit, any human problem can be settled without the bitterness of fighting. Prohibition can be settled if we are willing to act as reasonable creatures and not as fanatics, whether wet or dry.

"Remember that prohibition is a method, not an end—a road, not a destination. Prohibition was invented as a way of preventing the abuse of alcoholic beverages.

"The abuse of alcohol was, and for that matter still is, serious enough. The saloon was a curse and intoxication was and is a degradation of the human body. "Prohibition was the weapon used to destroy the saloon. It was to be the means whereby feeble men and women were to be saved from the temptation to drink. "Prohibition failed. It killed the saloon, but it did not stop excessive drinking. Insurance figures show an increasing death rate from alcoholism. We are close to the appalling records of pre-prohibition days.

"But even though prohibition led not to temperance, but rather to "numerous, vast and continuing conspiracies," sobriety is still desirable and the excessive use of alcohol is an evil.

"The problem of controlling the sale of alcoholic beverages is just as serious and just as important as it was before the eighteenth amendment was written into the constitution.

"The saloon failed and prohibition has failed. We must have the courage and the intelligence to be honest as to the facts and resourceful in dealing with existing difficulties.

"On the political side of prohibition both Republican and Democratic parties are helplessly divided.

"It is possible to prolong this deadlock indefinitely, but nobody will be benefited by it.

"The wets may be continually defeated in congress, but according to federal enforcement agents the distribution of liquor won't be stopped or even much diminished.

"The war over drink has reached a stalemate.

"Prohibition can't win because men will fight for liberty above all else. Millions think prohibition is a denial of personal liberty. Their opinion may be an error, but it is sincerely held . . . . . .

"After every war men gather around a table and agree upon terms of peace. Let's end the liquor war before our minds are so encased in hatred and bitterness that a rational settlement is impossible."

Senator Reed, of Missouri, recently said:—

"For twenty-five years I have fought the encroachments of the semi-socialist, semi-feudal idea that government and law, its outward symbol, are instituted and maintained for the purpose of directing the individual's conduct.

"Speaking as a citizen and from the background of my entire career in public life, I wish I could get a message to the American people with all the intensity of conviction possible that we are going to wreck this Government and destroy this Nation unless we get back to the principle upon which the Constitution was founded, the doctrine of an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, the right of every man to realize his own ideal without infringement by any other man or set of men."

EXTENSION OF REMARKS OF
HON THOMAS W. PHILLIPS, JR.
OF PENNSYLVANIA IN THE
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1927

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, recently there came to my desk an envelope from the headquarters of the Citizens' Committee of One Thousand, 66 Fifth Avenue, New York City, which contained its program for 1927, printed copies of speeches delivered before its committee January 26, 1927, by two United States Senators nationally known for their enthusiastic support of the eighteenth amendment, and also an editorial copied from The Manufacturer's Record.

The stated purpose of this committee is—to arouse public sentiment in favor of orderly government, obedience to all laws, good citizenship, true patriotism.

The program of this committee is to—continue in the future, as in the past, to advocate law observance and law enforcement as being vital to the existence of the Republic.

One of the Senators introduces his speech with the following sentence:

Important as is the prohibition issue, it is far transcended by the question of law enforcement.

The other Senator, referring to the prohibition law, says:

And if it is wrong, the people will repeal it, as the people do not want laws that are wrong in principle. * * * The two great evils of free institutions against which all republics have had to contend are the evils of lawlessness and corruption. * * * We are now passing through * * * a period of unparalleled corruption. * * * The employment of fabulous sums of money for the purpose of controlling elections and the astounding malfeasance in public office have made our days as days of prominence in perverted public service.

The editorial quoted from the Manufacturer's Record contains the following statements:

Is it not time for this country to take account of itself and for thoughtful men to realize that no man's life or property is safe? * * * The banker who violates the prohibition law, for instance, has no right to criticize the murderer who kills clerks in his bank and dynamites the building and escapes with the money.

(The very idea of comparing the killing of a man who does not want to be killed with the buying of a drink from some one that wants to sell it! Preposterous!)

* * * It is not a question of prohibition or of liquor. As a nation, we could exist even if prohibition were wiped off our statute books. * * * But we can not live as a nation with a development of lawlessness which makes life and property so unsafe that no one knows when he may face the highwayman's pistol, or the machine gun, or the dynamite bomb, or other weapons of murder. * * * There is no other country on the face of the earth where lawlessness exists to such an extent as in the United States.

These are, indeed, remarkable statements, statements that should be taken to heart especially by those who made them. Let us hope, however, that the darkest hour is just before the dawn, and that it will soon dawn upon the apologists for prohibition that it and they have been one of the chief contributing causes of crime and corruption, and that common sense and a decent respect for the rights and privileges of our fellow citizens, as well as the first step on our road back to sanity or a normal mental condition, demand wiser methods in dealing with the liquor problem. We have now reached the stage in the prohibition controversy when every important argument heretofore broadcasted by the prohibitionists has become a boomerang.

The Committee of One Thousand features "orderly government," "observance of laws," and "true patriotism," but it never so much as intimates that its first and supreme effort will be to remove statutes that create disorder, statutes that are daily being observed less and defied more, statutes that could not be sanctioned consistently by any true patriot who has been instrumental in advancing the cause of individual, social, religious, or political liberty. Since it is not prohibition but law enforcement that seems to concern the first Senator to whom I have referred, the only consistent course for him to pursue is to aid in removing the millstone that he was instrumental in placing about the neck of orderly government and which threatens to submerge all respect for law in a bottomless sea of lawlessness.

Inasmuch as the other Senator is so much concerned about the employment of fabulous sums of money for purposes of controlling elections, he should, in order to assure his friends that he is both consistent and courageous, turn his batteries on the Anti-Saloon League, its funds, its methods, its corrupting influence, and its dictatorial powers, which are said to extend over the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the Government. If the concern of the committee and the concern of the leaders in the prohibition movement for the welfare of the Republic is real and not feigned, then its members should cease wasting their energies in a futile attempt to force scores of millions of citizens to observe and obey foolish and fanatical laws; but as patriotic citizens they should direct their energies to the relatively easy task of convincing the few hundreds of legislators that laws which are unwise, unnecessary, unenforceable, un-American, and un-Christian should be repealed, and that the Constitution should be purged of the eighteenth amendment and henceforth and forever be protected from silly, sumptuary, contradictory, and disturbing enactments.

When either by statute law or propaganda, such as that contained in the editorial quoted, minor offenses are placed in the same category as atrocious crimes, it has the effect of making real crime less abhorrent in the eyes of the public and, therefore, stimulates lawlessness. Furthermore, our paid guardians of life and property should devote all their time in a supreme effort to cope with serious crime and real criminals, but if we persist in creating law-made criminals by the millions their work is increased manyfold, their task becomes stupendous, their efforts relatively feeble, and the results discouraging. It is within the power and province of the committee and the leaders of the prohibition movement, and furthermore will require but little effort on their part, to remove one of the great causes of lawlessness and thus prevent our age from passing into history as "the lawless age."

Recently the Law Association of Philadelphia, one of the oldest and most conservative American bar associations, adopted the following resolution condemning the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act:

The Law Association of Philadelphia deems it appropriate, on the occasion of the celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the Declaration of American Independence, to invite attention to a matter that has affected injuriously our country's life and law.

It is fitting that in such a year, that body in this city which represents the organized profession of the law should concern itself with the serious conditions imposed upon our law and its administration by the Prohibition Amendment and the legislation which has followed it. These legal aspects are peculiarly within the purview of an organization such as ours. The following facts are evident:

1. There has been placed in the Constitution of the United States (one of the two most venerated instruments of the Nation, and a document of first importance in the history of mankind), an amendment, the Eighteenth, whose presence there has greatly impaired respect and reverence for that foundational paper.

2. The administration of Federal Government and law, likewise formerly held in high respect, has been deteriorated and considerably demoralized by the prohibition legislation and its administration.

3. The courts, particularly the Federal courts, are overburdened and congested and a huge amount of public time and money wastefully consumed to no adequate useful result in the effort at enforcing a law unique in that it has never had the general approval of at least a considerable body, perhaps a majority, of respectable American citizenry.

4. In the administration of this law the extent to which the law has occasioned grafting and debauching of the public service is a matter of utmost concern.

5. Public officers prosecute men for violation of a law which they themselves privately disregard.

6. Forfeitures, savoring of the deodand forfeitures of the Middle Ages, and wanton destruction of property seized, have become common occurrences.

7. Fundamental rights of liberty and property are invaded, often by tyrannical warrants of search and seizure and by proceedings without the safeguard of jury trials.

8. Settled rules of international law have been sought to be changed in the interest of the internal law of the United States a dangerous precedent; in addition, the United States has been placed in the unfortunate position of appealing to foreign powers to help it to enforce its own internal laws; namely, this particular law.

The effect of this law and of the attempt by extreme measures to enforce it, has been to produce a disregard of law generally. It is no answer to urge more drastic measures, for that would bring the law to an acme of brutality, whereas law should be a reasonable thing: when reasonable, it receives the assent of all reasonable men and needs but little effort to enforce.

Because these things affect the administration of the law, we, as all other bodies concerned with law, should be concerned with them.

We particularly invite the attention of local bar associations, State bar associations, and the American Bar Association to this grave subject. A copy of this resolution shall be sent to every State bar association and to the American Bar Association and to the representatives of Pennsylvania in the United States House of Representatives and the Senate to the end that the present abuses may be eliminated and a better and more reasonable system, productive of temperance and temperate administration to temperate laws may be devised.

These resolutions are peculiarly pertinent, coming as they do from those who are in a position to know the conditions that prevail in our large cities under prohibition, and if we give credence to hearsay information, they are decidedly conservative. We must not lose sight of the fact that the cities now contain more than half of our people, that they are relatively increasing, that they present the serious social and political problems of the future, that lawlessness is becoming more profitable and graft more general, more systematized, more standardized; that prohibition, even if desirable, is impossible, and that delay in dealing with the liquor question in a sensible manner will only add to our future difficulties, for it will be more difficult to dislodge the bootlegger and separate the grafter from his gain after long-established custom has led the former to look upon his trade as a vested interest, and the latter to look upon his illegal service as a usual means for obtaining a perquisite or addition to his regular salary or wages.

Vienna To Name Women Officers

VIENNA, April 1.—Women police will be taken shortly into the service of the Vienna police department. Agents of the department who investigated the work of women police in England and Germany has recommended strongly that women should patrol the streets of Vienna in the interests of law and order.

The recommendation is made principly on the ground that the women police do much to curtail the activities of white slave traffic agents and in keeping young girls off the streets. The white slave problem is becoming acute in Austria and Balkan countries despite increased viligance of the metropolitan police.

Traffic problems are no new things. More than three hundred years ago coaches so congested London's narrow streets that the Government had to take control.

Brick May High Hat You Today But You'll Get Kick Out Of It

The business of being foolish officially, on All Fools Day is no longer a simple matter no matter how simple one is.

The hidden brick trick for instance is just about passe.

The high price of the once common four-quart or plug hat makes the value of the silk lid felt. Few persons can afford to let somebody kick $15 worth of hat just for a laugh. This despite the still popular habit of laughing when someone sits on a derby.

Building Bricks Costly.

The ordinary building brick local dealers verify costs $16 a thousand which puts too much cents in the joke from that angle.

The pocketbook trick is still good if you have the right sized pocketbook. A checkup on the stocks at the down town stores shows that the pocketbooks are getting steadily smaller. They're built to fit the bankrolls. This limits the total output to those who have bankrolls. And a heavily padded one is a dead giveaway.

But after all you don't need a lot of properties to pull a good April Fool joke. A lot of folk in Florida sprung April fool jokes last spring with just one piece of property.

One thing you must do is to take the day lightly.

This is no Joke.

If most of us would cease taking ourselves so seriously for a day we'd get enough laughs.

If you found a ticket in your car for violation of the parking ordinance just tear it up. It's probably an April Fool joke. It it isn't you'l find it out later.

The cigar joke has lost its popularity because of the ever closing gap between the ones that are supposed to explode and the ones that get the same results more quietly.

Maybe—Maybe.

A nice box of pepper candy carried home in the family pocket will go over big. Especially if it's the first box you've brought into the house in a year.

The water can trick is nice for the children. You remember it you old dickens. You place two old tomato cans or what have you full of water on each side of the walk and stretch a strong string betwen them. Little Willie Jones pa walks into the string and into a gallon of watter. The trick helps the esprit de corps of the neighborhood Try to borrow old man Jones lawn roller after that one.

But it's a glorious day when you pull one yourself.

NOTE: The story above was to be the prize story of 1927 which is the writer's joke for the day.

Local Hadassah To Send Supplies

Sewing Group Of New Castle Sends Supplies To Palestine; Mrs. Levine In Charge

The sewing group of New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist organization of America, is among the 700 who have contributed garments and linens to the Palestine department of Radassah for shipment to 25 institutions in Palestine.

Four dozen boys' blouses have been sewed by the local group and are now ready for shipment to Palestine. In addition the local chapter is planning its annual sheet shower for the hospitals and institutions of the Holy land. This will take place on April 11 at the Beth Shalom Center at which time the program will consist of an original play of two acts written and coached by Miss Ruth Rizika, called "Redeeming the Land."

Included in the supplies which are sent to Palestine are hospital garments, bed linens, towels, boys and girls clothing, infant wear, yard goods and several hundred pairs of felt bed room slippers. The Palestine supplies department sends a shipment to Palestine nearly every month, the year's supplies of materials amounting to about $69,000. Mrs. Joseph Levine is chairman of the local group.

The local Hadassah sewing group is in constant touch with Mrs. Fromonson from whom it receives a list of the materials supplied for the poor.

OPPOSITION TO MONACA BRIDGE

Engineers Of U. S. War Department Oppose Plans For New Ohio River Bridge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 1. — Strong opposition to the proposed plans for the new bridge over the Ohio river between Rochester and Monaca, developed here Thursday when the board of engineers of the United States War Department held a meeting to discuss the plans, considered by the Beaver County commissioners.

The opposition arose over the erection of a 528 foot span, which, it was declared would be inadequate for river draught.

Frank Tilley, secretary of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange led the opposition.

At the conclusion of the hearing the board announced it would visit Monaca Friday to inspect the location.

State Troopers Enter Not Guilty Pleas

(International News Service)

FLEMINGTON, N. J., April 1.—Thirteen state troopers pleaded not guilty to charges of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Beatrice Meaney during a seige of the Meaney homestead at Jutland by troopers last December. Bail of $3,000 was fixed on each of the men named in the indictment.

The Meaney family resisted arrest when the troopers sought to take them into custody for alleged maltreatment of livestock, it was stated.

CHARGES POLICE FAIL TO OBSERVE TRAFFIC LIGHTS

(International News Service)

HAZLETON Pa., April 1.—Red lights on traffic signal towers halt the machine of the mayor, said Mayor James G. Harvey, and he ordered the chief of police, George W. Brownson, to cause his arrest if he went ahead. He directed that Councilman Charles B. Bittenbender be brought to police court to try him.

His honor issued his orders to shame the police, some of whom while autoing had crashed the traffic light and went right ahead, relying on the traffic men to remember that as fellow officers, it would not be "nice" to pinch them. Mayor Harvey has ordered the traffic officers to bring in any fellow cops who offend.

$1,000,000 IS GIVEN FOR RESEARCH WORK ON CURE OF CANCER

ST. LOUIS April 1.—A gift of $1,000,000 to establish a radiological institute for the study of cancer at Washington University school of medicine here was announced today. The work will include the study of the general diagnostic and therapeutic uses of the X-ray and other more powerful rays.

The donors are the general education board, the Rockefeller organization for the advancement of education, and Edward Mallinckrodt, St. Louis chemical manufacturer, and members of his family. Approximately $250,000 will be spent for a four-story building to house the institute.

Modern mothers wisely plan child meals for GROWTH

Letting children have the heavy meals planned for grown-ups is not the modern mother's way. For now it is known that the early years have special needs—and normal growth takes place only when certain important essentials are planned for, and provided.

A bowl of Mother's Oats with a cup of milk supplies nearly one-fourth of the growing child's requirement for the muscle-and-tissue building substance called protein.

Mother's Oats is approved by nutrition experts for another highly-important reason: it is a whole-grain food!

And how good it tastes! Always smooth and even-textured, always rich with the flavor only whole-grain foods have! For it is milled with painstaking care by millers who have had 50 years of experience.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, good for genuine Tudor Silverware, or other handsome premiums.

Soviet Railroad Officials Adopt New Ruling For Women

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, April 1.—Women travelling in the Soviet Union will now have, for the first time, the opportunity to take a sleeping compartment without being compelled to share it with men. The Commissariat of Ways and Communications has ordered all sleeping car conductors to reserve a number of compartments for the exclusive use of women.

Heretofore reservations were made indiscriminately and a single woman could never be sure who her travelling companions might be. Russian women, accustomed to sleeping with their clothes on while travelling, were not embarrassed by the custom, but foreigners have always complained most bitterly about it. With this change the Russian railways have removed the last obstacle which prevented their service from being in general quite as comfortable and satisfactory as the service of most Western European systems.

10,000 Fishermen Go To Behring Sea On Big Salmon Hunt

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Ten thousand fishermen will sail from San Francisco bay within the next two weeks for Bristol Bay, in Bering Sea, for the annual salmon catch. The steamers and the picturesque fleet of old sailing vessels will be gone from three and one-half to nearly six months.

The ships anchor off the Alaskan shore and the fishers, in "gillnet boats" catch the red-fleshed fish as they head for the inland rivers. Last year more than a million cases of canned salmon was the "catch".

Late in August or early in September the fleet will sail back to the Golden Gate, prosperous, healthy and "flush". The Italians will spend their winter fishing off Monterey; the Scandinavians will hire out on short cruises with vessels engaged in coastwise shipping.

Calls For Observance Of Grant's Birthday

ALBANY, Apr. 1—Gov. Smith today proclaimed April 27, anniversary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant, as Americanization Day and urged a patriotic observance of it.

The Governor's proclamation in part said:

"Whereas, the anniversary of the birth of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant falls on April 27 and

"Whereas, this date has been chosen by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States as an appropriate day, which it really is, for the observance of Americanization Day, and

"Whereas, it is therefore incumbent upon all of us to utilize to the fullest degree the opportunity which this day affords for the promotion of American ideas and aims.

"Now, therefore, I, Alfred E. Smith, Governor of the State of New York, do proclaim April 27 Americanization Day and do urge the people of this State to assist in the proper observance of it and attend the patriotic exercises arranged for this occasion."

The five legged bulls of Ninevah are gigantic granite sculptures, formerly guardians of the Syrian Palace gates, and now in the British Museum.

Just Sour Grapes, Declares Peaches

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 1.—"Just plain sour grapes," said Mrs. Frances Heenan "Peaches" Browning today in commenting upon the refusal of certain Massachusetts cities to allow her to appear on their stages.

She denied that her appearance had been banned in Pittsburgh, explaining she cancelled the engagement herself.

She plans to leave for Chicago a week from tomorrow, to play there for a week. She will then go to Detroit.

E. And A. Division Is Likely Winner

Believe Local Division Will Win Gold Banner In Safety Contest

It looks as though the E. and A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad are going to win the gold banner of the safety contest for the first quarter of the year according to report from the divisional office.

With only one day not yet reported the local division has only six reportable injuries checked up against them as compared with seven in the shorter month of February. There may be more come in within the next day or so but the chances are good for securing the regional gold safety banner.

The gold safety banner is given to the division making the best record in preventing injuries during the first quarter of the year which ended yesterday.

The E. and A. division which stood in 11th place abong the 12 divisions last year climbed to seventh place in the month of January and on up to second place in February, only one division topping them.

Having bettered their record over last month and the report from the Ronova division which led last month, being that they have fallen down this month assures us that the local division have good chances of copping the gold banner.

It will not be known for a few days who won out as the other divisions will not all have their reports into headquarters for some time. The showing that the E. and A. division have made in climbing from the basement to the roof in this campaign shows what can be done by an educational campaign on safety.

Hamburg Fry Is Enjoyed At "Y"

A hamburger fry was enjoyed by the Benjamin Franklin Junior High Y Club at the Y. M. C. A., last night.

The meeting was attended by most of the boys of the club. After the hamburger fry a program was enjoyed in the swimming pool and then a ping pong tournament was held.

The ping pong tournament was won by Gerald Allen. Paul McCurday and Donald Williams were runners-up in the contest.

John Hall and Clyde Williams were accepted into the membership of the club and will be initiated at a later date.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to our friends, neighbors and employees of the Shenango Tin Mill, for their kindness and sympathy shown in the bereavement of our son and brother, Frederick Hempel; also for the beautiful floral tributes and cars donated.

MYSTERY OIL IS DISCOVERED

JAMESTOWN, April 1.—Mystery surrounds the discovery of some kind of oil in the bottom of a nine-foot excavation in the basement of a dry cleaning plant at 192 East Second street, operated by Landry Bros., and samples will be analyzed by oil men today. Oil began to seep into the hole yesterday afternoon and drums were put down to catch the flow. More than 100 gallons had been baled up during the night and the flow was continuing this morning.

Workmen smelling gas first noticed the flow of oil which is lighter in color than Pennsylvania crude and smells much like gasoline. It burns readily. The dry cleaning plant is in the vicinity of several gasoline stations on the east side.

Transfer Agents On E. And A. Line

T. C. Limber, agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jamestown, Pa., is transferred to become agent at Linesville, Pa. The transfer takes place today when Mr. Limber will succeed W. E. Sager whose retirement takes place today.

E. P. Leinenweber, who has been acting as extra clerk on the E. & A. division will succeed Mr. Limber as agent at Jamestown.

Hairdressers In Shenango Valley Are Organized

Some 75 hairdressers and cosmeticians of the Shenango Valley met Wednesday evening at the Moose Temple at Sharon for the purpose of joining the Hairdressers' Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Sadie Mellon, president of the New Castle organization, had charge of the meeting and was assisted by Mr. Hayes of Butler. Mrs. Mellon talked on price cutting, sanitation and good fellowship. She also read the bill that is now before the state senate requiring shop owners and operators to pass a state examination and be licensed.

Red In Sofia Jails Start Hunger Strike

(International News Service)

SOFIA, April 1.—Some two hundred communists and agrarians the majority of them in the Sofia and Plovdiv state prisons, have declared a seven day fast as a protest against the governments failure to introduce a long expected bill for the general amnesty of all political prisoners.

It is stated that the chief reason for postponing the bill was that many of the prisoners who had been amnestied on special occasions had fled to foreign countries and started campaigns of villification against the present government.

Moving Pictures Of 28th Division To Be Shown Free This Evening

Through the courtesy of the Carnegie Steel Company officials, the Official War Department moving pictures of the 28th (Penna.) Division in action during the World War will be shown free of any admission at 8:00 p. m. tonight at the Carnegie Auditorium.

There are ten reels of these pictures which also includes "Flashes of Action and The Life of O'Riley." The last named picture shows some of the life in the Cavalry and contains some excellent pictures of expert horsemanship.

These pictures were obtained from the War Department by the Shenango Valley Chapter of the Reserve Officers and are being held over from their meeting last night in order that the general public may have an opportunity to see these wonderful pictures taken under fire.

GROVE CITY

The Glencoe Scotch Club of this place announces April 7 as the date for the presentation of the Erie Scotch Ramblers at the high school auditorium. William Jarvie, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announces that the evening's program will feature many clever artists of the stage, such as Pete Detzel, late of Al Field's Minstrels, and Jock White, prominent Scotch comedian. Mr. Jarvis considers the local club fortunate in securing the Erie Scotch Ramblers and is expecting a large audience to turn out to enjoy the concert.

Dudley Adams of Ohio was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Justice of Peace O. E. Irwin on a charge of reckless driving. Adams was arrested by State Trooper M. Z. Crawley of the Butler barracks, who with another trooper was patroling the highway on the lookout for the Cortland bank robbers. Adams led the troopers quite a little chase before he was finally caught and brought into Grove City for his hearing before Justice Irwin.

The Grove City Order of the I. O. O. F. held their semi-annual election of officers Tuesday evening, electing the following men: Noble Grand, C. S. Uber; vice grand, R. A. Reynolds; trustee, M. C. Baker; representative to Grand Lodge, J. H. Barber; clubroom committee, George E. Osborn, A. S. Mackel and R. E. Connor.

Following the election of officers the third degree was conferred upon a class of five candidates, which completed the work of the past six months, giving the new officers a clean slate to start with. There were 29 Past Grands present at this meeting, which is a record attendance for the last year.

The Tiger Cat Society of the Howling Tom Cats here in Grove City are planning to hold an evening entertainment and dance in the lodge room of the Knights of Pythias in the Redmond building on Broad street. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Harry McConnell and Ken Lauderdale, and the date for the event will probably be Friday, April 8. The committee announces that square dancing will feature the evening's entertainment, as well as round dancing.

Dr. Homer B. Henderson of the local United Presbyterian church addressed the members of the New Castle Kiwanis Club at their regular noonday meeting, held in the New Castle Y. M. C. A. building.

The Grove City board of education will hold their monthly business meeting in the high school on Monday evening. The principal business before the board this month will be hiring of teachers for next year.

BOY'S BODY WAS COVERED WITH SEVERE ITCHING RASH

Skin now without a blemish

Bethel, Maine, July 13:—"About seven years ago my nephew developed a severe case of skin trouble which looked like eczema. His face, hands and whole body were covered with the trouble and his skin became raw from scratching. Many soaps and ointments were tried without success before Resinol Soap and Ointment were prescribed and used. The first few applications stopped the itching and soon he was entirely healed. He now has the loveliest skin I ever saw and, thanks to Resinol Soap and Ointment, no unsightly blotches mar the beauty of his complexion." (Signed) Vivian M. Eagle, Vernon Street.

LEAVES MILLION FOR CHURCHES

Will Of Late Miss Arbuckle Filed For Probate In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, April 1.—Bequests amounting to more than $1,000,000 were given to philanthropic organizations by the late Miss Christina Arbuckle in her will which was offered for probate yesterday. The largest gift was $700,000 to the Community House of the First United Presbyterian church, North Side, in Union avenue.

Miss Arbuckle was the last member of the family which established Arbuckle Bros., a wholesale coffee and sugar house.

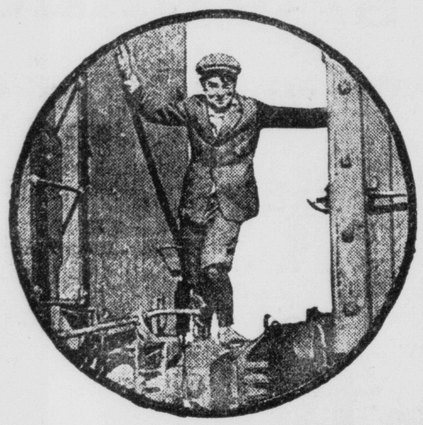
More than $100,000, besides the bequest to the Community House, was left to other enterprises of the United Presbyterian denomination. The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First church, was bequeathed $10,000 with $2,000 annually for five years for his direction of the Community House.

Miss Arbuckle was known as an outstanding benefactor of the United Presbyterian church. Her contribution of $1,000,000 was the largest to that church's New World movement. Ten years ago she provided the Community House, alongside the church. The house has more than 2,000 members from 100 Protestant churches of Pittsburgh. A recent gift of $250,000 made to Muskingum college was announced shortly after Miss Arbuckle's death.

The residuary estate, which is believed to run into millions, was left to Miss Arbuckle's nephew William A. Jamison, and to her nieces, Miss Martha Jamison and Miss Margaret Jamison of 602 Sherman avenue.

Other bequests: First church, $200,000; Cedarville (O.) college, $5,000; Allegheny General hospital, $20,000; Foreign Missionary Aid society, $10,000; the Ladies Aid society, $10,000; Women's board of U. P. church, $10,000; home for incurables, $10,000; home for aged couples, $10,000; United Presbyterian orphan asylum, $10,000; Columbia hospital, $10,000; United Presbyterian Theological seminary, $10,000; United Presbyterian home missions, $10,000; Y. W. C. A., $10,000; improvement of the poor, $5,000.

DON'T DO IT



As warm weather approaches and the boys of the city begin to spend more time out-of-doors certain thoughtless lads are seen climbing between cars to get a free ride.

Many a boy has either lost his life or been crippled for life by such careless tricks. When you see a lad doing this stunt impress upon his mind the terrible danger he has courted.

To Arraign Girl As Auto Bandit

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—Arrested on suspicion of auto larceny charges early today, Ann Stevens, 20, Rochester, N. Y., will be given a hearing before Magistrate Edward Dorn. The girl was taken into custody when she was discovered seated in a stolen machine belonging to Mary Mullen of Drexel Hill.

Miss Stevens explained she had been riding with a man who told her to wait for him when he alighted to make a purchase in a neighboring store. When the man failed to return the girl was arrested. She denied having stolen the car.

To the careful mind of Mr. Coolidge it must seem almost profane to say that one-half plus one equals two.

It must be considerable consolation to a worm when he looks up and sees a yes man.

Dry Forces To Mop Up Border This Summer

Largest Staff Ever In Service Against Liquor To Fight Rum Runners

Canadian Line To Seem Like Armed Camp After About May 1

By H. J. WHITNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SYROCUSE, N. Y., April 1.—According to well-informed federal circles, the United States government will place this summer the largest force of preventative forces along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river in the history of Volsteadism, new section headquarters are to be established at Oswego, Watertown, Alexandria Bay, Ogdensburg and Massena upstate and in the western section at Sodus, Niagara Falls and other points along Lake Erie to the west.

The Oswego division, it became known here, is to be one of the most vital spots in the federal plans to stop the flow across the border. At this point, it is said, will be stationed fast patrol boats, whose duty will be to head off all big craft bound for quiet coves on the southern shores of Lake Ontario. These cutters, it is said here, will mount a one-pound cannon and will be equipped as well with small arms and a machine gun or two to be used in cases of emergency.

"Wide Open" River.

If the dry navy and officers on shore succeed in mopping up practically all liquor coming in via the border, few bootleggers themselves believe that the business will continue to any great degree. On the other hand, officers wise in the way of the underworld fear to give the rum-runner an upper hand for a moment, realizing that to do so means a "wide open" river and lake in the future.

All along the line and river fronts at points of control will be stationed small units of two or three members of the border patrol. In each unit will be two customs agents and one immigration officer, it is said:

"Behind this "second line of defense," for as usual the Marines receive the first call to duty, will come the "moppers up", the state police.

Raiding Stills.

Working back among the cities and industrial centers where the smuggled liquor supplies ultimately find their way will be the prohibition enforcement agents, a distinct group of federal agents whose chief duty is to raid stills, arraign prisoners, secure "buys" from "speakeasies" and make an occasional visit to breweries not officially marked "clean".

Then there is still another force in the gigantic army of United States and state officials lining up against the new "rum row". There are the men who perhaps are least known but whose activities always result in the "big boys" being brought to court. They are the "under cover men", agents who work quietly in civilian clothes armed with blackjacks and high-powered revolvers and plenty of Uncle Sam's expense money. The daring young fellows silently slip through the enemy lines, mingle in Canada with the brewers themselves and after everything is set they spring the trap that nabs a whole shipload at once—thousands of dollars loss to someone "higher up."

Like Mexican War.

This game of battling the liquor toters this summer ought to be a lot like the Mexican war," a veteran customs agent declared in discussing the coming campaign. "Here is the way I dope it out. The government, under direction of the president or secretary of the treasury or General Andrews, or someone, wants to make a real honest-to-goodness effort at stopping smuggling this summer. So they are ordering on all kinds of reinforcements."

Officials and watchers agree on one thing—that the Canadian border will resemble an armed camp from May 1 until snow flies later in the winter.

U. S. Marksmen To Visit Munich For Shooting Contests

(International News Service)

MUNICH, April 1.—American crack marksmen will participate in rifle shooting contests to be held here from the beginning of July until the 26th of July. Sharpshooters from Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, and other European countries will be among the contestants.

The shooting contests will be accompanied by a series of interesting festivals, pageants, and exhibitions, including a unique display of historic national costumes from all parts of Germany.

There will be parades and processions illustrating the development of hunting from the middle ages on to the present time.

All processions will end at the famous "October meadows," or, Theresien meadows, where the October festival takes place every year. Two hundred ranges will be provided for the contests, manned by about 400 controllers, observers and pointers. The leading artists and architects of Munich will also arrange some exhibitions on the Theresian meadows.

Munich authorities will make it a special point of their program to help foreigners in visiting the sights of Bavaria and in assisting them in touring the Bavarian Alps and the Highlands. The railway fares and hotel prices will be considerably reduced for contestants.

Two days after the rifle contests are over the Munich Wagner and Mozart festival begins.

From May 15th to October a handicrafts exhibition will be held on the big Municipal Exhibition grounds.

Divorced For 23 Years, Rewed

NEW YORK, April 1.—"It's never too late to mend" might well be used to adorn the romance of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Moore of Brooklyn, who were remarried in the municipal building yesterday by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise after they had been divorced for 23 years.

Moore is a New York consulting engineer and Mrs. Moore of Valhalla, N. Y., has been a trained nurse for 15 years. Moore is 58 and his wife 48.

During the long years of their divorce neither had remarried. An accidental meeting while visiting a grandchild a few years ago rekindled the old love, Mrs. Moore said.

"Selfishness is the trouble with all unhappy marriages," was the lesson Moore said his experience had taught him. "We were getting old and have a daughter and two fine grandchildren so—well, we just thought we'd get married again."

Seek Safety Devices For Army Planes In Mountain Regions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Increased safety for military planes flying over mountainous sections of the country is being sought for by the Army Air Corps. The latest has been to equip the machines with smoke candles giving forth dense gray vapor, easily distinguised from smoke made by ordinary fires. It is hoped by use of these candles to direct relief parties immediately to air men who have made forced landing or who have wrecked their planes.

Efforts are being made by the Air Corps to inform all persons living in mountainous or sparsely settled sections of the significance of this candle smoke so that when they see it they will investigate promptly and render what assistance they can.

Barges Aid To River Traffic

(International News Service)

MOLINE, Ill., April 1.—Six of the steel barges to be placed in service on the Mississippi river, between St. Louis and as far north of Moline as the river will permit, now are completed and will be placed in operation soon.

These boats, built at Dubuque, Ia., will be operated in conjunction with the Federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans. Additional barges will be constructed, if the traffic warrants.

These barges are of an advanced type and capable of operating when the water is at low stage, carrying 250 tons at a four foot depth and 500 tons when the water is higher.

It is hoped that eventually traffic will be such that fifteen or more of the boats will be operated.

Creek Indians Ask For School

(International News Service)

OKMULGEE, Okla., April 1.—The Creek tribe is seeking the re-establishment of the famous Carlisle Indian school, this time in Oklahoma.

Inducements which, it is hoped, will lead the government to grant such a request have just been outlined at a meeting of several hundred members of the tribe.

A proposal that the Creek nation donate the Euchee and Eufaula Indian schools, owned by the tribe, in return for the establishment of the Carlisle school in this state was advanced by Principal Chief George W. Hill.

The Carlisle School, formerly in Pennsylvania, was discontinued at the time of the World War.

State Solons To Conclude Work On Friday, April 15

Hope To Have Every Major Problem Out Of Way By Closing Time

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 1.—Forecasts made today predict that the 1927 Pennsylvania legislature will die some time early in the morning of April 15, two weeks from today, as quietly and without feature, as the record of its progress to this point.

By that time every major problem will have been disposed of and only appropriations and ear marked bills will remain to clog the last hurried hours which mark the final day.

Both houses have been making rapid progress in getting through the appropriation measures. Those finally passed are expected to total almost 400 which is even less than the usual number.

During the coming week election reform measures may continue to show a bit of life from the breath of public demand. It is expected, however, that the three administration bills will be passed in the house as they came from the senate. The final week will be too late to obtain action.

The omnibus road bill yet remains to be whipped into shape. Its passage will spell the finish of some 200 specific measures to establish sections of improved road. The spectre of 30 miles of construction out of the 1,200 ordered in 1925 will not in any way deter the jockeying for mention in the "please everybody" bill.

As identical compensation bills have passed both houses only the governor's signature is now necessary for that much debated legislation.

Although the governor has expressed appropriation of the Schantz bill which would abolish the fee system for tax collection it is doubtful if continued efforts to get it from committee will be successful. So far the tax collectors lobby has been successful in killing similar moves. This session is not expected to prove an exception.

Mrs. Coolidge, Wives Of Other Notables Contribute Recipes

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—A Cabinet dinner, Grace Goodhue Coolidge, corn muffins, a Congressional luncheon, a Diplomatic midnight supper, will soon be favorite menus in every household in the land.

Mrs. John H. Wilson, wife of a former representative from Butler, and an associate member of the Congressional Club, is a contributor to the Congressional Cook Book, which the Congressional Club is publishing in September, and which will contain the favorite recipes of the First Lady of the Land, the wife of the Vice President, the wives of the members of the Cabinet and the Supreme Court, the ladies of the Diplomatic corps, the wives of the State Governors, and the ladies of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Every State, even every Congressional district, in the Union, and nearly every country in the world are represented in the 2,500 recipies which the book will contain. A wide circulation is expected for the volume, as 20,000 copies will make up the first edition. It is to be bound in waterproof material in the club's corors—red, white and blue.

Mrs. Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan, chairman of the committee publishing the book, knows that the cover is waterproof. She took a sample of the binding home, squeezed lemon juice on it, spread salt on the lemon juice, and set it out overnight to spoil. But it did not spoil.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge's contributions to the Congressional Cook Book are recipes for a custard pie and for corn muffins. Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the Vice President, contributed a recipe for cream cheese salad. She has already ordered six copies of the book, too.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, sent in a long list of recipes, among which were directions for cooking moose, elk, bear meat, and reindeer venison.

Mrs. William M. Jardine, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, of raw beef, devil's food, and date pudding.

Representative Florence Prag Kahn of California—the only congresswoman whose recipes have come in yet—sent recipes for spaghetti and sweetbreads, chicken liver brochette, and eggplant and tomato.

The only man who has yet contributed to the cook book is Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York. His recipes are for "Spaghetti a la Progressive" and "Morn Meal a la Farm Relief."

Mrs. Wilson's favorite recipes, contributed to the cook book, are for tomato rarebit, lemon butter for tea cakes, and puff balls.

Mrs. Harris J. Bixler of Johnsonburg and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler, wives of congressmen whose terms expired March 4, have not yet sent in their recipes, but are expected to contribute to the Congressional Cook Book.

Mrs. James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, wife of the Secretary of Labor, contributed a recipe for chocolate ice pudding. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, the other Pennsylvania member of the Cabinet, having no official hostess, now that his daughter has married and is living in Italy, has been invited to contribute his own favorite recipe.

Mrs. David A. Reed and Mrs. George Wharton Pepper, wives of the Pennsylvania senators, have both contributed recipes. Mrs. Reed's favorite recipes sent to the cook book are for nut whole bread and plum pudding. Mrs. Pepper's recipes in the cook book are for chocolate cookies, filet of flounder, and hot cinnamon sauce for waffles.

The proceeds of the book will be used to furnish the club rooms of the Congressional Club. The Congressional Club consist of the wives, daughters, sisters, and mothers of members and former members of Congress. And if the book is popular enough, they may even build a new clubhouse with the profits.

The recipes will also be syndicated to hundreds of newspapers throughout the country.

German Tennis Stars To Meet American Team

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Apr. 1—German tennis stars are looking forward with keen interest to an expedition of American tennis players to Germany in summer. Among other stars Tilden is expected to play here against the best German class.

The expedition is said to be financed by the donation of the German-American tennis fan Ahnelt, which has been put at the disposal of the German Tennis Club "Red-White."

Special arrangements will be made to enable several thousands of fans to see the games. "Red-White will enlarge their accomodations for lookers-on and will do everything in their power to make the German-American games a full success.

Working Students At School Earn $198,000

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 1.—Harvard University may be classified as a rich man's college but if figures recently compiled are any criterion it certainly is not a college that breeds lazy students.

Students of Harvard earned $198,646.54 during the school year and the summer vacation according to a report of such activities made by the student's employment office.

An analysis of the figures compiled by the college officials disclosed that almost one-third of the students applied for employment during the year. Part time jobs netted the students a total of $78,950.95. Work performed by the students in the various departments of the college including the athletic association, the libraries and social clubs brought to their accounts a total of $41,700.59.

It is noted that twenty-nine of the pupils earned more than $500 during the year.

Some of the jobs followed by pupils were as chauffeurs, clerical workers, coaches, guides, newspapermen, salesmen, typists, tutors, waiters and the proverbial jack of all trades.

Painfully Thin.

Two darkies, Samo and Rastus, met the other day. Said Sambo to his friend: "Say youse so awful thin if you'd close one eye they could use you for a needle." "What you all talkin' about niggah," Rastus replied. "Youse so thin youahself if you was white youah mother could feed you grape juice and use you for a thermometer."

Makes TWENTY more cups per pound

THROUGH the addition of one secret new grade of coffee to the other three superior grades composing the well-known SWANSDOWN Blend, each pound can now yields from 60 to 70 full-flavored deliciously mild cups of coffee---an increase of more than 20 cups over the previous standard of 40.

SWANSDOWN Coffee costs no more than any other high grade blend --- but the additional cups made from a pound reduce your coffee bill one-third. Any grocer will supply you. New SWANSDOWN formula in every can. (3)

Mellon May Offer Plan To Put U. S. Treasury Jobs On Permanent Basis

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A vital reorganization of the U. S. Treasury, and possibly other important goverment departments, to put at least some of the high executives on a permanent, rather than a political basis, is expected by officials who have been associated with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Under the present system, which could only be upset by amendment to the federal law, all high officials from the secretary and undersecretary to assistant secretaries and commissioners of internal revenue, customs and prohibition are political appointees.

When one adminstration goes out of office it is usual that the entire executive staff of the treasury passes out. This situation, in view of the fact that the financial operation of the Government involve billions of dollars annually and the manipulation of its bond issues require the services of a trained financier is considered detrimental to the best business interests of the country.

The suggestion was made by an official who recently retired from the treasury service that a permanent post of undersecretary—equivalent to the post of executive manager in a private business concern—should be created.

Such official, under proposal, would be paid a sufficiently high salary to command a man of outstanding business ability.

While the administration in power, through the secretary, would guide formation of the major policies, many technical financial questions would be directed by the undersecretary.

Recent adminstrations have been fortunate in getting the services of men of outstanding financial reputation. Secretary Andrew W. Mellon, himself one of the world's most influential bankers, has selected as assistants S. Parkes Gilbert, now agent general of the Repartations Commission, Gerrard B. Winston, lawyer and financier of international reputation, now connected with the National City Bank of New York, and Ogden L. Mills, expert on tax matters, and the present undersecretary.

At the hem of the banking system during this period have been Vice-President Charles Dawes, his brother Henry Dawes, and Joseph W. McIntosh, all men of outstanding financial ability.

At the present time the treasury service, although exacting in its requirements, offers no opportunity for a career.

Runaway Oil Field In 30-Day Shutdown

(International News Service)

TULSA, Okla., April 1.—Scientific prophets who have predicted that the country's oil supply would be exhausted in five or ten years would find little to strengthen their convictions in the Seminole field of Oklahoma, the greatest oil producing area the United States has ever known.

Just now the oil companies in this record-breaking field are nervously awaiting the expiration of a 30-day shutdown on drilling activities. With oil wells coming in faster than facilities could be provided to take care of the enormous output, the operators, out of necessity, agreed to slow up long enough for the builders of pipelines and storage tanks to catch up with them. Oil was gushing forth in such quantities it was necessary to run thousands of barrels out on the ground.

It was not so very many weeks ago that a few operators ventured to predict the production of the field would eventually reach 200,000 barrels a day. These assertions were considered "absurd" and "impossible." On the day the present shutdown was decided upon the Seminole field was producing oil to the extent of 314,317 barrels— and going [illegible] each [illegible].

Once before it was necessary to curb the run-away oil field until its operators could catch up with it. The present shutdown will end March 26. Then the oil men, with renewed frenzy, will again jump into drilling activities.

King Ferdinand Is Near To Death

Belgrade Dispatches Say Roumanian Ruler Is Very Near Death

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 1.—King Ferdinand of Roumania is reported to be on the verge of death, according to Belgrade dispatches received here.

Belgrade reports that communications with Bucharest have been cut off but that Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, daughter of King Ferdinand, left for Bucharest yesterday.

Heavy troop movements into Bucharest are reported in Belgrade, it being explained that it is feared the death of the king may bring troublesome quarrels over the succession.

An attack of grip has aggravated the condition of King Ferdinand and for the past two days his condition has been reported as serious.

Man Must Pay Wife $100 To Fight Suit Of His For Divorce

Couple Are Living Apart Under Order Of Lawrence County Court

BUTLER, Pa., April 1.—Mike Esper Hadad, an employe of the Standard Steel Car Company, must give his wife $100 to be used by her to pay her attorneys in contesting a suit for divorce brought by Hadad, according to an opinion handed down by Judge John R. Henninger.

The court decreed that Hadad shall pay to his wife for counsel fees and expenses of defending the divorce suit the sum of $100, one-half of which shall be paid on or before the first Monday of May next, and the balance on or before the first Monday of June next.

Hadad is seeking a divorce on the grounds of infidelity. Mrs. Hadad has denied the charge and petitioned for counsel fees and expense of defending the case.

The Hadads are living apart. Under an order of the Lawrence county court Hadad is paying his wife $7 per week for the support of herself and their three minor children. Hadad makes from $100 to $120 a month, while his wife conducts a small store toward which her husband contributed $700 for stock and purchasing price.

The court has found that the situation of the couple has not changed since the court of Lawrence county made the order of support, which provides for the defendant's ordinary relief. The plaintiff, the court adds, has created an extraordinary condition by suing his wife for divorce and she is entitled to defend at his cost.

Sharon Zionists Arrange Meeting

Preparatory to the national Palestine appeal of the Zionist organization, the Zionists of Sharon have arranged an interesting program to be presented at the Liberty Theatre at Sharon at 2:15 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

A remarkable motion picture "The Twentieth Century Miracle" will be shown.

Rabbi Eugene Kohn of Anshe Emeth Temple, Youngstown, and Mrs. Milton Fuldheim of Cleveland will be the principal speakers.

This meeting is preparatory to the world wide appeal for $10,000,000 with which to carry out the Zionist program in Palestine. S. W. Epstein of Sharon, has been named chairman of the appeal in that district.

Reserve Officers In Session Here

Shenango Valley Chapter Has Meeting At Carnegie Auditorium Thursday

A well attended meeting of the Shenango Valley Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States was held Thursday evening at the Carnegie Auditorium.

Members of the chapter were present from Sharon, Grove City, Butler, Monaca, Midland and New Castle. Routine business was transacted and there was also a discussion of the new regulations regarding reserve officers. The next meeting will be held during the first week of May.

The official War Department moving pictures of the 28th Division in action during the World War were shown following the business session, also other war pictures entitled Flashes of Action and the picture entitled The Life of O'Riley.

These same pictures will be shown again this evening at eight o'clock in the Carnegie Auditorium and the public is invited to attend. There will be no charge made.

New Buildings At Fort Sam Houston Aid San Antonio

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 1.—With the announcement by army officials of plans for new buildings at Fort Sam Houston and the various flying fields around here, and the construction work already under way in San Antonio, indications point to the greatest single building program ever witnessed in South Texas.

Definite plans for a uniform type of construction will be followed out, both by the army and civilian builders, it was announced. The Spanish type of architecture will predominate, and builders says that San Antonio will look like a different city within the next ten years.

The army's buildings, comprising new barracks as well as other structures, will conform to the architectural atmosphere of San Antonio. The designs will be Spanish. Tentative plans include large and beautiful esplanades, the buildings fronting on the spacious formal grounds at the army post.

Impetus to the movement was given by the arrival here of Major General Frank Cheatham, quartermaster general of the United States Army, and George B. Ford, city planning expert of New York.

General Cheatham, after conferences with local army officers and architects, was enthusiastic over the suggestions for erecting the buildings along Spanish architectural lines, harmonizing the army's headquarters with the rest of the city, and conforming with the historic and architectural atmosphere of this section.

"This is the largest army post in the country," General Cheatham told local architects. "We want to continue to beautify and build here. I think it would be an excellent idea for us to carry out the Spanish type of architecture to be in harmony with the characteristic atmosphere of your beautiful city."

CATARRH IS DANGEROUS, OFTEN WEAKENS THE WHOLE SYSTEM, AND LEADS TO LUNG TROUBLE

Should Be Treated at Once and Not Allowed to Make Progress.

World's Tonic Is Designed to Combat Catarrh Throughout the System and Gives Amazing Results.

When left alone Catarrh often spreads from the nasal passages to the throat and then to the windpipe, bronchial tubes and finally to the lungs themselves. This is one of the greatest dangers attending Catarrh because the victim is thus placed on the very threshold of consumption. Catarrh is very prevalent in this part of the country because of the climate. Medical men say three out of every five people suffer from Catarrh and its symptoms, which are dripping of a poisonous substance from the throat, discharges from the nose, weak, watery eyes, headache, huskiness and dryness of the throat and the like.

Victims of Catarrh should start fighting the disease as quickly as they realize they have it, otherwise, serious developments are almost sure to follow.

Many people highly praise World's Tonic for Catarrh. It is a systemic treatment and is made for this one disease. World's Tonic almost immediately relieves the distress in the nasal passages and throat and stops the spread of catarrh. At the same time, it combats Catarrh at its very source, within the system, and is designed to rid the system entirely of Catarrh.

World's Tonic, the systemic treatment that is doing so much good in New Castle and vicinity, is sold by McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., Paisley's, Smith's and all other reliable druggists. (31)

Butler Matmen To Meet New Castle Grapplers April 18

BUTLER, Pa., April 1.—The Butler Y wrestling team will meet the New Castle matmen, champions of the West Penn district, on the local Y floor April 18. The match will be a return engagement the local grapplers going to New Castle on April 8 for the first match of the series.

The wrestling match which had been carded tonight with the Thiel College matmen was forced to be canceled on account of examinations at the college and they will be unable to put in an appearance on the local mats this year.

The local Y team is composed of six wrestlers, all of whom are considered good matmen. Faust Curzi leads the team and enters matches at 150 pounds, Herman Curzi is in the 135 pound class, Norman Ross 148, Fred Glauser 155, Jim Waddell 158, and George Damicone 130. The team is well fortified with Jim Waddell and Faust Curzi carrying the burden.

Borio of New Castle, who was responsible for bringing the first mat championship to New Castle, will be among those who will meet the Butler grapplers. George and Pearl, other winners in the West Penn championship tilt last week, also will be pitted against Butler's best.

New Castle has one of the strongest teams in its history and the local boys will be forced to the limit to gain a decision over their rivals.

BEARS RAID SHEEP IN McKEAN COUNTY

KANE, Pa., April 1.—Black bears are making their annual raids on the sheep flocks in the Marvin creek valley, not far from the Catherine Swamp game preserve, owned by Pittsburgh sportsmen.

John Martin, residing at Marvindale, 17 miles northeast of Kane, reports that a bear carried off a sheep from his flock under his eyes a few days ago. He was not close enough to frieghten the bear away, but the next day the bear reappeared, and Martin drove it with sticks and stones as though it had been a dog.

Boys, Minus 'Duds' Take French Leave

Juvenile Court Undergraduates Just Use Blankets

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 1.—By making a rope of blankets three boys escaped last night from the juvenile court detention rooms on the second floor of the jail. Daniel Goldberg 15 of Elm Grove, W. Va., apparently has made good his escape in a stolen automobile. Tony Gulutz and Angelo Gulutz brothers 14 and 15 were caught early today on the National pike on their way to their home at Allison, Fayette county.

The boys were without clothing when they fled, their clothes having been taken away to prevent escape when placed in their rooms. On reaching the outside of the prison they wrapped the blankets around them.

Goldberg detained in connection with an automobile theft is alleged to have taken the auto of Charles Uhleman of Washington parked a short distance from the jail and to have driven westward on the National pike refusing to take the other boys. No trace of him had been found.

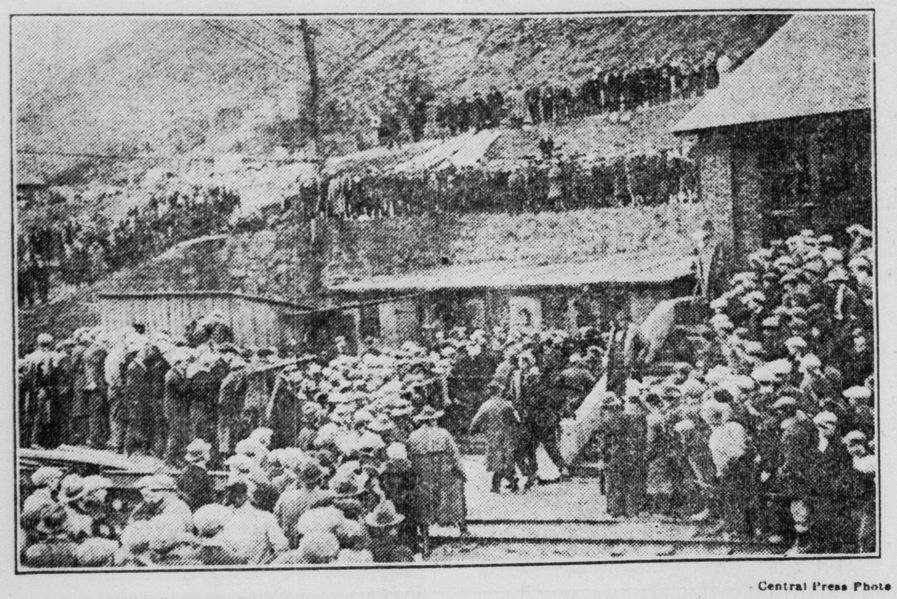
MINERS RESCUED FOLLOWING TERRIFIC BLAST



Central Press Photo

Photo shows crowd gathered around Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company's Mine No. 3 at Ehrenfeld, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, to see a group of miners being brought from the mine, in which there had been a terrific explosion. Because the blast spent itself in the mouth of the mine, only four of the more than 300 miners were killed. Great happiness surged over the crowd as this picture was taken, for when the miners appeared, it was realized there had been no great toll of life.

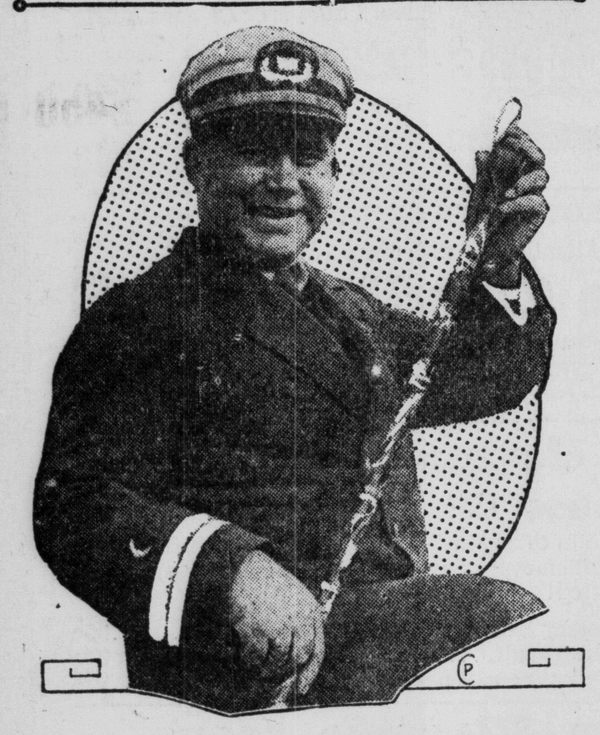
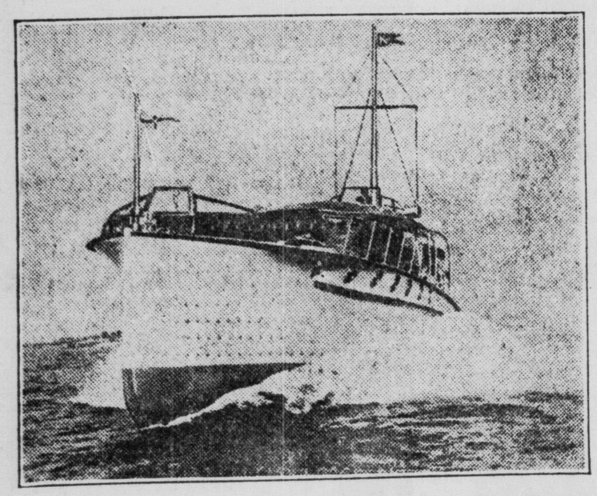
CANE PROVES AZTECS DANDIES



While the well-dressed Indian's wardrobe of 300 years ago did not include a silk hat or spats it certainly did include a snappy walking stick. Claude Araneda, steward on a Pacific liner, arriving in San Francisco, Calif., from Latin-American ports brought with him an elaborately carved Aztec cane to prove it. The stick is estimated to be 300 years old.

BANKER TO SPEED OVER WATER



The "Oheka II," snapped on the Weser river near Bremen, Germany, making 36 knots an hour, has been purchased by Otto Kahn, banker, for use between his summer home at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., and his New York office. The purchase price for this 73-foot "commuting" cruiser is understood to be $90,000. It has three motors of 480-horsepower each. They have no gears and can be reversed from full speed ahead to full speed astern in five seconds, it is said.

Actress, Feminist Score Milady's Short Skirts

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 1.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt noted woman leader is not alone in her condemnation of the knee-length skirts for women.

Comes now Gloria Swanson, style mentor of the screen with a plea for conservatism in woman's dress.

Miss Swanson has come out publicly for long hair and long skirts.

"I absolutely agree with Mrs. Catt about the short skirts" said the screen star, who in private life is the Marquise de La Falaise de La Coudray.

Shore Skirts "Terrible."

"I think knee skirts are terrible" and she said it with an emphasis that indicated that she was not fond of exhibiting her legs to the screen public as she has in some of her pictures. "They are immodest ungraceful and inartistic.

"And" she continued, "have you noticed how some of the girls flinch when they have to sit down in the street cars?

"Why they pull and tug at their short dresses in a futile effort to hide their knees when some of the times it would be better for them to sit on their feet.'

Glorious Gloria, too, is tired—sick and tired of bobbed hair. She admitted her famous bob was no more. Her hair now is down to her shoulders and she wears it usually in a bun at the nape of her neck.

Against Mannish Clothes

"I am sick of this standardization—everybody bobbed haired, everybody wearing a knee length dress hanging from the shoulders."

But Miss Swanson is not for the mannish style of clothes for women.

"I detest mannish styles and think women are making a great mistake in following that line.

Agree on Skirts

"As to wearing trousers I think that is utter nonsense and I don't believe they ever will do it."

Irate Captain Seeks Stolen Ship In China

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 1.—Into the heart of the Chinese war zone Captain Francis A. Maxwell has started determined to find his captured ship.

The captain, master of the Shanghai-Hankow river steamer, "Kianghsin" has sailed on board a Pacific liner to demand the return of his vessel from General Chang Tso-Lin the Manchurian war lord who commandeered it to carry troops on the Yangtse.

Maxwell was vacationing in San Francisco during the winter when he learned of the ship's seizure.

"Hhe 'Kianghsin' belongs to the China Merchant Steam Navigation company and is not liable to seizure" asserted the skipper vehemently. "I am going to get it back if I have to take it by force."

Captain Maxwell is well qualified to carry out his resolution if experience can do it. He has been 40 years on the sea and 12 years in Chinese waters. He bears two decorations for carrying troops safely past the German submarine blockade to France during the World War.

What a life! Saving to buy linen and silver and china for grand occasions; dying without getting to use them much.

HOW FORD ACCIDENT OCCURRED

Artist sketches story of accident to Henry Ford, billionaire auto manufacturer of Detroit. Top right Ford is pictured working alone at night in his laboratory at his Dearborn, Mich., plant. Lower left is a visualization of a closed Studebaker car said to contain two men forcing the Ford coupe in which Ford had started to his home, one half mile away, over a 15-foot embankment just beyond a bridge over the River Rouge. Ford's light car shot down the high slope and caromed against a large sized oak tree. The shock of the impact concussed Ford's brain and he fell over unconscious. Recovering consciousness Ford staggered to the lodge of the gatekeeped of his estate and collapsed, pistured in the center sketch. The lower right sketch visions surgeons working over the billionaire in the Henry Ford hospital, Detroit.

Franklin High Floor Teams Have Banquet

Annual Recognition Banquet Tendered Floor Teams Thursday Night

Thirty-Five Enjoy Fine Dinner And Splendid Program; Letters Given Out

In recognition of the successful basketball season by the boys' and girls' varsity teams of Ben Franklin junior high the officials of the school were hosts Thursday evening to the young athletes. Thirty-five were present. The affair was held in the model apartment of the school.

The boys and girls were treated to a rare display of culinary art as concerned, the banquet end of the program last night. Quite a large quantity of delicious victuals were stowed away by the youngsters. The banquet was one of the most successful ever held in the junior high school, and the committee is deserving of a lot of credit for its work.

With the "filling up" process out of the way the program was turned over to Frank L. Burton, principal of the Ben Franklin school, and Mr. Burton, dropping the dignity that goes with the office of school leader, entered into the spirit of the occasion with an effort that pleased the group exceedingly. His many witty remarks kept the athletes in good humor and there were not many dull moments on the entire card. Mr. Burton in a short introductory talk congratulated the boys and girls on their fine showing this year on the hardwood court.

After a few pep songs that livened the occasion to a high pitch, Dr. Clyde C. Green, city superintendent of schools, was introduced and gave the boys and girls a splendid talk on basketball and sportsmanship. Dr. Green urged them not to forget that there was something else in school life besides athletics. A good athlete is always a good scholar, was one of the many thoughts left by Dr. Green.

Miss Leona Kaufman delighted the gathering with a solo dance of pleasing exhibition. The young lady displayed a marked degree of talent.

Miss Pauline Gilkey, a member of the school faculty, gave a short talk on athletics. Miss MacEwen had charge of some more of those lively pep songs at this stage of the banquet program.

Miss Suzanne Hill, captain of the girls' varsity team, was called on for a short talk and responded with a very pleasing outflow of oratory in which she thanked the girls for the support given the team this season and also stated that she was sorry to leave the Franklin team.

Bill Johns, captain of the boys' varsity team, was next called on and responded with a splendid talk in which he thanked his teammates for the cooperation shown this year and also for the manner in which the boys went about their work. He also paid a high tribute to Coach Leroy Norton for his work this season.

Miss Ethelyn Douthett, manager of the girls' team, was also called on for a short talk, and Harry Sanders, manager of the boys' team, also spoke. Miss Vera Rummell, coach of the girls' team, paid a high tribute to the players in a brief talk. Coach Norton in a short resume of the season paid a high tribute to the boys' team on its impressive record maintained this year.

Principal Burton closed the program by giving out the school insignia to the following players: Suzanne Hill, Emily Parker, Ethelyn Douthett, Hilda Bodendorfer, Eleanor Jones, Laura Carson, Cora Perry, Leona Kaufman, Isabel Bogdon, Edith Clark and Elizabeth Gibson, William Johns, Henry Kenst, Harry Stewart, Andy Beres, Tony Gennock, Bennie Ciccone, Taivo Ruha, Harry Sanders, Bill McLaughlin, George Zinz, Edward Kominic, Walter Shook and Russell Grannis.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of the school song, "Alma Mater", and a round of cheers for the individual members present.

The banquet was in charge of Miss Mildred Gress and Miss Ruth Wallace of the faculty, and the aides in serving were members of the home economics and technical group of the school.

Found in Copenhagen, where she had gone as a stowaway in a ship from Hull, England, 18-year-old Florence Lamb has been sent back home.

Paris' latest self-dressing fad is the low side-parting, with a short lock waved and flattened down over the eye opposite the part.

Circus Day Is Here

Zingling Family circus arrived in town last night and after much ado the show train was all unloaded and the big tents have been erected in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. ready for the big performance tonight.

The feature of the show this year is the immense side show which will be opened at 7 o'clock in order to give the crowds a chance to see all these extra attractions before the main performance begins. The side show will exhibit a strong man, fat man, slim lady, fat lady and a giant and a dwarf with many other surprises.

As an added attraction a booth for men only has been arranged "the Dance of the Seven Baals" will be exhibited in an oriental way. A booth for ladies only will also be arranged from which all men will be refused admission.

The side show will be held from 7 to 8 o'clock and will not be open during the main performance as several of the actors and actresses must appear in the main performance. Therefore all come early and see the side attractions and get a seat in the main tent before the crowds arrive.

The take-off on Cinderella which will be produced at each performance has been prepared at an immense cost in reproducing the scenes, but the management wishes to assure that all pains have been made so that all shall see the lady fit her foot to the glass slipper or the red hood to her grandmother's head, whichever it was.

The Zingling Family circus which is being given by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will give three performances, one this evening at 8 oclock preceded by the side show, a matinee for the children tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and the final appearance tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Iowa Highways Are Very Muddy, Traffic Delayed

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 1.—Dirt roads, the spring bugaboo to all travelers in Iowa are working their annual havoc with traffic. In many places the roads are impassable to motorists and farmers find it necessary to revert to the horse and buggy mode of locomotion if they wish to get to town.

Even gravel roads, good at all other times of the year are bad in this season, due to the frost coming out of the ground. In some places the "bottom" of the roads seem to drop down while in others the roadbed rises. With dirt roads conditions are even worse. Recent rains also have contributed to the general poor condition of all highways that are not paved.

In some sections the roads have been so bad that it was found necessary to suspend school sessions at the rural institutions both the teachers and children finding it impossible to get from their homes to the school houses. One commercial traveler who covers his territory in a motor car got stuck 21 times in making a comparatively short trip. It cost him $60 to get pulled out of the varous mudholes

Among the worst sufferers this time of the year though are the bootleggers who run booze into the interior of Iowa from Chicago automobiles. They find the going extremely bad due to the fact that they have to exercise extreme care in requesting assistance when their cars bog down. In one eastern county a sheriff received word that two rum running cars were coming along a certain highway. With his deputies he started out to intercept the men. He found them their cars sunk axle deep in the mud. The two cars yielded 400 gallons of alcohol.

Japan's recently revised plans call for the expenditure of $160,000,000 in railway improvements in the next 12 months.

Nearly 2,000,000 American bathing caps were donned in foreign lands last year.

Unearth Great Musical Find Near To Turin

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 1.—The greatest musical find in the century has been made at Turin where an enormous quantity of 18th century masterpieces and minor works have been brought to light according to a Turin dispatch to the London Morning Post.

According to the Post the superintendent of Piedmontese Bibliography and other experts invited to inspect a roomful of books and manuscripts found to their surprise among the 97 volumes in the room 43 operas for the theatre, 22 vocal and chamber music pieces, 22 instrumenal chamber music pieces, five sacred music pieces and oratorios, five tratises on the theory of music.

All these were 18th century publications of great rarity, many of them not only unique copies but works that had altogether passed from sight. There was also much manuscript music. Notable among the rare printed works are editions of Gluck, Philidor, Pergolosi and Rameau. Special value is attached to the "Nina et Lindor" of Duni, an intermezzi in two acts written in 1768.

Among the unpublished works are 12 operas by Vivaldi—up to now there were only two in existence and 11 were known by name. From the pen of Stradella are revealed two unsuspacted operas for the theatre besides symphonies, serenades and arias.

The most surprising discovery was that of eight volumes containing manuscript settings with commentaries of 16th century songs and madrigals for lute accomliment and a similar volume of the Spanish guitar together with manuscripts of ancient and troubadour songs set for a bass voice.

The value of the find lies not so much in the prominence of the authors as in the completeness of the contribution made to the history of the development of Italian and European music.

The collection has been acquired by a Turin resident and handed over as a gift to the state. All the books and manuscripts have been proved authentic and their publication is eagerly expected according to the Post's correspondent.

Ice Cream Big Feature In U. S. Foreign Trade

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Ice cream—some in powdered form, the rest frozen—makes up an important feature of America's foreign trade with the Far East and Latin America, according to the department of commerce.

Most of the ice cream shipped to South America is concentrated in powder.

The first experiment in exporting ice cream from United States to China took place in 1925, when a shipment of ten gallons in quart bricks, was shipped from the Pacific Coast to Shanghi.

The demand increased until in 1925 one firm alone shipped 9,000 gallons of ice cream in frozen bricks and 167,000 frozen ice cream bars to Chinese customers.

Frozen ice cream is shipped only to Shanghi, of the far Eastern ports, and is consumed largely by the foreign population, although a taste for the delicacy is being acquired by the better class of Chinese.

Wolves Bring Terror To Siberian Towns

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, April 1.—Packs of Wolves ranging in from the timbered regions of central Siberia are terrorizing the inhabitants of Bysk county according to dispatches received here from Novo Sibirsk. The long winter, bringing with it scarcity of food, has inspired the wolves to unprecented audacity, they have attacked several villages at mid-day, driving the inhabitants indoors and killing scores of domestic animals.

From the province of Novgorod come reports that sheep folds have been badly depleted by wolves and that the danger from the animals has grown until no peasant will stir abroad without a weapon.

But would you consider it your duty to whip your child if he could lick you in a fair fight?

World To Last Millions Of Years Scientist Tells Syracuse Students

(International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 1.—It is quite unnecessary to worry about the world coming to an end for its present diminishing rate it will last for several million years, Dr. Arthur Haas of the University of Vienna, told a student audience in Slocum hall, Syracuse university. Dr. Haas lectured under the auspices of Syracuse chapter, Signa Xi, scientific honorary fraternity.

Though he experienced difficulty with the English tongue, Dr. Haas explained to his listeners that though eventually the earth will waste completely away, that very likely it will reform itself from the energy it has given off since its birth.

By the same theory, the speaker declared that all solar bodies of the universe are whittling down, but said that what energy they give off will form new worlds.

He said the matter is constructed from radiation and although the universe will fall apart it will build itself together again every few million years.

In his discourse Dr. Haas, who is considered an authority on science and atomic physics, used figures from the diameter of the atom hydrogen, measuring the tenth part of a millionth of a millimeter to the probable age of the universe.

After telling the history of the atom, which cannot be seen under the strongest microscope, Dr. Haas declared that the atom might not only be the source of energy, but energy the maker of the atom.

Dr. Haas said that the universe is gradually wasting away, that the interior of a fixed star is at a temperature of millions of degrees, casting annihation of matter to such a degree that a star looses most of its mass during its lieftime.

The sun is gradually becoming less, he said, but the process is so slow that it would be hardly possible to note the change in it since the beginning of the world. Dr. Haas stated that apparently the universe is passing through a cycle of construction and demolation.

Russian Notables Are Now Laborers In Railroad Shop

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Apr. 1.—Six men, prominent in Russia before the soviet uprising, are now common laborers in the Bayshore shops of the Southern Pacific near here, it was learned today.

Efrim Jogoleff, former millionaire lumberman and contractor, lost all his possessions in the final outbreak of Bolshevism in his native town of Krasnoyarask, Siberia, in 1918. He attempted to escape to Japan with 25 pounds of raw gold, 20,000 Romanoff rubles and about $100,000 in stocks and bonds but the Bolsheviks stripped him of these last belongings. Jogoleff is employed as a janitor and a handyman.

Dimitry Protopopoff, former colonel in the Seventh Turkestan artillery brigade; Michael Popoff, former master mechanic of the Trans-Siberian railway, and Vasily Tsilovitch, formerly in charge of the Chino-Eastern railway terminal at Harbin, Manchuria, all work in the Bayshore shops as laborers. Leonid Farnisky, former commercial agent of the Chino-Eastern railway, is also a shop laborer.

John Timofeef, once river-boat captain on steamers plying the Amur river between Siberia and China, and former commander of a Russian cruiser, now runs a transfer table in the shops.

Finds Kin After Thirty Year Search

COLUMBUS, O., April 1.—Reunion of William Dunn, Confederate veteran and patient in the Meigs County infirmary, with four daughters whom he had not seen or heard from in 30 years and who were believed dead, has been effected. One of the daughters, Mrs. Lilly Blackburn, resides in this city.

The others are Mrs. Frank Steinman and Mrs. Charles Leedale, Newark, and Mrs. Frank Seidle of Thornport. In 1868 Mr. Dunn, accompanied by his wife and 10 children, left his home in North Carolina and came to Newark. Following the death of his wife in 1898 he left his children and moved to Pomeroy, where he remarried. Upon the death of the second wife he married a third.

Four years ago the old couple were placed in the infirmary. Mrs. Dunn died two years ago. The surviving children were found by Superintendent Milo Stewart of the infirmary with the aid of newspapers. Mr. Dunn will leave the infirmary soon and return to North Carolina.

Prince Of Wales To Spend Summer On Canada Ranch

(International News Service)

LONDON, Apr. 1—The Prince of Wales is planning to spend his entire summer vacation in Canada.

Accompanied, in all probability, by Premier Baldwin, he will take part in the formal opening of the International Peace Bridge, linking Fort Erie and Buffalo, and commemorating more than a century of peace between the United States and Canada.

After this celebration, which occurs on July 1, the Prince will visit his ranch at High River, Alberta, where he will stay about eight weeks and enjoy a complete and unfettered rest.

A number of alterations and improvements have been recently carried out at the ranch by Professor W. L. Carlyle, the manager, under the instructions of the Prince. These have been wide in scope and include more buildings and extra stabling.

Nothing very elaborate or costly is being undertaken: on the contrary, following the Prince's instructions, everything is to be of the simplest character, and the buildings constructed of the plainest possible material compatible with efficiency.

There is, at present, an embargo on the removal of live stock from Britian to Canada, but as soon as this is removed the Prince intends to send out blood-stock horses, including hunters and polo ponies. He evidently wishes to introduce lighter stock on the ranch.

Roumania Adds 20 Airplanes To Army

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Apr. 1—Under plans of the Roumanian War Minister, Micescu, more than twenty airplanes will be added to the air service. The War Ministry itself has insufficient funds to warrant the purchase of planes from foreign factories, the minister declared in Parliament. He suggested that each of the government departments should contribute an airplane toward the service to be paid for with the funds of the department.

The heads of the various departments agreed to the idea of contributing towards the security of the nation and further decided to pool their donations and allow the planes to be built in Roumania. The new airplane factories will be built as soon as possible.

The War Minister declared that the planes would be used for carrying mail as well as drill machines. Roumania at present has only forty machines.

"Intellectual" Would Make Divorce Laws Less Severe

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 1.—Prominent intellectual women in Germany are in favor of a reform of the existing divorce law. Divorce should be made easier, they say, and a marriage should be annuled as soon as both parties cannot get along with each other, regardless of whether one of them is guilty of an offence, that is infidelity, or not.

All these women advocate such a reform in the interest of the children. They all agree that children growing up in a home where the parents disagree suffer terribly and much more if the parents remain together than if they were divorced.

"I feel sorry for children growing up in such a poisoned atmosphere, says Marie von Bunsen, famous scientist. Such a marriage should be divorced in the interest of the children."

Franziska Mann, famous novelist, favors a "trial divorce" for a period of two years, after which the couple might live together again, if they want to.

Frau Hedwig Heyl, president of the German Hausfrauen Vereine believes that people marry to young, and for physical reasons mostly. "I feel a woman is mature for marriage at seventy," she added smilingly when interviewed.

DINNER STORIES

Twisted Dials.

A young bride asked her husband to copy off a radio recipe she wanted. He did his best, but got two stations at once, one of which was broadcasting the morning exercises and other the recipe. This is what he got:

"Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on the shoulders, raise knees and depress toes and mix thoroughly on one-half cup of milk. Repeat six times. Inhale quickly one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, lower the legs and mash two hardboiled eggs in a sieve. Exhale, breathe naturally and sift into a bowl.

"Attention! Lie flat on the floor and roll the white of an egg backward and forward until it comes to a boil. In ten minutes remove from the fire and rub smartly with a rough towel. Breathe naturally, dress in warm flannels and serve with fish soup."

All Set!

"How are you coming along with your courting of the banker's daughter? Pretty tough going, eh?"

"Not so bad! I'm getting some encouragement."

"She's beginning to smile on you is she?"

"Not yet, but last night she said she had told me no for the last time."

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Coroner To Probe Fatal Auto Crash

Inquest Into Death Of Tony Mazzei Is Set For Tuesday Night

Stories Conflict As To Cause Of Fatal Crash—Reports To Be Sifted

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 1—An inquest on the death of Tony Mazzei, who died in the Ellwood City hospital yesterday as a result of injuries sustained in an auto accident on the Ellwood-New Castle road near the Harmony Baptist church will be held by Coroner Caldwell at the Ellwood City police station next Tuesday evening at 7:30.

In making a preliminary investigation of the accident yesterday Coroner Caldwell found that there were conflicting stories as to the cause. The accident happened near the cross roads just north of the Harmony Baptist church. The cross roads is at the top of a small hill being up-grade from both sides.

Harry Newton who lives near the church was driving toward New Castle and claims he was making a left hand turn into the road leading to Moravia when the taxi, owned by the McGregor Taxi company and driven by Ed Heaney of this city, approaching the grade from the opposite direction and going in the direction of Ellwood City struck the rear end of his machine. Heaney claims the accident did not happen at the crossing but south of it.

The taxi which contained six persons turned over on the left hand or eastern side of the road. Mazzei received injuries about the head and chest, from which he died.

The accident was a particularly distressing one owing to the fact that Mr. Mazzei his wife and daughter were here from West Virginia on a visit to the Rochelli family The body of Mazzei was shipped home for burial yesterday.

Local Young Man Pays Fine And Costs

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 1.—The climax to a party which was "thrown" in an apartment on Lawrence avenue Saturday night, and which was visited by Chief Teater and Officer Rahiser and two plain clothesmen in response to a complaint, came to a climax last night in a hearing before Burgess Evans in the City building, when, after much arguing on the part of the boy's attorney from New Castle reduced the bond which had been forfeited by the non-appearance of the people at the time set, to $10 fine and costs.

Six well-known couples figured in the above raid, and are wiser and poorer at present writing.

Ladies Laugh At Luke Barnett At Rotary Gala Night

Souvenir Initialed Spoon Given To Each Lady By Rotarians

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 1.—Seventy-two were present at the Rotary club Ladies night Thursday evening at the dinner meeting in the First Presbyterian church and enjoyed one of Luke Barnett's inimitable performances as head waiter on the staff.

Mr. Barnett is a well known entertainer from Pittsburgh and one of his pet stunts in his capacity as waiter is to drop an extra spoon behind an ultra-dignified man and then call the poor man down unmercifully for dropping his spoon, much to the amusement of the other dinner guests.

The nice part of Luke's work, the one he plays a joke on always tells him about another guest to play a joke on—so the ball keeps rolling until people are worn out from laughter.

A feature of the evening was the giving of souvenir spoons to each lady with her initial on. These spoons are given each year.

The musical portion of the evening's entertainment was in the capable hands of Mrs. W. R. Thompson and she favored with several vocal selections acompanied by Miss Marian Slocum at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Levere Entertain Club

ELLWOOD CITY, April 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Levere of Ewing Park entertained the members of the T. S. B. club Thursday evening at their home. Easter flowers and favors supplied the color note at the affair.

A series of interesting bridge games were enjoyed at the conclusion of which Mrs. B. M. Lawther and William Thomas received high score honors.

A delicious luncheon was served later by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Tillman Snedden and Mrs. H. E. King.

CONSTABLE RESIGNS IN WAYNE TOWNSHIP

W. L. Deemer, Constable of Wayne township, presented his resignation to Judge Hildebrand today. Deemer was appointed on April 13th, 1926 to fill the unexpired term of E. E. Wilson. No appointment to fill the vacancy has yet been made.

Valley Burgess Gives Humorous Talk At Kiwanis

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 1.—Burgess William Levis of Beaver Falls gave a humorous talk at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Thursday evening in the dining room of the Methodist church.

His subject embraced a wide scope of knowledge varying from athletics to the Civil War. His theory seemed to be that a good laugh now and then is relished by the best of men.

Tony Nido, protege of Prof. O. E. Bartel played a violin solo accompanied at the piano by the professor.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

FEAR DRUMMED OUT

It is almost as easy to find a needle in a haystack as to pick a tree or a rock out of pitch darkness.

Afraid to move, but just as afraid to stay where he was, Petares slowly turned his head from side to side. "I always thought I had a good pair of eyes, but they're not a speck of help to me now!" thought the poor boy, despairingly. "If only lean hound were here he would be some comfort, for although he can't see as well as Tab Cat, still he's not entirely blind in the gloom. At least if any creature were now stealing upon me, lean hound, with his sharp ears, would hear and tell me which way to run. It's dreadful not to be able to see, hear, or even guess what is going to happen next. What if mother could see me now! Poor mother, she must miss me by this time and wonder where I've gone. Perhaps I'll never see her again! Then how she'll cry. And my father! He'll feel badly, too, and will neither sleep nor eat. I, Petares, the son of the honey vender! What trouble I have gotten myself into! Trouble of my own making, and trouble that would serve me right did it not bring worry to my dear parents!"

Thumpety, tum tum, thump!

The noise broke anew loudly in upon Petares' sad thoughts. And that noise did exactly the last thing one would ever have expected. It drove off the fear that had laid fast hold of Petares.

"Drums!" cried Petares, and jumped to his feet. "No four-foot lives who could make sounds like that. Drums all the while, and fright closed my ears to their familiar music. Where there are drums, there are people, too. My people, it may be—my own folks come to find me!"

Petares believing himself a stranger in a strange land of wild beasts, that paddy-pawed upon one unaware and clawed and bit and stung, was a very different boy from the Petares who discovered himself within hailing distance of two-legs of his own race. That these, too, might be strangers, unfriendly, perhaps as the wild beasts, he did not stop to reason. Straight toward the great eyes that glowed and the drums that beat he ran!"

Next: "Ringed Around with Spear Points!"

There are three well-known phrases in which reference is made to angels. These are: "Tears such as angels weep," "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," and "Like angel visits, few and far between." The first is from Milton, the second from Alexander Pope, and the third from Thomas Campbell.

PICKS CARDS TO WIN NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG

Chicago Cubs Second Choice

Davis Walsh, International News Sporting Editor, Selects Cardinals

PITTSBURGH IS GIVEN FIFTH PLACE

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, April 1.—In spite of the fact that the intelligentsia has been quite active in making a lot of character about the Giants and, with a polite cough, sneering St. Louis into the second division, the writer has come to suspect the National league of having at least two really potential contenders at this writing and that the other one is not the New York Giants.

Offhand, I would name the Cardinals as a logical choice, although I am not concerned with the matter of whether they will or will not win the pennant. If I knew, I could make myself a lot of money and the National league could save itself a lot of time.

Cards Look Impressive.

The Cards, perforce, can hardly hope to divorce themselves from an inspiring manager and second baseman and remain the identical machine that won the 1926 championship. They probably have lost the intangible something represented by the club's faith in Hornsby, to say nothing of the difference between a star infielder and the man they now have. But viewed in cold blood, the Cards have lost less between seasons than some of the rivals who figure they have gained much.

In case there may be any remaining doubt about the matter, allusion is being made in part to the Giants, who have added something in punch since 1926 but have lost plenty in defense through the disability of Young and the departure of Kelly. There are only a few Youngs and Kellys in baseball and the Giants necessarily must expect to be weaker at first base and in the outfield on that acount. Add to this the fact that they have three minor league catchers, uncertain pitching and at least one outfield position that may or may not be filled adequately and you begin to remember things that the glamour of Hornsby and Roush made you forget.

Chicago Cubs Improve.

No, I would say that a rising young club like the Chicago Cubs is a better pennant hope at this immature moment than the Giants, who don't know how good or how bad they may be; better, too, than the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates, who haven't been improved between seasons, and, therefore, must have slipped back a bit.

Based on common sense, the present ranking of National league teams might run in this order:

1. St. Louis.
2. Chicago.
3. New York.
4. Cincinnati.
5. Pittsburgh.
6. Boston.
7. Brooklyn.
8. Philadelphia.

The Cubs actually aren't a strong ball club but, imbued with the impetus of their rush at the close of the 1926 race, they may be hard to stop with all of that fine young pitching and those 77 home games in which Hartnett and Wilson may shoot at the fences. On paper, they don's seem to be as dangerous as the Giants, Reds and Pirates, but I think they will get sounder leadership than the latter while their weaknesses in certain departments are not as glaring as those of the Giants and Reds.

Reds Lose Roush.

The latter figure to lose some of the great pitching that's carried them along through recent years and their shortstop is open to suspicion. Except at first base, the entire infield lacks punch. Frankly, the Reds aren't much better than they were last year and that wasn't good enough.

It may even be a mistake to rate them with the Giants. My remarks about the latter are predicated on common uncertainty about their catchers, pitchers and one outfielder. The infield is almost foolproof, in spite of Kelly's absence. A good infield usually makes a good ball club and, if the rest of the team does what McGraw says it will, there won't be any race; it will just be an excibition.

Pirates Uncertain.

However, this is mere visionary strength and you can't pay off on that. The Cards already know what they have. It consists of good pitching and fine, intelligent catching; a good infield, perhaps not quite up to its world series standard; a fair outfield, which may get better. I can't see how such a club can be conceded worse than second place, Hornsby or no Hornsby.

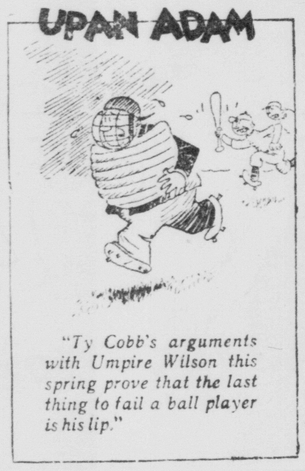
Contrast it, for example, with the Pirates, whose pitching is uncertain at best; whose catching is merely adequate and whose infield cannot be accepted or rejected until well into the season. Second base represents X, the unknown quantity, on this club while the question of Wright's comeback after his illness also must remain unanswered until later. The club has two great outfielders but the third is another of those human interrogations.

In brief, the Pirates, like the Giants, are an "if" club.

These five outfits are popularly expected to make the fight and, considering the Braves, Dodgers and Phillies, no one seems entitled to another guess on that.

The Braves and Dodgers have almost identical clubs—good pitching and catching, fair outfields and bad infields. However, the Braves, thanks to Bancroft, are a somewhat better bet in the inner circle and at this time look like the stronger of the two. They also have slightly more punch, the Dodgers having next to none.

The Phils, with bad pitching, a fourth class infield, several good outfielders and one ranking catcher, seem to be beyond hope. They probably are worse than they were last year, which in truth was bad enough.



"Ty Cobb's arguments with Umpire Wilson this spring prove that the last thing to fail a ball player is his lip."

Training Camps

JACKSON, Tenn.—The New York Giants were jubilant today over the signing of outfielder Eddie Roush, who has been a holdout ever since the Giants obtained him from Cincinnati. Roush will start training today and is expected to get into the line-up immediately.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Having lost to Cincinnati 4 to 3, the Yankees today prepared to resume their series with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Yanks blanked the Reds for eight innings and scored three runs in the ninth, but Cincinnati pulled the game out of the fire with a four run rally.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—The Brooklyn Robins continue to bowl over minor league teams. They swamped Jacksonville here yesterday 8 to 1.

TAMPA, Fla.—The Nationals claimed the world's championship again today, having defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in the final game, 3 to 2, and taking the series.

SHREVEPORT, La.—Johnny Mostil and his brother Ed. pulled out of the White Sox camp today for Chicago. Johnny is going home to convalesce from his near-fatal attempt at suicide. He hopes to be back in the line-up by May or June.

DALLAS, Tex.—The Cubs' series opener with the Dallas club of the Texas League will be attempted today, weather permitting. It was called off yesterday on account of rain. Stephenson will replace Freigau at third base.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 1.—The Pirates stood on even terms with the Detroit Tigers today after piling up seven runs in the eighth and ninth innings of their second exhibition game here to win, 8 to 4. The Pirates slammed Stoner, Tiger pitcher, all over the lot in the closing innings. Vic Aldridge and Ray Kremer performed for the Pirates.

RICHMOND, Va.—The Athletics will play a game with the local team here this afternoon, then hurry northward, arriving home early Saturday. Ty Cobb will rejoin the Mackmen in time for the game today. The team lost to the Boston Braves yesterday after winning nine straight. The score was 4 to 2. The second team plays in Atlanta today and tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Phils drill again today on their home diamond, Baker Bowl, in preparation for the opening game of the city series with the Athletics Saturday. The team arrived home shortly before noon yesterday and went through a light workout in the afternoon.

The world's amateur swimming ampionships are to be held in aly from August 31 to September next.

Rick-Overlands Lose Final Game Of Year 20 To 19

Butler Quintet Drops Locals After Hard Fought Battle On Butler Court

The Rick-Overland basketball team, winners of the City Industrial League, closed their 1926-27 season Thursday night at Butler by losing to the Spaide Shirt team, 20 to 19. The game was hardfought and close in all quarters.

The Overlands set a fast pace in the first quarter of play and led by a score of 6 to 1 as the first session drew to a close. The passing of the locals was not up to standard in the second quarter, with the Overlands securing but one point, while the Butlerites scored eight points to take a lead at 9 to 7 at the end of the first half.

The end of the third quarter found the Butler team on the long end of the score, 16 to 11. The Overlands hit their stride in the final quarter, but the lead piled up in the first three periods carried the Spaide team through. The Overlands were off color on the foul line, getting seven out of 14, while Butler caged but two out of six.

Captain Paul Cuba and Uhle led the scoring for the locals with two field goals apiece. Jones and Fraser played a fine game at the guards. For the winners the work of Brown, with five baskets, and Treacasse with three, featured.

Overlands 19		Butler 20
Cuba	F	Brown
Nocera	F	Cavaller
Uhle	C	Baker
Jones	G	Paganelli
Fraser	G	Treacasse

Subs.: Hoyland, Volesko, P. Boyer, Storey and J. Boyer.

Field goals: Cuba 2, Uhle 2, Hoyland, Fraser, Brown 5, Treacasse 3, Cavalier.

Fouls: Rick-Overlands, 7 out of 14; Butler, 2 out of 6.

Referee: Bohler.

Timer: VanFossan.

Scorer: Eardley.

The Dallas club, last year's champions of the Texas League, will make a hard effort to repeat this season. If it succeeds it will be the fifth time it has won the pennant. Dallas first captured the flag in 1910 and its next victory came in 1917. In the following season it finished in first place for the third time. Beginning with 1920 the flag had been won for six years in a row by the Fort Worth club, which last year was displaced by Dallas in its fourth successful pennant race.

April Foolishness

By Fez Murray

Extra! Extra! Babe Ruth defeats Jose Capablanca in a chess match! Babe reached the finals, in spite of a bad charley horse, by clean-cut defeats of Bogojujubeebe, of Russia; Tartar sauce, of Austria; and Chinwisker, of Czechoslovakia. He got the charley horse in his throat, it is claimed, by trying to pronounce his opponents' names.

When the referee called "Play Chess," the Bambino opened with a counter gambit off the right-field wall. Capablanca succeeded in trapping Ruth's bishop between first and second, and running it down, but in the meantime our hero had scored from K-B4.

Here Capablanca made a master stroke, putting over Q-R3, R-Q8ch, and B x R in succession. "Checkmate," yelled the referee. To which the Bambino expostulated so loudly that the last one was a bit wide that Capablanca was forced to make another move. He deliberated for fully half an hour, complaining frequently that the noise of Ruth's shewing tobacco disturbed him. Finally he played 16-K—QK3, Tinker to Evers to Chance and a look of triumph same over his swarthy countenance. When the Babe realized what had happened his chubby face turned an ashen gray and beads of perspiration stuck out on his forehead. "My pawn!" he hissed between clenched teeth, "He's got my pawn!"

"Quite right" smiled Capablanca. "Three balls make a pawn shop. Heh, heh!" "But four balls mean a free trip to first base!" yelled the mighty Bambino in a rage, and seizing his castle he walloped his opponent's king completely out of the stadium, then trotted slowly aroud the chess board being careful to touch all the corners.

"Good knight! I am rooked," moaned Capablanca as he swooned away. The band then played "Chess, we have no bananas!"

Feg Murray Says.

The height of humor would be to read to a golfer about to be hanged some of Grantland Rice's "Twenty Golf Dont's." For instance:

No. 2. "Don't think ahead of the swing."

No. 7. "Don't move your head, let it be your anchor."

No. 4. "Don't start your down stroke too quickly—let it pick up speed on the way through."

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The criticism has been made, year after year, that there is a marked tendency on the part of most major league pilots to permit young players to pine away on the bench long after they might well be given a chance to show their wares. The hesitancy is attributed to the fear the managers hold that they would temporarily be weakening their teams.

No doubt there is a reluctancy on the part of most managers to break up combinations—to rebuild their teams—as long as they are getting results.

A survey of the situation this spring, however, indicates that there will be few such cases this year. For the simple reason that an unusual number of the big league clubs have realized fully the necessity of rebuilding and, being hard at it, are grasping at every possibility in the form of an up and coming player on hand who comes recommended to them.

Take the American league for instance.

The Cleveland club is not satisfied with its infield. While Spurgeon played acceptable ball at second, the club openly went about strengthening its infield reserve forces with a view toward bolstering the middle territory. Third base is an uncertainty in that Rube Lutzke, counted on to play that bag is not a consistent performer and Hodapp, a youngster, has so far failed to deliver as expected. The need for an outfielder is well known.

The St. Louis Browns the other day paid $5,000 for Spencer Adams of the Yanks in a hurried effort to bolster their infield, hit by the injury to Bill Mullen.

The Washington Senators took on Emmet McCann, twice a failure, to protect themselves at first and possibly second and short. Connie Mack wouldn't have paid a fortune for Dudley Branom, first sacker, and Joe Boley, shortstop, had he been able to ease a fair prospect out of one of the big league clubs.

The Boston Red Sox have a haphazard infield of little worth.

The New York Yanks, with their pennant winning infield combination intact, were glad to acquire Ray Moorehart from the White Sox.

In the National league the Phillies had to accept a minor league hope for second base in Fresno Thompson. Uncle Robbie of the Dodgers would trade his eye teeth and enthusiasm over Clearwater, Fla., for a good infielder and outfielder. He has two major league catchers to offer as bait—with no bites.

The Cincinnati Reds, with Hughey Critz doing the holdout act, had to shove George Kelly into the infield lineup—at the expense of the outfield.

George Moriarty, now manager of the Detroit Tigers, put over the best deal of the year when he pulled Marty McManus, second baseman, out of the bag in the three-cornered deal with the Browns and Toronto.

CATCHER GETS BALL—ON HEAD

When Rochester played Atlanta in Atlanta, Ga., recently, Doc Silva of the Rochester team slid into home plate, scoring on a long fly. The throw from the outfield hit Silva and the ball bounced up and landed on the head of Johnny Brock, Atlanta catcher. The camera was quick enough to catch the ball as it bounced against Johnny's dome.

Safety Sam Says:

Th' bird who puts safety last is purty durned apt t' go t' th' hospital first.

Track Team Is Down To Work

Twenty-Five Candidates Vie For Places On New Castle High Track Team

THREE VETERANS FROM LAST YEAR

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

With three veterans and 22 young hopefuls training daily at the Senior high school the track season outlook at New Castle High is not so discouraging as the situation appeared at first reading several weeks ago.

The three left-overs from last year are Walter "Baldy" McGrath high hurdler, Walter Smith, dash man, and Earl Turk 440 yard star. Among the new men showing up well are Fisher, Craft, Vago, Mooney, Mott, Bauman, Mancine and Woodworth.

Craft is a former Ben Franklin High star and is a good man at the weights, his specialty is the discus and shot put, he may also develop into a first class javelin tosser with a little more training.

Klee in Charge.

McGrath, Sillman and Ostrosky having just finished with their strenuous basketball campaign will not report for another week at least.

McGrath is assured of a berth on the varsity team this year due to his fine efforts last season. Sillman and Ostrosky were members of the Ben Franklin High team for a number of years and they are said to be speed merchants.

William "Bill" Klee has been handling the track team in the early workouts and will likely be named as assistant to Coach Bridenbaugh when the season opens.

The locals will start priming for the four county track meet at New Wilmington on Saturday April 30. The meet is being sponsored by Westminster college with Andy McDonald the energetic graduate manager in charge of the entries. New Castle High won first place in the meet last year with a comfortable margin.

The dates have not been set as yet for the annual class track meet.

McGraw Facing Serious Tangle With Hornsby

Rogers To Play For Giants; Can't Unload Cardinal Stock

(International News Service)

JACKSON, Tenn., April 1.—Having signed outfielder Eddie Roush for three years at a reported salary of $23,000 per annum, Manager John McGraw today faced a serious controversy with President John Heydler over the question of Rogers Hornsby's stock holdings in the St. Louis Cardinals.

Defying President Heydler, McGraw declared that Hornsby would play second base for the Giants even though he is unable to find a buyer for his St. Louis stock. McGraw made this statement after conferring with lawyers, and asserted that the New York club would resort to court action if necessary.

Junior High Swimmers Enter Pittsburgh Meet

Seven Junior High swimmers accompanied by their instructor, Edwin H. Geasa, and Student Manager Nelson Yingling, left for Pittsburgh early this afternoon to enter the 13th annual interscholastic swimming meet.

The locals are entered in two events, the 160-yard relay race and the 120-yard medley race. The boys have been training hard for the past several days and are ready for the stiff competition that will be encountered in the Pittsburgh meet.

The following boys will make the trip to Pittsburgh: John Watson, James Herbold, Emery Farrone and Russell Grannis. These boys are entered in the 160-yard relay race. Fred Schuller, Charles Flemming and Vihlo Mackey in the 120-yard medley race.

Edwin H. Geasa, swimming instructor at the Franklin school, will have charge of the boys on the trip and also during the meet.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Walter Hagen and Emmett French lead in the scramble for the 1927 united north and south open golf title which is being staged at Pinehurst. Bobby Cruickshank, the defending champion, who was on top at noon yesterday, went to third place and Pete O'Hara, tied at the end of 18 holes with Cruickshank trailed him closely. Hagen, who is a professional golf champion turned in an afternoon card of 36-36—72, which combined with his morning's round of 34-35—69, gave him a total of 141 while French had the same total for the day. He turned in a 35-36—71 in the morning and a 35-35—70 during the afternoon's play. Cruickshank got two 34's in the morning but cracked slightly and the best he could do was a 143 for the day. O'Hara, who is a Jersey City professional, folowed with 144. Close behind the leaders at the end of the first 36 holes were Diegel with 145, Long with 145 and Hackney with 145. Some of the players went as low as 147.

Ellwood City has a light heavyweight, who is apparently destined for a prominent place in the boxing world should he continue to bowl over opponents the way he has been in a Youngstown ring. He is named Rocco and a brother to the Rocco who lost to Charlie Haddad. It is said that Joe Cumo is doing his business and judging from the reports of Ellwood City fans, Rocco is serious about the task he has set out to accomplish. He is in bed at 9 every night, devotes two hours to training each day and he has no habits which will interfere with his pugilistic work. Kid Cangie, local junior lightweight, fought a draw with Tod Lewis recently and on the face of his showing at Buffalo has been matched to fight at Rochester late next week. Cangie got a second chance in Buffalo by staging a good fight against Tracy ,one of the best lightweights in upper New York state. Babe Picato may get a chance to fight for Mike McKinney at Canton, according to Bill Chip, who says Mike is conducting negotiations with Eddie Weygant.

Speaking of Rocco, there are several youngsters in the city who are reported as showing promise as fighters. Several of them romp in the gymnasium of Jimmie Dime, several at Weygant's and Johnny Evans is tutoring a couple of fellows. While Cumo is booming Rocco, he is chary about matching him against anyone who would cut Rocco down and in following this policy he is showing keen acumen. A bad match at this particular time would work havoc with the 180 pounder. Mike Solomon, a lightweight training at the West Side gym, looks good and Young Pascarella with his build and eagerness to fight reminds one of when George Perotta was breaking into print. Pascarella is a protege of Johnny Evans. If the youngsters are developed and Tom McMahon goes through with his plan to promote fights next fall, the fans should witness good fights between local battlers.

Two events of baseball importance, simmered forth yesterday. John McGraw informing the world that Rogers Hornsby would play second base for the Giants, regardless of his ownership in stock of the St. Louis Nationals. McGraw said there is no rule or law in the National League to prevent a stockholder in one club playing with another, and adding that President Heydler and Judge Landis were aware of Hornsby's interest in St. Louis. Ed. Roush left the ranks of the holdouts and signed a Giant contract. According to Heydler, he will go to court if necessary to prevent Hornsby from playing with the Giants unless he sells his stock.

A break in football relations between Dartmouth and Brown loomed today, in spite of official verification. Information now going the rounds declares relations will be severed after this year's game, which is scheduled for November 5 at Providence. Fred W. Marvel, director of athletics at Brown, has refused to affirm or deny the report, but Harry Heneage of Dartmouth declared that "relations will continue to exist as far as I am concerned". The relations between the two teams have been none too cordial since the war. The informant declares, according to eastern reports, that "Brown's Iron Men were accused of using 'rough English'" in connection with their 10-0 victory at Hanover last fall, the first triumph of the Bruins over the Green since 1919.

Heydler Firm, Not To Allow Hornsby To Play

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 1.—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, declared today that his ruling barring Rogers Hornsby from playing with the New York Giants while he remained a stockholder of the St. Louis Cardinals still stands. Informed of Manager John McGraw's intention of playing Hornsby in defiance of the ruling, Heydler said he believed the ruling will have the full support of directors of the National League.

The World's Most Powerful Sedan of Its Size and Weight -and the Safest

NOW $1335 F.O.B. FACTORY

TO prove the ability of this Studebaker Custom Sedan, get behind the wheel yourself. Feel the power of its quiet L-head motor—most powerful in any car of its size and weight in the world. See how slowly you can idle along in high, how smoothly it accelerates, how lightning-quick it is on the pick-up, how easily it shoots through traffic, soars up steep hills and speeds arrow-swift down the free stretches.

Then turn the wheel over to your wife. Let her learn what restful driving really means—the pleasure that comes from finger-tip response in steering—the ease of gear-shifting—the feather-light pressure on the positive-acting four-wheel brakes. And she will like the custom luxury of its roomy interior.

This smart-looking Studebaker steel body saves gasoline and tires because it's lighter than wood—safer because it permits wider visibility than wood—safer also because it has been fused by electricity into a practically indestructible unit of steel—welded, not riveted—and longer-lived because steel wears while wood wears out.

At its new low price, $1335—including over $100 worth of extra equipment—this Studebaker Custom Sedan shatters all former standards of motor car value, thanks to One-Profit manufacture! See it—drive it—now.

EQUIPMENT—Custom Sedan: Front and rear bumpers; no-draft ventilating windshield (exclusively Studebaker); engine thermometer and hydrostatic gasoline gauge on the dash; coincidental lock; oil filter; automatic windshield cleaner; rear-vision mirror; traffic signal light; 4-wheel brakes; full-size balloon tires; and two-beam acorn headlights, controlled from steering wheel.

LIFE IN SHANGHAI

In Many Respects Most Unusual City In World, Where Foreigners Have Been Privileged

(Charles P. Stewart, Washington correspondent of the Central Press and the New Castle News, has traveled China from end to end and has a thorough knowledge of the country.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, April 1—If extra territoriality is doomed in China—and it seems so—we may as well be saying goodbye to the Shanghai we used to know.

This refers to the foreign city. Don't mix it with the native one.

The two are jam-up together but that's the only thing they have in common.

Native Shanghai is just a big Chinese city.

There are plenty of others like it. It may seem queer to a stranger as compared with New York or Chicago but not a bit queer as compared with Soochow or Ningpo or Changsha or many other places in China.

There's only one foreign Shanghai.

It has some small calibre imitations—one-horse "treaty ports," scattered along the coast or up and down the big rivers—but to stack them up alongside Shanghai would be like contrasting Podunk or Dinkyville Junction with Manhattan.

The International Town.

Shanghai's international. It's independent of everybody and everything.

It's run by the foreign consuls. They're mighty strict as to Chinese residents. Everybody's agreed on that proposition. Foreigners do about as they please. They're answerable to nobody except each to his respective consul. It may seem as if this would make the consult bossy. Not so. A consul has too much sense to make himself unpopular by annoying his own countrymen.

How Americans Feel.

An American for instance is supposed to live in Shanghai subject to American laws. He doesn't care a flip of a copper for any other laws. He generally doesn't care much for America's either. How, say, is his consul going to make him pay any attention to the Volstead Act!

If a foreigner in Shanghai stops short of murder or burglary he insn't apt to be interfered with.

All this will be changed if extra-territoriality goes by the board. The foreigner in Shanghai or anywhere else in China will be yanked up in a Chinese court if he does anything contrary to local peace and good order.

To illustrate:

It has always been considered among the God given privileges of a foreigner in China to kick a 'rickshaw coolie if he felt like. Frequently he has felt like it.

The same rule used to prevail in Japan until the Japanese abolished extrateritoriality. Now the Japanes penalty for 'rickshaw coolie kicking by a foreigner is a two year jail term without the option of a fine for the kicker.

There's no foreign working class in Shanghai.

It's a community of traders, managers, professional men and expert clerical help with their wives and children.

Consequently the entire foreign population appears well-to-do.

In fact a great deal of it is exceedingly hard up. It's a great aggregation to live beyond its income.

Racing Popular.

Such amusements as the theatre naturally are almost wholly lacking. The Shanghai-ites make up for them by going in extensively for such expensive sports as racing and a great deal of entertaining.

These things come high.

Then too credit is almost unlimited. That's because Shanghai's a very difficult place to slip away from unostentatiously. Departures have to be taken by steamship with plenty of preliminary notice.

A deadbeat can hardly flit leaving a stack of unpaid bills behind him. Perhaps he can do it as a stowaway but that's humiliating and for a man with a family practically impossible.

Too Much Credit.

Credit then being so easy it's overworked extensively. Anything from a cocktail up to a polo pony's readily to be had by signing a "chit" which is a check or note and "chits' have a way of piling up alarmingly.

Many's the externally prosperous but really desperately hard up Shanghai-ite who probably wouldn't shed many tears if the Cantonese wiped out the entire "international settlement" provided they'd contract to wipe out his "chits" with it.

Shanghai's well equipped to resist a military attack from without but mighty poorly able to stand much interference with its local supply of Chinese cheap labor.

It's a large city not to mention any of its other labor requirements—with no sanitary system whatever and every thimbleful of sewage has to be carried away by the barrelful by coolie power. Obviously once let these coolies quit and the besiegers prevent others from offering their services it would hardly be more than a matter of hours before the place would become uninhabitable.

Scranton Street Car Men Vote To Remain At Work

Scheduled Street Car Strike In Scranton Fails To Materialize

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 1. — Scranton's street car strike scheduled for today was averted at the last moment when 600 employes of the Scranton Railways Company in special session early today voted to remain at work and to resume negotiations with the company officials this afternoon.

In voting to remain at work the union men turned down the company's latest proposition which provided for an increase in wages for carmen only. The men are asking for an increase in wages ranging from ten to twenty-eight cents an hour.

It is believed that the situation will be adjusted satisfactory, averting the tieup between Carbondale and Duryea which would interfere with 200,000 commuter patrons of the electrical lines.

One Killed, Four Hurt As Machine Crashes Into Pole

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 1. — One man was killed and four others injured today when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a telegraph pole at Peckville, near here.

Luigi Guidacelli, 27, of Jessup, suffered a broken neck in the crash and died enroute to a hospital. One of the injured men Frank Marcuiello, of Archbald, is not expected to live. The names of the other three injured men were not learned.

Troop 5

The Elk Troop 5 held its weekly meeting March 30 at the Elks Club with a large number of Scouts and four visitors present. Several games were played and tests were passed.

The following boys will do their good turn Saturday by planting trees: Jack Griffith, Robert Griffith, Harry Hoon, Alfred Howard, Russel Young, Harry Jones, Robert Rogers, Hugh Irwin, Harry Brown, Robert Abraham.

The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis. Mr. Lamoree of the Elks Club took the good turns. Mr. Agnew gave the boys a talk which was enjoyed very much. The next meeting will be held at the Elks Club Wednesday, April 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Governors of Massachusetts and New England are said to be the only State executives legally entitled to be called "His Excellency."

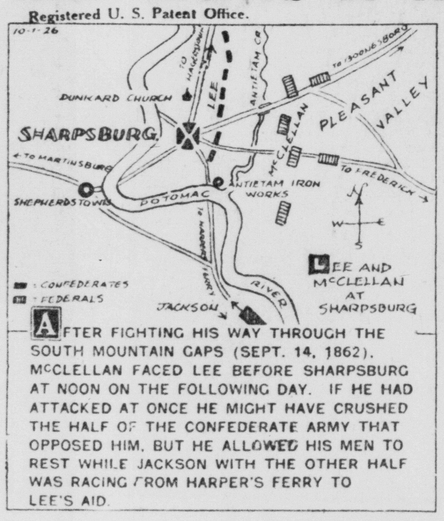
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Battle of Antietam.

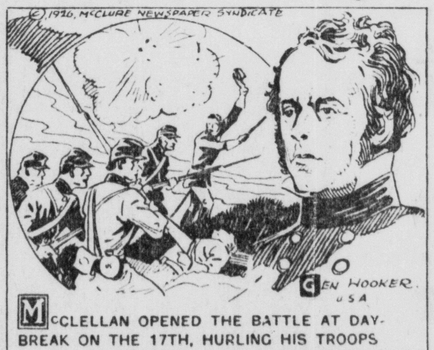
by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



LEE AND McCLELLAN AT SHARPSBURG

AFTER FIGHTING HIS WAY THROUGH THE SOUTH MOUNTAIN GAPS (SEPT. 14, 1862). McCLELLAN FACED LEE BEFORE SHARPSBURG AT NOON ON THE FOLLOWING DAY. IF HE HAD ATTACKED AT ONCE HE MIGHT HAVE CRUSHED THE HALF OF THE CONFEDERATE ARMY THAT OPPOSED HIM. BUT HE ALLOWED HIS MEN TO REST WHILE JACKSON WITH THE OTHER HALF WAS RACING FROM HARPER'S FERRY TO LEE'S AID.

LATE ON SEPT. 16TH McCLELLAN BEGAN MASSING TROOPS BEFORE THE CONFEDERATE LEFT AND LEE, OBSERVING THIS MOVEMENT, STRENGTHENED THAT PART OF HIS LINE. MEANWHILE, DETACHMENTS OF JACKSON'S ARMY WERE ARRIVING, ALTHOUGH THE LAST REGIMENTS DID NOT REACH THE SCENE UNTIL THE 17TH.



McCLELLAN OPENED THE BATTLE AT DAYBREAK ON THE 17TH, HURLING HIS TROOPS AT THE CONFEDERATE LEFT IN A SERIES OF DISCONNECTED ASSAULTS THAT THREW AWAY THE ADVANTAGE HIS SUPERIORITY IN NUMBERS WOULD OTHERWISE HAVE GIVEN HIM. IN THIS PHASE OF THE BATTLE THE CORPS OF HOOKER, MANSFIELD AND SUMNER WERE TERRIBLY CUT UP; THE FIRST GENERAL BEING BADLY WOUNDED AND THE SECOND KILLED.

THE FORCE OF THE UNION ONSLAUGHT, HOWEVER, BORE THE CONFEDERATES BACK ACROSS THE HAGERSTOWN ROAD. BOTH SIDES FOUGHT VALIANTLY AND FOR HOURS THE OPPOSING LINES SWAYED BACK AND FORTH ACROSS THE ROAD. NEAR THE DUNKARD MEETING-HOUSE THE FIGHTING WAS PARTICULARLY SEVERE.

Presents Report For Fiscal Year

Controller Alvah Porter today submitted to council during formal session at city hall a report for the fiscal year ending January 3,

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 1.—After an irregular and reactionary opening in which a number of the leading railroad and oil stocks slumped a point or two, the market recovered its equilibrium in the early trading today, and good rallies were in evidence, particularly in the steel, motor and rail shares.

Unsettlement in the rails did not prevent a continuation of the sharp forward move of Kansas City Southern, Rock Island and a few other stocks which have distinguished themselves in recent sessions.

United States Steel gave another exhibition of its remarkably strong market position, when the stock sold up 1½ to another record-breaking price of $168½ a share. The new W. I. stock also reached a new high at 122. It is now believed that directors will distribute $2 to $3 a share as an extra cash dividend before the meeting of the stockholders on April 17.

Weakness in the oils persisted, despite the fact that two of the well known independent companies submitted unexpectediy favorable reports.

CITY PROJECTS ARE DISCUSSED

Chamber Of Commerce Directors Hear Of Plans For Greater City

At a very important meeting of the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce held Thursday, March 31st, which was presided over by President Fred L. Rentz, and which was attended by the Directors, Hon. S. P. Emery, J. A. Appleton, D. S. Pyle, O. P. Brown, T. W. Dickey, Ira M. Ramsey, and Fred L. Rentz, plans were discussed for the conducting of a "Greater New Castle" movement.

In addition to the directors, Messrs. H. B. Richards, Councilman L. G. Genkinger, and Roy L. Harvey, were present.

Hon. S. P. Emery reported very favorably on the progress being made by Company B, 125th Engineers, which will very shortly be mustered in in New Castle.

A request was received from Oil City that the New Castle Chamber endorse the effort to establish a broadcasting station in that city, but no endorsement was given because of the fact that a similar effort is on foot here.

The matter of day light saving time was brought before the board but because of the business interests of New Castle being divided on this matter no action was taken.

It was reported to the board of directors that the Bright Auto Bumper company, one of our newly established industries in New Castle is making excellent progress and becoming very well and favorably known throughout the country, and an invitation was extended to the board of directors and general manager of that company to meet with the board of the chamber at their next regular meeting, that ways and means may be discussed whereby this company may be given the moral support of the community to the end that New Castle may be better known as the home of this new industry.

Permits In City Engineer's Office Net $2,359 In Year

Alvah Porter, controller, city of New Castle, reported to council Friday at city hall that 2,359.50 had been collected in receipts by the engineer's office during the last fiscal year which ended January 3, 1927.

A small balance, or $23.50, was in the treasurer's office of the engineer's department January 4, $750 was taken in for excavation permits, while building permits for the year brought the office $418.50. Small scale maps were sold and netted $55.15, and blueprints made by the engineers brought $96.10. Proprietors of gasoline pumps paid $1,000 and large maps sold for $16.

NO NEED FOR ALARM IN COAL STRIKE-HOOVER

WASHINGTON, April 1.—"The public needn't be alarmed by the coal strike" said Secretary of Commerce Hoover today as he emerged from a cabinet meeting.

"There is enough soft coal above ground to last a year. The regrettable thing, of course, is that thousands of men have been thrown out of work."

The cabinet discussed the coal situation briefly but opinion was almost unanimous that Begin Construction Of Connecting Link In New Mexican R. R.

(International News Service)
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 1.—Actual construction of the Kansas City-Mexico and Orient Railway, from Chihuahua City, Mexico, to the Rio Grande at Presidio, Texas, is now in progress. Contract has just been let to the firm of Terrazas & Matquia, of Chihuahua City, for the last gap of the railroad in Mexico—78 kilometres from Las Norias, Mexico, to the banks of the Rio Grande.

The survey has been completed from Alpine to Presidio, and letting of the contract is expected as soon as definite decision is reached as to the route to be traversed to this point.

The Orient has a line now operating from Wichita, Kans., direct to Alpine, Tex., and has another link running north from Chihuahua City in Mexico. Construction of the road from Alpine to Presidio, and from Presidio to Las Norias, will complete the gap, and will afford a through connection to Mexico City. The two gaps to be completed will total approximately 150 miles of new road. An international bridge is to be constructed across the river, joining Presidio and Ojinaga, by the Orient.

This project was first contemplated by the Orient, when the road was first built. It was postponed, however, by the war and other conditions. Flourishing conditions of the railroad, due to oil activity in West Texas and to valuable oil concessions made to them recently by the Mexican government have made construction of the road possible.

The railroad is expected to bring a great development to this section of Texas. The road will connect at San Angelo and Sweetwater with railroads to Forth Worth, Dallas, and other Texas centers. Announcement of the letting of the contract brought great commercial activity to Presidio and other points along the route

National Guard Indians Present Drill Exhibits

(International News Service)
LAWRENCE, Kas., April 1.—The Haskell Institute unit of the Kansas National Guard, officially known as Troop C. 114th Cavalry, has 29 tribes of full-blooded Indians represented on its rolls. These Indians, from 20 states, include 13 Cherokees, 11 Sioux, six Pimas, five Navajos, four Utes, two each of the following: Seminole, Shawnee, Pueblo, Apache, Arapaho, Choctaw, Snohmoish, Creek, Seneca, Chippewa and Menominee, and one each from the tribes of Pomo, Stockbridge, Sac and Fox, Shoshone, Omaha, Wichita, Pawnee, Piute, Bannock, Klamarth, Cheyenne, Arickaree and Oneida.

The outfit is known as one of the "show" troops of the National Guard and has presented exhibition drills in many parts of the country.

NORTH OIL CITY ENGINE HOUSE OF P. R. R. TO CLOSE

OIL CITY, Pa., April 1.—Effective on April 7 the engine house at North Oil City of the Pennsylvania railroad will cease operation, resulting in a reduction of the force here by about 60. This action was decided upon today by the Pennsylvania railroad officials as the result of anticipated falling off in freight traffic, principally coal loadings. The engine house operations at North and South Oil City are to be consolidated at the South Oil City round house.

For years prior to 1918, all engine repairs were carried on at the North Side engine house, but because of improvements made at the South Oil City several years ago, including a new mechanical coaling station, the latter point is now better equipped to handle the combined operations.

FIREMAN KILLED PEEKING FROM CAB

POTTSVILLE, April 1.—Caught between a locomotive and the side of an engine house at St. Clair, John O. Keefer, 48, fireman on a Reading Railway engine, was killed. He lived in this city. Sticking his head out of the cab window, his skull was crushed as the locomotive passed a projection in a tunnel.
